NEW PLAN TODAY TO GET U. S. CASH FOR TEACHERS

Trust Co. to Accept City's Security.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special].—Plans to create a bona fide trust company with full fiduciary powers as an intermediary agency between the Reconstruction Finance corporation and Chicago's school teachers, whose salaries are several months in arrears, will be described tomorrow to the corporation's board of directors.

Turned down today by the board on legal grounds, the Chicago delegation, composed of Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the Chicago citizens' committee; Robert F. Carr, member of the board of education, and Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, will appear tomorrow with a program which they hope will meet and overcome the board's objections. They are seeking an advance of $20,000,000.

Prepare Their Appeal.

The three Chicagoans held a final conference this evening in preparation for their new appeal. By the time of their appearance they will have been reinforced by City Controller M. S. Szymczak. He is expected to arrive in Washington tomorrow morning.

The proposition placed before the board this morning was to form a trust company which would borrow twenty million dollars from the R. F. C. on school district tax anticipation warrants. Mr. Sargent said the directors of the corporation were sympathetic, but were advised by their counsel that a trust company formed for the sole purpose of obtaining a loan would not be eligible to borrow under the R. F. C. act.

The new plan, as described by Senator Lewis, contemplates, therefore, the formation of a full fledged trust company with all its powers. As a means of obtaining the loan it will receive securities of the city of Chicago and in turn pledge them with the corporation.

Still Another Alternative.

In the event that the corporation disapproves also of the revised proposal Mr. Sargent and Mr. Carr expect to seek an amendment to the Wagner relief bill which is shortly to come up in the senate. Senator Lewis, with the agreement of Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], author of the measure, is to offer the amendment broadening the R. F. C. act to permit loans for the payment of back municipal salaries. As now drawn the measure loosens up the "self-liquidating loan" provisions of the finance corporation law.

TEACHERS MEET; PROTEST

Five thousand teachers at mass-meetings in the Auditorium and Studebaker theaters yesterday protested against their payless plight, while in Washington school board members and city officials planned a new appeal to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for a loan to pay back salaries of Chicago school employés. The gathering here was called by William J. Page, president of the Chicago division of the Illinois State Teachers' association.

Verbal thrusts at bankers and politicians were applauded by the teachers, but on the whole the meetings were orderly. When the Auditorium was filled to capacity the overflow crowd was sent to the nearby Studebaker theater. The same speakers addressed both gatherings.

"Nothing to Eat."

"They tell us to wait patiently—that we mustn't rock the boat," asserted Ferdinand J. Zipf, assistant principal of the Fenger High school, "but there's no boat. We're on a stranded raft with nothing to eat and, although April 7 is almost here, we have nothing to drink."

On Mr. Zipf's motion the teachers voted to send a delegation of five teachers to Washington to seek federal aid from President Roosevelt. Teachers and other school employés are owed approximately $31,500,000 back salaries for seven and a half months.

Another resolution urging Gov. Horner to call an educational conference immediately was passed on the motion of Robert Moore, secretary of the Illinois State Teachers' association.

"Gov. Horner promised to call the conference," said Mr. Moore, "but the governor's responsibilities have been so heavy that it was decided to postpone the meeting."

Following the arguments of Milton Cohler, a teacher at the Ebinger elementary school, the teachers voted to

Law Goes in Effect Despite Injunction.

Good naturedly and amid some perplexity Chicagoans at 12:01 o'clock this morning began paying out a new tax—the 3 per cent state sales assessment. The levy was inaugurated almost without exception in after theater cafés and restaurants and in many instances patrons raced to the cashiers' counter to be the first to pay the added 3 per cent costs.

The new tax went into effect throughout the state at one minute after midnight. More than 97,000 retail establishments in the state will be collecting the tax in full today. The revenue is to be used for the idle in those counties confronted with huge charity rolls.

How Tax Will Be Used.

Counties not needing funds for relief will use their shares to reduce existing taxes. Cook county and 64 other of the 102 counties are expected to use the revenue for relief work generally. All tangible merchandise and personal property sold at retail, excepting gasoline and farm products sold on the farm, are taxable.

Restaurants along the Rialto and night clubs in the loop and vicinity prepared to some extent for the imposition of the tax, although the managements of many of them were dubious as to the procedure because of a temporary injunction issued the other night by Judge Jesse Brown of Madison county against the tax. Thus a number of restaurateurs "marked time" in collecting the tax, announcing they would absorb the extra cost temporarily.

Diners Rush to Be First.

The Triangle restaurant, 57 West Randolph street, was typical of many cafés. Miss Winona Piefer and Violet Kupper, both of 420 Surf street, with Irving Weichman and Ralph Weinfeld, both of New York, held their checks until 12:01, then rushed up to be first in that restaurant to pay the new tax, totally about 12 cents. At midnight Ulys Owens, the manager, had warned all patrons of the deadline.

The Thompson's restaurants delayed tax collection until 7 a. m., absorbing the taxes. Raklios, at 85 West Randolph street, announced they were "waiting." Mike Fritzel of the Chez Paree, on Ohio street, started tax collections at 12:01. Probably one-third of the restaurants, however, temporarily withheld tax collections.

Rice Orders Collection.

The injunction issued by Judge Brown undoubtedly caused much of the perplexity, although Joseph J. Rice, state director of finance, has advised merchants to collect or absorb the tax. He is not empowered to say which course they should pursue, but he can hold them responsible for uncollected taxes if the new tax is eventually upheld in the higher courts.

Mr. Rice has not yet decided whether he will send schedules to light and gas companies. Railroads tickets will not be taxed nor will hotel accommodations, except food sold in hotel restaurants.

Hope for Early Test.

Pending a test of the constitutionality of the law, which Attorney General Otto Kerner hopes to bring at the April term of the Supreme court, Gov. Horner yesterday issued an appeal to the people asking them to pay the tax.

"We are going ahead with our preparations for the collection of the tax," he said in Springfield, "under the theory that the court proceedings will be disposed of speedily. The attorney general is planning immediate action.

"Patriotic citizens who do not want to see the orderly conduct of the state demoralized and hundreds of thousands of its citizens in danger of starving will prepare for the payment of the tax and go ahead with the plans which are already on foot."

Confers with Tax Foes.

Mr Kerner conferred during the day with State Representative I. H. Streeper III. of Alton, who, with Attorney Frank G. Thompson of Mount Vernon, obtained the injunction at Edwardsville Wednesday night. It is thought possible that the attorney general would seek to have the injunction declared permanent as a basis for an appeal which would be decided by the Supreme court in April. Or it may be decided to fight the temporary injunction when it is called before Judge Brown on April 8.

Meanwhile Chicago merchants completed their plans to collect the tax. Most of the department stores have adopted the so-called State street plan

$18,000 Insull Pensions Tied Up by Court

Pensions totaling $18,000 a year which the Commonwealth Edison company, Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and Public Service Company of Northern Illinois have been paying Samuel Insull were tied up by an attachment obtained yesterday in the Superior court by James P. O'Grady, 2636 Winona avenue, who filed suit for $30,000 against Insull.

Only the praecipe of the suit was filed, but the grounds for action were related by Attorney Sylvanus G. Lee, representing the defendant. O'Grady, Lee said, is a pensioned employé of Marshall Field & Co. who had invested $22,000 in debentures of Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

A few months before the Insull utility pyramid crashed, Attorney Lee said, O'Grady became suspicious of his investment because of the sinking quotations on the debentures, and after several trips was admitted to an interview with Insull. He expressed his doubt, stating that he had his life savings invested in the bonds, and according to Attorney Lee Insull replied to him:

"If those bonds default on their interest in July I'll send you my check for what you paid for them."

The attachments, so long as they stand, have the effect of preventing payment of the pensions to Insull until the suit is heard.

DOG POUND GETS EXTRA STAFF FOR FOOL DAY CALLS

Everything is in readiness at the dog pound and the Lincoln park zoo for a rush of telephone calls today. It's April 1, the annual day of revelry for practical jokers.

At the dog pound Capt. McCauley has assigned a special staff to handle the thousands of calls received each April 1 for "Miss Barker," "Jean," "Queenie," etc.

"It is an old story with us and all part of the day's work," said the captain. "We explain to each joke victim that it's April fool's day, but we have a hard time convincing some of them that they have been fooled. They seem to think we are the jokers when we tell them they have called the dog pound."

At Loyola university a large group of men students will take part today in the finals of the annual mustache Derby. A silk top hat will be awarded to the possessor of the most luxuriant mustache.

BERWYN MAYOR'S HOME IS BOMBED; BLAMES POLITICS

Damage estimated at about $100 was caused last night by the explosion of a small bomb in the rear of the home of Mayor Frank Novotny of Berwyn. The blast was blamed by the mayor, who is a candidate for reelection in the election to be held Tuesday, on his political enemies.

Behind the home, which is at 2171 Euclid avenue, Berwyn, is a small garage. The bomb, in an iron bucket, was placed close to the garage, and most of the damage was to its walls. At the time of the explosion the mayor was attending a political rally at 26th street and Ridgeland avenue. His wife was in their apartment on the second floor and was hurled from a chair by the blast, she reported.

On the first floor lives Albert Novotny, Berwyn city clerk, a brother of the mayor. He and a dozen friends, holding a conference in the basement, were jarred when the bomb went off, as were Mrs. Albert Novotny and her two children.

Mayor Novotny is running on an independent ticket.

Opposing him are Otto Becha, Democrat, and Anthony Fink, Republican.

TRIBUNE WRITER SEIZED BY NAZIS FOR SCRIBBLING

Suspected of Writing 'Propaganda and Lies.'

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.

FRANKFORT-AM-MAIN, March 31.—In Russia it's "sabotage." In Germany it's "propaganda" and "lies."

This comparison was brought home to me this afternoon in an illuminating glimpse through the microscope of personal experience of the revolutionary "heebie-jeebies" sweeping Germany on the eve of a nation-wide boycott against Jews.

I was arrested in a street by Nazi auxiliary police and taken to headquarters for questioning. I was suspected of having plotted to send a telegram to Czechoslovakia containing news of attacks on Jews. The case against me was quashed, despite contradictory testimony by two alleged eyewitnesses, when I was able to establish that I had been present at a boycott meeting and the day before had stood on a reviewing stand in quest of a prominent local Nazi.

"Suspicious" Action.

The details of the incident was that I had been seen writing something on a piece of paper in a restaurant on Oberberg Square and had put the paper to my pocket with the intent further, that I had used in connection the word "telegram" in connection with another conversation in Frankfort with whom I was having lunch. Actually, I had drafted a telegram to the Paris office of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE asking that money be sent to me.

My acquaintance and I emerged from the restaurant and had proceeded about 100 yards when we heard a hue and cry behind us. We found ourselves surrounded by an excited crowd which included a couple of auxiliary policemen, half a dozen Nazis in brown shirts, and a score or so of civilians.

A wild eyed little man was shouting in a hysterical voice that we were foreigners who had been seen in the act of writing propaganda and lies for abroad. A large, shady looking individual backed him up.

With quiet authority the auxiliary police told us to come along to headquarters. Though technically they had not the right to make such arrests, we obeyed without protest, as the temper of the crowd was uncertain.

At headquarters we were lined up before a police sergeant, while our accusers gave evidence.

"Did you write a telegram?" sternly, but politely, asked the sergeant.

"Is it a crime to write a telegram in Germany?" I asked.

"No," replied the sergeant, "but you are suspected of being a foreigner engaged in anti-German propaganda."

"Am I under arrest?" I countered.

"No, you're simply under suspicion."

"Do I have to answer your question?"

"Yes."

Demands to See Consul.

"Well, I won't. I refuse to answer any question until you permit me to talk to the American consul."

"You can see he is guilty," piped up the little man. The shady individual concurred.

"Tell us whether you wrote the telegram and if you wrote one show it and we'll let you go," said a Nazi policeman.

"Can I talk to the consul?" I asked.

"Show the telegram," said the Nazi.

We finally compromised by having the police call a local Nazi who acted as my host yesterday. On his assurance that I was "all right" the police told me I was free.

"We have nothing against you, but, with all these Jews spreading propaganda and lies abroad, every foreigner is suspicious in times like these," said the Nazi leader by way of an excuse.

LINER HAMBURG FLIES FLAG OF OLD GERMAN EMPIRE IN NEW YORK

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—The liner Hamburg of the Hamburg-American line arrived here today from Hamburg, Southampton, and Cherbourg, flying the red, white, and black flag of the old German empire. Her commander, Capt. Theodor Koch, said that his craft had flown the flag of the old régime except at Cherbourg, where the ensign of the German republic was used. He stated that it is a matter left to the discretion of the master of the vessel.

Among the 340 passengers aboard the Hamburg was Mrs. Dorothea Wieck, German screen star who was featured in "Maedchen in Uniform." She is en route to Hollywood, where she will do several pictures for Paramount.

SALVATION ARMY PLANS PROGRAM OF SELF-DENIAL

The Salvation Army will launch a self-denial program on Sunday, April 9, the headquarters of the central states territory announced yesterday.

One of the principal features of the self-denial program is the solicitation of funds from among the Salvationists and friends of the Army for continuation of the educational and relief activities in the home and foreign mission fields. Those approached are asked to deny themselves something in the way of food and clothing and contribute the money saved.

The estimated budget of this program in the central states for the coming year is $78,660. Commissioner W. A. McIntyre will open the campaign in the Evangeline residence in Detroit on April 8. Eleven central states will then set to work to raise their individual allotments.

6 KILLED, 8 HURT IN PLANE CRASH ON KANSAS FIELD

Motor Failure Is Blamed for Accident.

Neodesha, Kas., March 31.—[Special.]—Six persons, including two pilots, the owner and three passengers, were killed, and eight other passengers seriously injured when a big trimotored Ford passenger plane crashed in a muddy field near here today.

The plane was carrying members of the Winnipeg Toilers, championship Canadian basketball team, from Tulsa, Okla., to Winnipeg.

The disaster occurred on the second anniversary of the death of Knute Rockne, famous football coach, who was killed in a plane crash on the Kansas prairies.

The Casualty List.

The dead are:

Jack H. O'Brien, 65, Minneapolis, owner of the plane.

A. K. Hakes, 28, Windom, Minn., pilot.

H. G. Eggens, Hendricks, Minn., copilot.

E. H. Bonynge, Minneapolis, business manager of the basketball team.

Mike Shea, Winnipeg, member of the team.

Joe Dodds, Winnipeg, member of the team.

The injured, several of whom may die, are:

Bruce Dodds, basketball player, reported dying.

Andy Brown, player, condition critical, may die.

George Wilson, manager of the team, condition critical.

Lauder Phillips, player, cut and bruised.

Allan C. Samson, Winnipeg newspaper man, severely cut and bruised.

T. A. Silverthorne, player, broken legs and arms.

Hugh Penwarden, player, cuts and probable internal injuries.

Caused by Engine Failure.

The big plane developed engine trouble over Neodesha and began circling for a landing. As it neared the tank farm of the Sinclair-Prairie Oil company, five miles north, the ship sideslipped and crashed into the mud, imprisoning every one inside the wreckage.

Only two of the fourteen victims, Lauder Phillips and T. A. Silverthorne, were conscious when witnesses reached the wreck.

"The left motor quit about fifteen minutes before the crash," Phillips said. "We were circling for a landing. At the last minute we knew we were going to crash. All of us braced ourselves, waiting for it."

Tells of Last Few Minutes.

"The going had been rough, and we flew low all the way from Tulsa," Phillips continued.

"As we came over Neodesha we knew something was going to happen. The left motor suddenly cut out and the plane began to wobble.

"The pilot dropped rapidly toward a field north of the city, a regular airport across a highway from an oil company's tank farm.

"He had to circle to come down and, as he turned, the left side of the ship sagged badly. A gust of wind flipped the ship and—I—I don't know how I got out."

Silverthorne, although suffering from broken legs and arms, told an equally graphic story.

"We had begun to circle after the motor quit," he said, "when Pilot Hawkes shouted that he was going to land and warned us to watch out. Then we started a sudden plunge, and everything after that is confused."

Eldon Vandenburgh, who lives on the farm where the plane crashed, saw the tragedy.

The ship was coming from the southwest," he said. "I could hear only one motor functioning. It circled and came back southwest. About 50 feet above ground I heard the one remaining motor stop, and then the plane nosedived toward the ground. As it struck the ground it turned and landed on the left wing. Within a few minutes, hundreds of farmers and motorists arrived and some started taking souvenirs from the plane. Officers later kept them from doing that."

Tried to Sideslip.

From the accounts of these two survivors and the position of the wrecked plane, broken in two and lying on its crushed left wing, authorities here concluded the pilot had sideslipped in order to avoid overshooting the small field.

The plane, chartered by the basketball team, was a regularly licensed transport ship. The federal permit allowed a maximum load of twelve passengers and two pilots. The capacity load was aboard today.

The basketball team had appeared in Tulsa in two games of an international championship series with the Tulsa Diamond Oilers, United States A. A. U. champions.

LOSS TO FRANCE FOR REPUDIATION OF DEBT IS PUT AT $157,000,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 31.—Just how much money France has lost through its default of the Dec. 15 war debt payment of $19,261,432 to the United States was the subject of acrimonious debate in the chamber of deputies today.

Louis Marin, Nationalist leader, in denouncing the government for what it is rumored to have in mind—making the belated payment—said it was impossible that France could have lost $157,000,000 as a result of the default.

Louis Germain-Martin, finance minister in the late Herriot government and the man who calculated France's losses at $157,000,000, retorted; "The people who have lost the money in question are the ones who set the figure."

Herriot confirmed this statement. He said: "You have only to ask the French chambers of commerce in the United States. Nobody in his right mind could deny that French business has lost formidable sums in recent months because of the default."

Hitler's Defamation Charge Answered by Jewish Leader

Rabbi Solomon Goldman, chairman of the Jewish committee on the situation in Germany, which is representative of united Jewry in Chicago, gave a statement last night defining the attitude of the committee toward future protests and toward the boycott ordered to begin in Germany this morning.

"The accounts of the atrocities committed upon Jews in Germany," he said, "were not disseminated either by Jews in Germany or by Jews outside of Germany. The brutal treatment our people suffered there evoked the sympathy of the entire civilized world. Distinguished newspaper correspondents, non-Jews and in the employ of non-Jews, were the first to tell of the Jews' misery.

Cites American Newspapers.

"Let the Hitler government examine the American newspapers alone and it will be convinced that there was no Jewish conspiracy to defame Germany. High minded American, Christian journalists of international reputation and unquestioned integrity claimed to report only a tenth of the miserable spectacle of which they were eyewitnesses. Did Hitler expect the Jews to remain silent in the face of such reports? Even the protest meetings were in some instances anticipated by Christians, as was indeed the case in our own great city.

"To hold German Jewry responsible for these expressions of moral indignation is preposterous. The Hitler government knows full well that the Jews in Germany swallowed their pride, suppressed their emotions and docilely submitted to their fate. Hitler evidently has forgotten that his entire Jewish campaign antedates our protests and 'acts of defamation' against Germany by at least a decade. Long before we dreamt of protesting he taught his Nazis to sing, 'Only when Jews lie bleeding can we be really free.' The desecration of Jewish cemeteries is years old. The Nazis' intense, vicious, anti-Jewish propaganda started a decade ago.

Too Much Concerned to Debate.

"If the Hitler government desires to make our several protest meetings the peg on which to hang the oppression of German Jewry we will submit. The Jews of the world are too much concerned with the fate of their brethren in Germany to debate the question.

"Speaking as chairman of the Chicago Jewish committee on the Jewish situation in Germany, we can assure the Hitler government that there will be no protest on the part of Jewry as long as the Jews in Germany will enjoy the human and civil rights to which they are entitled, both because of citizenship and the distinguished service they have rendered Germany and its people."

Julius Klein, managing editor of the German Staats-Herold, announced yesterday that he had resigned in protest against an editorial written by the chief editorial writer of the syndicate which controls the paper, defending the policies of the Hitler régime.

OSER INQUEST REOPENS TODAY; HIT O'HARA PLEA

The state's effort to prove that Fred F. Oser, rebel member of the Moving Picture Operators' union, was deliberately murdered will be carried forward today by Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty at the reconvened inquest at the county morgue.

Ralph O'Hara, official of the union, has been formally charged with murder.

After a week of investigation, Mr. Dougherty said yesterday that he was ready to present witnesses at the inquest hearing today who would give evidence damaging to O'Hara's statement that he killed Oser in the offices of the union at 506 South Wabash avenue after Oser had fired a shot at him.

Dougherty also plans to put Thomas Maloy, business agent of the union, on the stand.

Asks Divorce and Permit to Drink 5 Cases of Beer

In a bill for divorce filed yesterday in the Superior court by Attorney Victor Frohlich, Walter Jezzorni, 4644 South Winchester avenue, asked an injunction to restrain his wife from carrying out her threat to beat him up if he drinks the five cases of 3.2 per cent beer which he has ordered.

MARCH GOES OUT IN FOG AND RAIN; WARMER TODAY

With a heavy rainfall, March bade a lusty farewell to Chicago last night. The downpour flooded scores of basements and many requests were made to the fire department for pumping services which were denied. Street car subways also were flooded for a time.

The rain wound up a March day which saw alternating sunshine and heavy rain clouds. A drizzle started during the afternoon and was followed by fog. The rain was accompanied by a temperature drop from a maximum of 69 degrees at 1 p. m—the warmest March 31 since 1920—to a minimum last night below 40.

A passable April day is scheduled for the ushering in of the new month today. The forecast is for generally fair, with somewhat warmer temperatures this afternoon.

Lightning struck an electric light post in the rear of 6410 Champlain avenue last night, the charge traveling through the wire into the apartment of Robert Hobbs, colored, at that address, causing a small blaze.

Youth Forgets Identity; Recalls Only Train Ride

A well dressed young man about 22 years old walked into the Central police station last night and told Desk Sergeant James Gortland that he remembered having ridden on a train, but could not recall where he lived or his name. The youth wore a coat purchased from "Akerman's store, N. Y." A hat, bought in Chicago, bore the initials S. N. G. Police took the young man to the psychopathic hospital.

JOKING LEADS TO TRAGEDY IN ELGIN STREET

Arthur T. Tracy, 34 years old, mailman and state inspector for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Earl Miller, 18 years old, who have often exchanged jests, met yesterday in a grocery at St. Charles and Regent streets, Elgin. Miller, son of a well to do coal dealer, drove up to the store in a truck.

Leaving the store, Tracy tossed a small book toward Miller. It contained instructions on how to drive automobiles properly.

"You'd better read up on the rules and learn to drive," he jested.

A few minutes later Tracy was run down by a truck. The driver drove away. Tracy was taken to the hospital critically injured. Not long afterward Sergt. Herman Nofs of the state highway police arrested young Miller.

"Yes, I ran down Tracy," he admitted. "I only meant to scare him."

STRIVE TO BUILD U.S. NAVY NEARER TREATY RATING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will be asked next week to approve an extensive construction proram to bring the navy up to the approximate strength fixed for the United States in the treaty of London.

The navy department program already approved by Secretary Swanson, Speaker Rainey, Chairman Vinson of the house committee on naval affairs, and other congressional supporters of the administration will be submitted to the President on Tuesday as part of the program for relief of the idle.

The program calls for the construction of 20 destroyers, 5 light cruisers, 4 submarines, and 1 aircraft carrier, the types of ships in which at present, according to the big navy advocates, the United States is in third place, with Great Britain in first and Japan in second.

It's 3 Year Program.

The complete cost of the program will be $230,000,000 spread over three years, the cost in the first year to be about $46,000,000. The President would be authorized to begin construction in the next fiscal year, which would start July 1.

Chairman Vinson told of the support already attained for the program, adding:

"The government navy yards and private shipyards are ready. Work, if ordered by the President, would be under way within not more than ninety days after the enactment of the legislation.

"The proposal has two main objects—first, the building up of the United States navy to the strength allocated this country in the treaty of London and, second, to decrease unemployment. The building of an American warship means the expenditure of about 85 per cent of the money involved on labor—45 per cent in the yards and 40 per cent in outside industry. The rest represents material. This may sound fantastic to some, but it happens to be the fact."

The navy department has informed congress that the American destroyers now in commission practically are in their obsolence, and unless something is done in replacement the strength in modern destroyers will be less than 30,000 tons when the London treaty expires.

Low on Light Cruisers.

In the case of light cruisers the navy is far below treaty strength and no new construction is authorized or under way. The five cruisers proposed in the program will displace those of between 8 and 10 thousand tons with main batteries of 6 inch guns. One of the cruisers would be of the new flying deck type, of which there are none at present in the American navy. The submarines would be sister ships of the vessels now under construction, while the aircraft carrier would in all the more important particulars be a sister ship of the Ranger, now under construction at Newport News.

The program is about one-third the size in money involved and in tonnage of that proposed two years ago, which was disapproved by President Hoover.

TALKS OF AIR CORPS

The original five year air corps program for 1,800 fighting airplanes, which is in its seventh year, is not yet completed, Maj. Gen. Benjamin Foulois, chief of the army air corps, said. He told the house military affairs committee that, in his judgment, the program contemplated just half the planes needed to put the United States army aviation service in the position this country should occupy among first class powers.

Gen. Foulois and Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, his predecessor, both appeared before the committee during a four hour hearing today. They testified to the "run down" condition of the army air corps. Gen. Fechet did not believe that a consolidation of the war and navy departments would meet with success, nor did he favor the purchase of airships, as advocated yesterday by former Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, chief of the A. E. F. aviation forces.

Program Steadily Weakens.

Gen. Foulois also opposed the Mitchell projects for 2,000 long range bombers and 50 Zeppelins.

"Let's not jump too far ahead," Gen. Foulois said.

The five year program, Gen. Foulois said, has been falling steadily behind, both in equipment and personnel. On Dec. 1, 1932, he said, the service was short 360 of the contemplated 1,500 regular officers, 278 reserve officers, 1,235 enlisted men, and 285 airplanes.

This assertion immediately started an argument. Representatives James, Hill, Chairman McSwain, and others held that the intent of congress in framing the five year program was for 1,800 "serviceable" combat planes. Gen. Foulois, said, however, that there were 924 of that type craft on hand at the end of the last year, 88 of them assigned to National Guard units. In addition, there were 112 "service type" combat planes undergoing final tests, thus making a total of 1,012 combat planes fit for immediate service.

Gen. Foulois recommended that a thorough study of the entire national defense setup be made in keeping with the Democratic platform.

"Why build battleships when they can be put out of commission by cheaper airplanes?" he asked. "We should replace old weapons gradually with more modern machines. We need no more battleships unless we intend to invade a foreign country."

BOY SHOOTS SELF AT GIRL'S HOME AFTER HIS MOTHER DIES

Robert Haskins, 16 years old, of 3112 Fulton street, was shot three times below the heart last night while in the hallway of the home of his 15 year old sweetheart, Geraldine Paphe, 341 North Kedzie avenue. He was taken to the Franklin Boulevard hospital in a critical condition.

Just an hour before the shooting Robert's mother, Mrs. Margaret Haskins, 46 years old, had died in the county hospital following a heart attack.

Police believe that the boy shot himself. At first they thought that he had attempted suicide in grief over his mother's death. However, they admitted later they were not certain that was the motive. He refused to or could not explain. A pistol was found in the hallway.

The mother was stricken about 6 o'clock while away from home. Robert did not learn of her illness or that she was taken to the hospital, according to his brother, Roy, 18 years old. Mrs. Haskins died at 10:05 p. m. and Robert was shot at about 11:15. Between 10:05 and the time of the shooting he was being sought, Roy said.

Police expect to question the Paphe girl today.

MAC CORMACK IS NAMED AS CHIEF OF IMMIGRATION

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today nominated Daniel William MacCormack to be commissioner general of immigration and former Gov. Harry Hines Woodring of Kansas to be assistant secretary of war.

Mr. MacCormack, who will succeed Harry E. Hull, former member of congress from Iowa, is a New York banker, who was born at Wink, Scotland, April 9, 1880, and came with his parents to the United States in 1889. In the world war he was general inspector in charge of the reorganization of the army transport service in France and served on a mission to Russia for the peace conference in 1919.

Mr. Woodring, who was defeated for reëlection last November, was one of the early supporters in the west of President Roosevelt.

form a trust company of their own to negotiate for a federal loan. A similar trust plan is to be presented to the Reconstruction Finance corporation by members of the citizens' committee on public expenditures. It contemplates the formation of a trust company to use school tax anticipation warrants as collateral for a loan.

"The teachers' trust company," declared Cohler, "could make a pront of 1 per cent, which would be the difference between the 5 per cent interest charged by the government for the loan and the 6 per cent yielded by tax warrants."

A resolution demanding that members of the board of education resign immediately was voted down on the recommendation of Lillian Herstein, a teacher at Crane Junior college.

"This would be a childish expedient," contended Miss Herstein. "It would be much better to tell the school board to get on the job."

At the conclusion of the meeting the teachers decided to parade to the city hall Tuesday afternoon. In an assembly earlier at the Calumet High school plans for a massmeeting of students to protest against the nonpayment of the teachers was discussed. No action was taken.

Otto F. Aken, county superintendent of schools, sent letters to Gov. Horner and Joseph J. Rice, director of finance, at Springfield yesterday urging them to make a portion of the state school distributive fund available to Cook county at once.

PLANE DROPS IN AT SUMMER HOME OF ALD. WALLER

A low flying plane skimming over the roof of her summer home 5 miles southeast of Libertyville sent Mrs. James B. Waller, wife of the Chicago alderman, and a half dozen dinner guests running out into the open at dusk last evening.

They reached the outside in time to see an Argo biplane plump gently on a field some 500 feet away. The pilot, Henry Jerger, 22 years old, of Des Plaines, stepped from the cockpit, somewhat white of face.

"I was trying to make Des Plaines," he apologized, "but I got lost in the fog and had to make a forced landing."

Mrs. Waller and her friends put their shoulders to the plane and pushed it over the sticky ground to the front yard of her home. Mrs. Waller then leashed a couple of police dogs from her kennels to the plane to protect it for the night, and then drove Jerger to Libertyville, where he boarded a train for home.

WOMAN FIGHTS WITH UMBRELLA, BUT IS KIDNAPED

A young woman was kidnaped by two men in an automobile at Racine avenue and Monroe street last night after a struggle in the rain in which she struck at them with her umbrella.

The umbrella fell on the street and will be used by police as a possible clew to her identification.

Joseph Vorel, 1145 Adams street, and Melvin Forgge, 1221 Monroe street, witnesses, told police that the abductors appeared to be young men. After forcing the girl into their car they drove south in Racine avenue and then turned west in Adams street, the witnesses said.

Victim of Beating in Flat Dies; Friends Held

Frank McCambridge, 27 years old, died in the county hospital yesterday of a beating received supposedly in a brawl in his flat at 2856 North Clark street. Jacob Luko, Thomas Dominguis, Vincent Ryan, and Robert Berry, neighborhood friends, are being held for questioning.

TWO FLYING ALUMNI VISIT PRISON; SHOOT FROM AIR; ARRESTED

Leavenworth, Kas., March 31.—[Special.]—Two alumni of Uncle Sam's grim, walled institution here made a homecoming call today, apparently to greet a brother who was about to be graduated. They came in style, too—by air.

Their plane swooped low over the walled inclosure and from it five shots were fired. Tower guards returned the fire with machine guns and drove the airmen away. The plane returned a second time and again was fought off.

Maj. Gen. Stuart Heintzelman, commander at Fort Leavenworth, heard the shooting and telephoned from a golf links to the military airport nearby. Army planes went up and soon forced the invader down. In the plane were Lynn Barlow and A. N. Barlow, both sent here from Denver to serve terms on liquor charges. They were released last fall. Neither was armed and there were no weapons in the plane.

Kentucky Bride's Secret Divorce Is Disclosed Here

Files of the Superior court disclosed yesterday that Miss Ruth Hardy Sherrill, who was married last Saturday at Paducah, Ky., to Arthur Bidwell Hellyer of Chicago, got a decree two weeks ago in Judge James J. Kelly's court which terminated a secret marriage of a year ago. She was married Jan. 11, 1932, at Mayfield, Ky., to Donald Thompson McKenna of Chicago, according to her testimony in the suit. McKenna left her immediately after the marriage, she said.

WARN AGAINST UNDUE ECONOMY IN THE SCHOOLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., March 31.—[Special.]—An audience of 4,000 tonight heard Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, and Henry Ohl Jr., president of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, plead against undue economy in educational budgets.

They spoke at a massmeeting in the main hall of the auditorium here.

Declaring at the outset he was not speaking "in the interests of a local political campaign," Dr. Frank denounced the movement to cut school expenditures in the interests of financial considerations. "The public expenditure is exempt from examination by taxpayers, in the times of financial depression," he said. "But violent economy in social welfare can wreck the achievements of years."

Dr. Frank outlined what he considers the public's rights in connection with the educational system.

"It has the right to understand the costs of education; the right to an education it can afford; the right to have an efficiently administrated school system," he said. "It has the privilege of individual education and right to have children taught by teachers who love their profession.

"In a passion for extreme economy, some people would like to make our social institutions pay for the faults committed by the economic leadership of this country, which led us into this financial depression. The burden of economy must be placed on the backs of the economic leadership which caused the depression," he asserted "Instead of producing a financial deficit, which is looked upon with horror, these cut costs advocates would saddle our social institutions with a deficit it would take years to eliminate."

PUTS SERVICES OF GOVERNMENT ON A FEE BASIS

Roosevelt Plans Tax on Navigation.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—The Roosevelt economy program, it was revealed today, envisages the transfer of the cost of numerous services furnished by the federal government from the shoulders of the taxpayers at large to the beneficiary interests.

By making such services self-supporting through the assessment of dues on the beneficiaries the cost of the central government to the taxpayers can be reduced many millions of dollars, the President has been advised.

Starts with Navigation.

The program is to be initiated in connection with aids to navigation on the ocean, the lakes, and the rivers. Lighthouses and lightships, buoys, and other devices for the guidance of navigators and services for the removal of obstructions to navigation are maintained by the federal government.

Salt and fresh water shipping interests are beneficiaries of these services costing about 60 million dollars which are now maintained at the expense of the general body of taxpayers. The lighthouse service alone is costing this year $13,659,280.

The President takes the position that this expense should be borne by shipping interests. He would have the government reimbursed for the expenditure from the proceeds of a small tonnage tax assessed on everything afloat within the jurisdiction of the United States.

For the expense of maintaining harbors and navigable rivers and other waterway channels the President likewise would have the treasury reimbursed from the proposed tonnage tax.

Britain Uses System.

Mr. Roosevelt has pointed out that this is no novelty. It is done by other countries, notably by Great Britain. The English tonnage tax imposed on all ships using the waters of the British isles is sufficient to enable Trinity house to maintain the navigability of all harbors and channels.

A beginning in the application of this principle was made during the last year of the Hoover administration. At the instance of the Democratic house there was included in the economy act a provision imposing charges for various services performed by the bureau of standards and the bureau of mines, which theretofore had been furnished at the expense of the taxpayers.

If the President decides to extend the application of the principle many other services might be placed on a self-supporting basis. There is, for example, meat inspection, which is costing this year $5,604,860. The treasury might be reimbursed for the cost of this service by the assessment of fees on the packing houses.

Many Agricultural Services.

Similarly the department of agriculture maintains numerous services of which farmers are the beneficiaries for the cost of which the treasury might be reimbursed by the assessment of fees. Upwards of 15 millions is the cost of maintaining the force of county agents and other employés of the extension service for the instruction of farmers in the arts of husbandry.

Some administration officials are in favor of abolishing this and other services whose efforts, if successful at all, merely increase those surpluses of farm products which the government is expending hundreds of millions of dollars to remove from the market.

Wood Products Service.

An example of another sort of service is that of the forest products laboratory, which experiments in the utilization of wood products for the benefit of lumber and paper manufacturers and others, at a cost to the taxpayers this year of $613,840.

It was learned at the White House that the President has laid down the rule that the waterway developments undertaken shall be those affording the opportunity for the employment of the largest amount of direct labor. Big dredging projects will be excluded for the reason that they require comparatively few men. The St. Lawrence seaway, however, is one that will be proceeded with if the senate ratifies the pending treaty.

It will be some time before the President gets around to the general public works program. The Muscle Shoals project, however, he expects to whip into shape for presentation to congress within a week or two. The development of the Tennessee basin is to be the subject of a separate bill.

Canadian Beer Runner, Shot in Hotel, Is Dead

John Carrick, 26 years old, of Detroit, a Canadian beer runner, died this morning in the Bridewell hospital of gunshot wounds received early Tuesday in his room in the Royalton hotel, 6213 University avenue. He and Welch named Sidney Randall and Jack [Babe] Neff as their assailants. They are being sought.

1933 Marriage Licenses Almost Equal to 1932's

Marriage licenses issued in the first three months of 1933 were but 1 per cent less than the number issued in the corresponding period of 1932, County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer announced yesterday. Since the first of the year 5,522 licenses have been issued. Last year the total for the three months was 64 more, or 5,586.

PRESIDENT ACTS TO SPEED FARM PRICE BILL VOTE

Senators at Conference at White House.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today acted to sweep aside opposition to the administration farm price fixing bill and speed its passage through congress. Following a White House conference during which the farm price bill and the farm mortgage refinancing bill were discussed at length, senate leaders said it now appears the farm price bill will pass the senate in much the same form that it was approved by the house.

It was agreed at the White House conference that an authorization of approximately 100 million dollars would be asked to finance the launching of the farm relief program. It was stated, however, that this money would be returned to the federal treasury as soon as the commodity tax levied on the processors of farm products had been collected. The idea, it was said, was to make the revenues derived from license taxes on commodities pay the full cost of the whole undertaking.

Leaders Head Delegation.

Senators Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.] and Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.] headed the delegation which called on the President. Others in the group included most of the Democrats on the senate agriculture committee and a few of the Republicans.

As senate majority leader, Senator Robinson said that while the senate agriculture committee may add several amendments to the farm price bill and a considerable number of new commodities these probably would be eliminated on the floor. The senator added, however, that some of the new features may be added as riders.

Both Senator Robinson and Chairman Smith of the agriculture committee agreed that the farm commodity measure and the farm mortgage refinancing bill will be united before going to the White House. They said also that as passed the bill will curtail some of the power of the secretary of agriculture in the fixing of taxes on commodities.

Mortgage Bill Up Monday.

The farm mortgage bill goes to congress Monday and probably will be ready for senate action by the latter part of the week. Chairman Smith said his farm price bill will be completed Monday evening and reported to the senate.

"It seems to me," said Senator Robinson, "that the revenues to be raised by the bill through taxes will be relied upon to carry out the provisions of the measure. An appropriation, reimbursable under the bill, must be authorized, however, in order not to delay putting the program into effect."

Mr. Robinson was of the opinion cattle and sheep would be eliminated from the bill.

Predicated on the theory that farm commodities should be restored to the comparative purchasing power they enjoyed in the period of 1909 to 1914, the farm bill as passed by the house would give to the secretary of agriculture the broadest possible power over American agriculture.

FORESTRY WORK BILL IS SIGNED; TO RECRUIT SOON

Conference Is Called to Map Projects.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—Plans were under way tonight to have the civilian conservation corps created by President Roosevelt's reforestation bill begin recruiting from among the ranks of the idle within two weeks.

The President signed the bill making it law today. By midsummer he believes that 200,000 men, drawn chiefly from those who migrated from country to city during boom times and now are stranded, will be at work in the forests.

The labor department will supervise enrollment of the idle into corps of workers. The pay will be as originally planned, $30 a month, with food, shelter, and medical care.

Maj. R. Y. Stuart, United States forester, has called a conference of state forestry officials to plan for state projects. Out of 161 million acres of national forest, only six million acres are east of the Mississippi, where idleness is greatest.

Officials are anxious to work out cooperative projects with states and with private owners of forest lands, so that work may be supplied in the east, thereby saving transportation costs and allowing the available funds to be spread as broadly as possible.

The funds are to come from money authorized but not yet expended for federal construction work. In all some 150 million dollars is now available.

HOODLUMS QUIT ILLEGAL BEER AS APRIL 7 NEARS

Some Represent Brewers and Others Retire.

With legal beer returning on April 7, many of Chicago's hoodlums are getting out of the illegal beer racket, some of them to retire and some to enter the legitimate field, if possible. Police reached this conclusion last night after a cursory study of speakeasies.

"In a few more days there won't be any hoodlum breweries to speak of," predicted a loop speakeasy owner. "Here's the tip off."

He drew a glassful of beer. Its foamy top was weak and spongy. It appeared to have no life. He filled several more glasses. The foamy crowns were as insubstantial.

Make a Barrel at a Time.

"This is new beer, no age at all," continued the owner. "It's made in a day, and that's why the foam in it is lifeless. Here's the secret. The boys haven't any beer in stock. They're making a barrel at a time, as it is ordered, to meet the supply until real beer returns."

Out on the south side, police learned, Jack Heinan, former pugilist and one time heavy man for Al Capone, is calling on his old customers. At every place he orders beers "set up for the boys."

"I'm a brewer's agent now," Heinan is explaining. "You'll buy my beer as before, only we won't have to worry about it."

Hoodlums Tie Up Cicero.

Cicero, police understand, is already tied up by hoodlums who say they represent licensed brewers. And a large section of Chicago will also be "territory," if the plans of Leonard Boltz are completed. Boltz, 30 years old and said by police to be a beer runner associated with the northwest side Touhy mob, was arrested yesterday and questioned by Detective Chief Schoemaker. The chief learned that Boltz had leased a warehouse at 2920 Lake street.

"That's correct," said Boltz. "I have a contract with a Milwaukee brewery to be its agent. This company will send me beer and I'll distribute it. My territory will be from North avenue to the north county line and from California avenue to Barrington."

Chief Schoemaker released Boltz. He said Commissioner Allman would be asked whether to give Boltz a permit.

Fear Big Scale Hijacking.

The breweries are fearful that gangsters are plotting hi-jacking operations on the night of April 7 on a scale never attempted before.

Sheriff Meyering was so informed yesterday afternoon at a conference attended by representatives of the leading breweries of Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, and other cities in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Missouri.

Sheriff Meyering promised that he would use the entire resources of his office to protect shipments of beer on the Cook county highways. Fifty extra deputies will be on duty the first night.

Representatives of the Atlas, Prima, Bosworth, Anheuser Busch, Pabst, United States Brewing, Birk Brothers, Schoenhofen, White Eagle, Fredericks Brothers, Monarch, and McDermott breweries were present at the conference.

Grein Warns Against High Collars.

No stein of beer in Chicago is going to be permitted to have an unusually high collar, Joe Grein, city sealer, warned yesterday. He visited the Prima Brewing company as the first of several inspection trips and examined barrel after barrel to be sure that the requisite 31 gallons were contained in each.

E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of permits, yesterday issued a general warning to breweries that no beer must leave their premises until midnight, April 6.

AH, 'TIS BONNIE BEER, SAYS M'HARDIE, AND HE'D KNOW ABOUT IT

New Orleans, La., March 31.—[Special.]—Duncan McHardie, Scotland-born seaman, jobless resident of New Orleans, passed by an open window of a brewery and just inside the window was an array of bottles of 3.2 beer.

So the brewery got its first testimonial on its new product, because seventeen bottles were empty by the time police came along.

Duncan McHardie gave his testimonial through the bars of police station joyously, before police turned him loose. The brewery officials refused to prosecute and took a written testimonial from him as to the excellence of their products.

"I want the world to know that's good beer," chanted Duncan McHardie. "Boy, O boy, it was good. Seventeen bottles. If you don't believe me go back and count the empties. The old zip, the old tingle, the old wallop. I've been jobless these nine months, and I was just an able seaman when I opened that first bottle. But I was lord high admiral of the grand fleet when the seventeenth went empty on me."

U. S. TAX ON BEER TO BAR EXPORT BY CANADIANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 31.—The Canadian government has just about decided that there is not to be a dollar's worth of business or revenue for Canada out of the return of beer in the United States.

This dominion has been notified by Washington of an intended American duty of $1 per gallon tax on imported beer, besides taxation of $5 per barrel of 31 gallons and a duty on the bottles. Even if this did not knock Canada out of the American beer business, it is said here that other American requirements as to beer strength and labels would preclude beer export from Canada.

DRYS IN SENATE BAR BEER FROM U. S. BUILDINGS

Amendment Hits Army and Navy Canteens.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—The senate today slipped easily back into its habits of days when dryness was dominant and before passing the District of Columbia beer bill wrote into it a prohibition against the sale of the new 3.2 beer in government buildings wherever located.

The vote on the amendment offered by Senator Thomas P. Gore, [Dem., Okla.], was 44 to 28. Drys who turned moist long enough to keep their platform promises on repeal and modification of the Volstead act flocked back to the dry side again. The 28 who voted wet were veterans who were wet before last June, and newcomers who ran and won on wet tickets.

Upsets Roosevelt Decision.

By its action, the senate ran directly counter to a decision already taken by President Roosevelt to allow the legal beer to be sold in army and navy canteens, except on naval vessels at sea, where space restrictions, it was said, would prevent the carrying of bottled goods.

Though the question was raised as to whether the wording of the amendment would prevent these canteen sales, Senator Millard E. Tydings, [Dem., Md.], wet steersman of the bill in its senate progress, said it was clear that such would be the case.

Whether the Gore amendment remains in the bill, which was passed last week by the house, will depend on the house's reaction to a provision which would halt plans already in the making for the sale of beer in the capitol restaurants. An attempt to introduce such an amendment during the house debate was voted down, 121 to 72. Being the body more responsive to public sentiment, the house, as the result of the elections, is considerably wetter than the senate.

Prescription Bill Signed.

With his signature President Roosevelt today turned into law the Copeland medicinal liquor bill, repealing former restrictions on the prescribing of spirits and wine by physicians.

Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock (who was superseded today), with a memorandum of instructions to his dry agents, joined the chiefs of the bureau of industrial alcohol and the internal revenue bureau in laying down new regulations to meet conditions under the coming régime of legal beer.

Bootleggers of hard liquor will be the principal target for the prohibition forces in the future, Mr. Woodcock announced.

"The time is ripe as never before for us to stamp out the unlawful manufacture and transportation of distilled spirits," Woodcock declared, addressing a circular letter to his agents.

Two other tasks will face the dry forces, however, Woodcock said. One will be the prevention of illegal beer and wine manufacturing and in that work the bureau expects the help of legal breweries, he said. The other task will be to stop the illegal shipments of legal beer and wines.

WILLIAM V. TURK, FOUND IN BOSTON SOUGHT A YEAR,

William V. Turk, 41 years old, alias Wells, Manning, and Saunders, was arrested in Boston last night at the request of Chicago police, who had been seeking him since February of last year when he forfeited court bonds amounting to $34,000.

He was arrested originally on alleged bucket shop charges. One complainant is Matthew Walker, 13025 Avenue M, who asserted he was defrauded out of $25,000. Charges are also said to be pending against Turk at Binghamton, N. Y.

Turk announced after his arrest that he would fight removal here.

ECONOMY CUTS AWAIT ORDERS BY PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—Lewis W. Douglas, the new director of the budget, stated tonight that the executive orders slashing veterans benefits would be signed by President Roosevelt tomorrow. They will provide savings, he said, of at least 400 million dollars through trimming the pension and compensation rolls. Another $50,000,000 will be saved through reducing the amount of money set aside for financing the adjusted service certificates.

Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, together with Budget Director Douglas and veterans administration officials laid the new executive orders on President Roosevelt's desk this afternoon. The President spent an hour going over the cuts just before dinner and then put the matter aside until tomorrow.

The cuts in veterans benefits as provided by the economy bill will not go into effect until July 1, for veterans now on the rolls.

MRS. WINNIE R. JUDD CALM IN HER CELL; SAWED ONE OF BARS

State Prison, Florence, Ariz., March 31.—(AP)—Disclosing a recent attempt to prepare for escape and several threats of suicide, prison officials were puzzled today by the cheerfulness displayed by Winnie Ruth Judd.

Mrs. Judd is condemned to die April 21 for killing Agnes Anne Leroi, one of the two "trunk murder" case victims.

About three weeks ago she cut through one bar in the little window of her one room adobe cell house in the yard of the woman's ward with a hack saw blade which Warden A. G. Walker said was "given her by her brother, Burton McKinnell."

E. H. Shute, assistant warden, said Mrs. Judd has declared several times recently she will kill herself before a rope is placed around her neck. Precautions have been taken against both escape and suicide.

She was smiling and cheerful today despite the refusal yesterday of the Arizona board of pardons and paroles to commute her sentence. Had she cut her way from the little cell, she still would have been surrounded by concrete and masonry.

Her brother in Los Angeles said there was a warrant out for his arrest for supplying her with a saw. He said he would surrender.

COMMONS TOLD LIQUOR DRAWS U. S. TOURISTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 31.—Where and why thirsty Americans spend their money when they come to Europe was explained in the house of commons today during debate on a bill to extend liquor selling privileges in hotels.

"American statistics for 1931," said P. J. H. Hannon, supporting the measure, "show that 1,500,000 American visitors went to France, 1,000,000 went to Switzerland and just 276,000 came to England."

On the average expenditure by tourists of $250 apiece he figured Great Britain was losing a large amount of Yankee money that it ought to get. Other supporters of the bill said that a proper hotel system influenced the trade of a country more than any form of activity.

Tennessee to Vote on Dry Law Repeal on July 20

Nashville, Tenn., March 31.—(AP)—A bill for a referendum in Tennessee on the eighteenth amendment was signed today by Gov. Hill McAlister. It calls for an election July 20 when the state-at-large will select 63 delegates to a convention to decide for or against ratification of the proposed 21st amendment to the federal constitution repealing the eighteenth amendment.

Beer Will Be Ready for Sale in Indiana on Friday

Indianapolis, Ind., March 31.—[Special.]—There will be legal beer in Indianapolis and central Indiana next Friday, the day United States law makes it legal, it was announced tonight by William E. Clauer, whose newly formed corporation, the Hoosier Brewery company, received one of the importing franchises in Indianapolis. Clauer has 20 carloads of beer ordered. Only one brewery in Indiana, the Berghoff at Fort Wayne, is reported ready to place beer on the market.

LOW FOOD PRICES ALMOST OFFSET SALES TAX TODAY

New Vegetables Abundant and Reasonable.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Chicago food shoppers will scarcely notice the advent of the new state retail sales tax as they make their week-end purchases of meats and groceries today.

Grocers announced that beginning with the opening of food stores today they will set aside the 3 per cent tax on gross sales of foodstuffs. Items subject to frequent market fluctuations will not be affected, while prices on other items are increased slightly to enable the grocers to meet the tax.

Even such changes will scarcely make a dent in food budgets, due to the return to low levels of the prices on foods at retail, reflecting the stabilization of wholesale markets from the flurry occasioned by the bank moratorium. Most foods will still have bargain counter quotations.

New Bargains in Vegetables.

Retail butter prices will be found lower than a week ago. Garden fresh vegetables have arrived from the south and west in an unusual quantity, effecting somewhat reduced prices without sacrificing quality. Carrots, radishes, baking potatoes, asparagus, rhubarb, and eggplant set new values, quality considered with prices, on today's market.

Two classes of carrots, beets, and turnips are on the market: those with fresh, green tops coming from the southland gardens, and those without tops coming from the storm cellars of Cook county gardeners. The latter were selling for 10 to 25 cents a bushel wholesale yesterday, forcing down prices on the new shipments.

With the approach of Easter, farmer producers are sending in even more plentiful supplies of fresh eggs than came to Chicago at this time last year. Although egg consumption doubles at this season, the prices are expected to remain as at present, the lowest in years, considering quality. In some sections of the city dealers are seeking to meet a demand for duck eggs for the holiday.

In the butcher shops leg of lamb, veal cuts, some of the beef and pork cuts are economical purchases.

Flour and sugar values will be found advancing a few cents on family sized packages. Some attractively priced lines of canned goods, crackers and breakfast cereals are to be found, while tea and coffee prices continue to establish record low levels.

MOB LYNCHES 10 'WITCH' KILLERS OF 5 CUBAN GIRLS

Machado Declares War Against Cults.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, March 31.—Ten Negroes, members of a witchcraft sect, were hanged, shot and burned today on an isolated cane plantation five miles east of Baracoa in Havana province. The victims were ten of 28 persons who had been jailed for a ritualistic sacrifice to the goddess "Chango" of five white girls at Caimito last Monday. It was the first time a lynching has been recorded in Cuba.

The lynchings were coincident with President Machado's declaration today of "war to the finish" against the recrudescence of witchcraft on the island. He ordered the extermination of all followers of the savage "Chango" sect.

Mob Storms Jail.

A mob of about 150 men stormed the Baracoa city jail and with pistols forced guards into corners. They picked out 10 of the 28 prisoners, tossed them into automobiles and sped east.

Before rural guards arrived at the plantation the mob had thrown heavy ropes over trees and hoisted the nooses with their burdens. They shot at the bodies and then built fires under them.

Jail wardens told police investigators that they were unable to control the enraged mob and had released the Negroes when their lives were threatened.

3 More Girls Kidnaped.

The lynching fever rose when citizens confirmed dispatches today from Manati, Oriente province, reporting that three more white girls—Micaela Nunez, 5; Tomasa Lugomasino, 6, and Celestina Perez, 3, had been kidnaped this morning by a witchcraft sect. An all day search for them was futile.

President Machado directed Secretary of Interior Zubibarreta to investigate. Zubizarreta ordered the army and police forces immediately to start a nation-wide crusade against witchcraft sects until they are eradicated.

Youth Chops Off His Arm While Walking in Sleep

Springfield, Minn., March 31.—(AP)—Stanley Benson, 20 year old farm youth, who arose from his bed at night, walked to a woodpile, and cut off his arm with an ax, was in a serious condition at a local hospital today. The attending physician said he believed the youth did so while walking in his sleep at his home near Comfrey, Minn.

NEW TERMINAL AT CINCINNATI IS NOW IN USE

Cincinnati, March 31.—(AP)—A temple of transportation was opened here today.

The huge new Cincinnati union terminal, built at a cost of $41,000,000 and hailed by many as the most modern in the world, attracted scores of leaders in the empire of rails for its dedication. Its maze of 45 miles of tracks and 227 switches have been called "traffic jam proof" by veteran railroaders.

Covering 287 acres, the terminal has accommodations for 17,000 passengers and the movement of 216 trains daily. Seven railroads will use the seventeen structures that comprise the project, in which are extensive quarters for trainmen and almost every conceivable convenience for passengers.

Probe Killing of Youth, Mistaken for a Burglar

An inquest will be held today into the death of Paul Wojciechowski, 23 years old, 1830 South Spaulding avenue, who was mistaken for a burglar and shot to death early yesterday when he tossed an empty liquor bottle through a store window. Andrew Ambrose, whose father-in-law owns the store at 2059 West 18th street, told police that he was watching the place because thieves had broken the windows several times recently, and that he ran to the street and fired on Wojciechowski, thinking he was a burglar, when the latter threw the bottle. Police took Mrs. Anna Dewall, 22 years old, 1930 West 17th street, a companion of Wojciechowski, into custody for questioning.

2 YOUNG WOMEN FOUND DEAD IN PORTSMOUTH, O.

Portsmouth, O., March 31.—(AP)—Apparently victims of poison or an overdose of sleeping potion, two young women were found dead in a west end apartment hotel here late today.

The women, Mrs. Dorothy White McCormick, 19, of Portsmouth, and Miss Muriel Howard, 18, of Scioto Furnace, O., had taken the apartment only yesterday, paying a week's rent.

Their bodies, lying in bed, were found by Walter George, 21, and Hiram Schmeller, 22, the police said. There was no evidence of a struggle.

The possibility of murder was investigated, however, when police were informed by George and Schmeller that they found the door to the suite ajar when they called to keep a "date." A roomer in the building reported he knocked on the women's door last night when he heard a sound he believed to be some one groaning. There was no response to the knock, however. Other residents of the apartment said they heard a piano played in the women's suite last night.

STOREKEEPER IS KILLED.

Vienna, Ill., March 31.—(AP)—Lewis Underhile, storekeeper, is dead and Raymond Short is in serious condition as the result of a shooting at Belknap.

JURY SELECTED TO TRY NEGRO ON RAPE CHARGE

Decatur, Ala., March 31.—(AP)—Twelve Morgan county men tonight were empaneled as the jury to try Heywood Patterson, 19 year old Chattanooga Negro, on charges of raping Mrs. Victoria Price more than two years ago. Taking of testimony in the trial, the first of the new trials in the "Scottsboro case," will begin Monday.

Patterson is one of nine Negroes indicted on charges of raping Mrs. Price and another white girl, Ruby Bates, near Scottsboro in March, 1931. The Negroes are being defended by counsel employed by the International Labor Defense. Samuel S. Leibowitz of New York heads the defense attorneys.

Qualifying the jury started immediately after Judge Horton had denied a motion to quash the venire because no Negroes appeared on it, or on the jury roll from which the venire was drawn.

SENATE BANKING GROUP BUSY ON SECURITIES BILL

Working on Campaign to Guard Investors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—[Special.]—With the proposal of a resolution broad enough to permit it to investigate every phase of the business of banking and the sale of securities the senate banking and currency committee carried on today with its campaign to lay a factual foundation on which to build new laws to strengthen the banks and safeguard investors.

The resolution was drawn up by Ferdinand Pecora, attorney for the banking and stock exchange investigation committee and is aimed particularly at such great private banking firms as J. P. Morgan & Co. Morgan officials have objected to furnishing certain information demanded by the committee as the basis for hearings that may bring Mr. Morgan himself to the witness chair, as his father was during the famous Pujo inquiry that led to the ultimate creation of the federal reserve system.

Provisions of Resolution.

The resolution, which was introduced in the senate and then referred back to the committee, reads as follows:

"1. To make a thorough and complete investigation of the operation by any person, firm, co-partnership, company, association, corporation or other entity, of the business of banking, financing and extending credit; and of the business of issuing, offering or selling securities;

"2. To make a thorough and complete investigation of the business conduct of such security exchanges and the members thereof;

"3. To make a thorough and complete investigation of the practices with respect to the buying and selling and the borrowing and lending of securities which are traded in upon the various security exchanges, or on the over the counter market, or on any other market, and of the values of such securities; and Investigations Authorized.

"4. To make a thorough and complete investigation of the effect of all such business operations and practices upon interstate and foreign commerce, upon the industrial and commercial credit structure of the United States, upon the operation of the national banking system and the federal reserve system and upon the market for securities of the United States government and the desirability of the exercise of the taxing power of the United States with respect to any such business and any such securities, and the desirability of limiting or prohibiting the use of the mails, the telegraph, the telephone and any other facilities of interstate commerce or communication with respect to any such operations and practices deemed fraudulent or contrary to the public interest."

While preparations were thus being made for a further delving after facts action was begun on the administration's securities bill which is already started on its legislative way. Witnesses testified concerning the bill both before the senate banking committee and the house interstate commerce committee.

As part of the testimony on the securities bill the house committee heard Walter L. Miller, chief of the foreign service division of the commerce department, declare that of 50 billion dollars in securities sold in this country between 1919 and 1932, about one-half were "inadvisable and worthless."

"This bill," he said, "is designed to prevent that sort of thing."

HEAVY RAINFALL KEEPING OHIO AT FLOODING STAGE

Evansville, Ind., March 31.—[Special.]—Heavy rains along the Ohio river will keep the stream at its present high level for a longer period than had been anticipated. The rainfall here was 1.11 inches and the river, which had begun to drop slightly, was rising again tonight.

It was indicated that the crest at Uniontown, Ky., 30 miles to the west, would be a foot higher than was expected this morning.

Shawneetown, Ill., was reported isolated by flood waters and supplies were being sent to the residents by boat. Those living in the lowlands have been forced from their homes and have sent messages to Harrisburg requesting tents.

Galina River Overflows.

Galena, Ill., March 31.—[Special.]—The Galena river overflowed its banks early today and rolling waters overspread the railroad yards. The flood was within a few yards of the business section's main street this afternoon.

Iowa Has Floods.

Des Moines, Ia., March 31.—(AP)—Homes and other property were endangered by flood waters in northeastern Iowa counties tonight.

Waterloo, facing the possibility of inundation equal to that of 1929, ordered sandbags filled to protect levees along the Cedar river.

WOMAN FALLS FROM STREET CAR.

Mrs. Katherine Cutzewicz, 40 years old, 835 Rose street, suffered severe injuries to her head and shoulders yesterday when she fell from the step of a surface car at Wells and Washington streets. She was taken to the county hospital.

CITY STATE BANK EX-CHIEF TAKES STAND FOR STATE

The tedious process of laying a legal foundation for the charge of receiving deposits while insolvent proceeded yesterday in the trial of five former officers and directors of the City State bank before Judge Francis B. Allegretti in the Criminal court.

Frank A. Bergen, former vice president of the bank, who is under indictment on the same charge, testified for the prosecution against his former associates. He is not on trial, having been granted a severance. The full board of directors passed on all loans of $10,000 or more, but smaller loans were approved by the executive committee, he testified.

John J. Bailey, auditor for the state's attorney, testified that the bank made a profit in only three of the eight years between 1922, when it was organized, and 1929, when it failed. The Coöperative Society of America, which controlled the bank's stock, owed the institution $338,198, he testified.

The defendants on trial are Seymour Stedman and Alexander Jarema, vice presidents, and William C. Hartray, Edwin G. Rellihan, and Morrison Castle, directors of the bank.

Evanston Arson Suspect Found Mysteriously Hurt

Bijo Peterson, 43 years old, draftsman formerly employed by the city of Evanston, was found stabbed in the back and side with an ice pick yesterday in his home at 702 South boulevard in the suburb.

He asserted the stabbing had been done by a mysterious "Joe," but police expressed suspicion that he had tried to take his own life. Peterson was convicted several weeks ago of arson, growing out of fires in the house which he formerly occupied at 1629 Oak avenue, Evanston.

3% SALES TAX PAYMENTS BEGIN IN CHICAGO AREA

Night Clubs and Cafes First to Collect Levy.

by which no tax would be collected on sales from 1 to 10 cents. The store pays it. From 11 to 33 cents the tax will be 1 cent; from 34 to 67 it will be 2 cents, and from 68 cents to $1 3 cents. The straight 3 per cent rate will apply on all sales of more than $1.

Restaurant owners are expected to follow the same general plan. Therefore, no tax would be collected on coffee and doughnuts, but for food costing more than 10 cents the bracketed type of tax approved by the department stores would be charged. There will probably be variations from this plan in other businesses as the tax becomes workable.

Some downstate communities will put a "token" plan into effect. Merchants in the towns of Kankakee, Kewanee, and Mendota, for example, have a supply of one-fourth cent tokens to help solve the fractional cent problems in regard to small sales.

Some merchants have decided to issue coupons to be redeemed by customers in the event the law is held unconstitutional. Fred Gimbel, proprietor of Gimbel's restaurant at 30 W. Randolph street, has announced he will give 1, 2 and 3 cent coupons to customers, based on the price of the meal. These may be redeemed in cash if the law is knocked out.

Meet in Palmer House.

Although the majority of retailers will absorb the tax on sales up to 11 cents, 603 retail hardware stores were advised yesterday to "consider the tax as one of the elements of your cost of doing business and include the amount of the tax in fixing your selling price."

This statement was issued by J. C. Amis, secretary of the Chicago Retail Hardware association after a meeting in the Palmer house. Thus, on purchases from 1 to 33 cents a tax of 1 cent will added. The bracketed State street plan will be followed on higher amounts.

Because the first collections cannot reach the state for redistribution before May 15, officials of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission plan to ask officials of the Reconstruction Finance corporation for $7,350,000 to care for the idle during April.

Illinois has exhausted all but $260,000 of its possible grant of $45,000,000 from the first authorization given the corporation. With passage Thursday of a $500,000,000 relief grant bill, the powers of the federal corporation have been enlarged.

Woman Trapped in Home by Fire Dies of Burns

Mrs. Fannie Patterson, 48 years old, who was burned last Wednesday when she and her husband, James, 64 years old, were trapped by flames in their home at 4528 Raymond avenue, Berwyn, died yesterday in the county hospital. The husband is in a critical condition in the hospital.

'31 COUNCIL ENDS EXISTENCE; NEW STARTS APRIL 5

After a turbulent session yesterday, the city council that was elected in 1931 wound up pending business and passed out of existence. The new council, whose members were elected on Feb. 28, with the exception of the five wards in which runoff elections will be held on April 4, will be sworn in on April 5 and will complete its organization on April 17.

Although the council approved contracts involving the expenditure of over $700,000, the aldermen were perturbed mainly by information that the price of cement has been advanced from $1.28 a barrel last year to $2.10 this year. Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt informed the aldermen that inquiries developed that the city is paying the same basic price as is paid in surrounding states. He attributed the increase to the efforts of President Roosevelt to promote prosperity. Prices were unchanged by readvertising for bids, he said.

Included in the contracts was one for the purchase of $325,000 worth of cast iron water pipe which will be installed as the first step in the construction of a new pumping station at a cost of $2,236,000 to replace three old and obsolete plants.

CAR LINE TO FAIR BLOCKED BY PARK BOARD IS CHARGE

Twenty local improvement associations, represented at a City club luncheon yesterday, criticized the south park board and charged it is obstructing the extension of the Robsevelt road street car lines to the World's Fair entrance. Thomas McCoy, former head of the Employers' association, charged that there is a conspiracy among south park commissioners, the bus companies, and the taxicab companies to block the proposed street car extension. He suggested that State's Attorney Courtney investigate. Mrs. Margaret J. Dahlman, president of the Kenwood South Shore Improvement association, made a similar charge.

E. J. McIlraith, staff engineer for the Chicago Surface Lines, said that a mile walk from the present street car terminals will cut down attendance at the fair. Maj. E. S. J. Irvine, traffic engineer for the fair, said that street cars must be relied upon to carry a majority of the visitors.

The cost of the car line extension is estimated at $442,000, to be apportioned as follows: Street car company, $242,000; south parks, $125,000 to $150,000, and city of Chicago, $75,000. Engineers said it could be built in the two months before the fair opens.

DEMOCRATS TURN FROM MAYOR TO COURT NOMINEE

4 Judges Mentioned for Supreme Bench.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The Democrats hung the question of who is to be the next mayor of Chicago on the peg temporarily yesterday, pending the return of Patrick A. Nash, official party leader, from the east on Monday, and took up the matter of a party nominee for the Illinois Supreme court in the 7th district for the June 5 judicial elections.

Among the names mentioned for the Supreme bench were Judges Martin M. Gridley, John P. McGoorty, Denis E. Sullivan, and John M. O'Connor, and Francis X. Busch, former corporation counsel. The four judges are veterans in the Superior court, and are not up for reëlection to their present places this year. Judges Gridley and O'Connor have been on the Appellate bench for years.

G. O. P. to Name De Young.

The Republican county committee met yesterday at the Sherman hotel and selected delegates for the Supreme court district convention to be held April 12. This will be a perfunctory convention, as the Republican leaders say the vote will be unanimous for the renomination of Justice Frederick R. De Young.

The 7th district embraces the counties of Cook, Du Page, Kankakee, Lake and Will.

This morning at 11 o'clock the Democratic county committee is to meet at the Morrison hotel to select delegates for their Seventh Supreme court district convention April 11.

Democrats Optimistic.

In considering the June judicial elections, Democratic committeemen yesterday appeared to take it for granted that any partial coalition would not apply to the Supreme court election. They argued that this time the Democrats have an unusual choice of candidates for the high bench in the 7th district, and they pointed out that in June, 1924, the Democratic nominee, Angus Roy Shannon, was defeated by Justice De Young by only 5,962 votes, although a few months later came the Coolidge landslide.

Sentiment among the Democrats appeared most strongly in favor of Judge Gridley, but the other possible candidates are said to have strong support. Judge Gridley has been on the bench 23 years, 19 of which have been in the Appellate branch. Judge O'Connor has been a Superior court judge twenty years, of which 18 years have been on the Appellate bench.

Judge Sullivan has been a Superior judge for 22 years and has been guiding spirit in the work of the judicial advisory council of Cook county, having in charge the reform of procedure and practice in the courts. Judge McGoorty has been on the Circuit and Superior benches for 22 years and has served in all branches, appellate, chancery, and criminal.

Coalition Up to Assembly.

Republican leaders at the Hotel Sherman held that the question of coalition hangs largely upon whether the legislature passes the pending bill allowing a judicial candidate to have his name printed on more than one place on the ballot.

Conferences are to be sought with Democratic Leader Nash upon his return Monday. Among the Democrats the general talk is that they might agree to a partial fusion which would give coalition on the seven Democratic and five Republican Circuit judges who have been indorsed by the bar primaries.

More Mayoralty Talk.

As to the Democratic choice for a mayor, the situation remained unchanged on who is to be the choice. Talk among the committeemen was that Mr. Nash can have it if he cares to accept. If not, County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, who was Democratic nominee for mayor in 1915 and 1919, appears to be favored by many of the groups.

Edward N. Hurley, wartime chairman of the shipping board and co-receiver of the Middle West Utilities company, appeared to be one of the strong favorites in yesterday's gossip among the politicians. The theory was discussed that it might be a master stroke to pick for the Century of Progress mayor of Chicago a leading citizen who is not a professional politician on a basis whereby the organization would run the political phases such as patronage distribution, while the mayor would run the government.

Last year Mr. Hurley was head of the joint committee of citizens which handled both Republican and Democratic national conventions in Chicago.

Convention in Kane Co.

The Kane county Republican central convention at Aurora yesterday indorsed for reëlection to the Circuit court of the 16th judicial circuit the three judges now sitting: John K. Newhall, Aurora; Frank W. Shephear, Elgin, and William J. Fulton, Sycamore. Four counties are in the circuit—Kane, Kendall, Du Page, and De Kalb counties. The Kane county committee lacks only one vote of enough to control the convention on April 12 at Geneva.

Du Page county may refuse to attend the convention. It contends that it should have one of the judges of the circuit. For judge of the Supreme court from the 6th Illinois district, Kane county Republicans indorsed for reëlection Judge Oscar E. Heard of Freeport, now on the Supreme bench.

HORNER SIGNS BILL PERMITTING COUNCIL TO APPOINT MAYOR

Springfield, Ill., March 31.—[Special.]—Gov. Horner today signed the Graham bill authorizing the city council of Chicago to fill the mayoralty vacancy for the next two years. It is effective at once. There was no demonstration accompanying the act of signature.

HALT ELECTION MOVE.

An attempt by Ald. Wiley W. Mills [37th] to have the city council issue a call for an early mayoral primary and election was defeated yesterday when Acting Mayor Corr upheld the objection of several aldermen that the call for yesterday's special session of the council excluded the introduction of the election ordinance. Ald. Thomas J. O'Grady [14th] appealed the ruling of the mayor, but the council upheld Mr. Corr's decision. The Mills' ordinance provided for a primary on June 5, and an election on July 18, to fill the office of mayor.

VOLIVA ADMITS GIVING ORDER TO VOTE REPUBLICAN

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, ruler of the religious colony at Zion, testified for two hours yesterday in the hearing at Waukegan in which County Commissioner Charles H. Weber is contesting the right of Representative James Simpson Jr. to the seat in congress which Simpson won in the election last November.

Voliva admitted that he had instructed the members of his congregation, who he said poll from 1,800 to 2,400 votes in an election, to vote for Simpson and all of the other Republican candidates at the election.

William Scheve, a Democratic judge in the 4th precinct of Zion, testified that over his protests the Republican officials in the precinct, members of Voliva's congregation, registered the votes of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bennett, received by mail, although the Bennetts for two years had been living in Oshkosh, Wis.

Robert Lichty, Democratic judge in the 3d precinct, testified that a woman member of the Voliva congregation entered and asked for instructions in voting. John Thomas, the Republican judge, sent the woman out of the polling place to get her instructions from Voliva followers, Lichty said.

COUNTY BOARD TO PROBE COURTNEY SUITS FOR TAXES

Action Result of Feud with Prosecutor.

The county board yesterday authorized its president, Emmett Whealan, to appoint a committee to investigate State's Attorney Courtney's conduct of suits to collect delinquent taxes.

The action was taken after a number of the commissioners said they had heard rumors of tax fixing. They did not go into the nature of the charges. Their feud with the state's attorney had its origin in the contracts which the board made last year with Attorneys Henry M. Ashton, Edward M. Winston and Lee La Rochelle to collect delinquent real estate and personal property taxes.

Board Warned Not to Pay.

The contracts were canceled later, upon the advice of the state's attorney that they were illegal, and that it was the function of his office to collect delinquent taxes. The special attorneys have claims for large fees pending before the board, however, and last week Mr. Courtney sent the board an opinion in which he held that the commissioners would be liable to charges of malfeasance, subjecting them to fines and removal from office, if they paid these claims.

"I'm sick and tired of the attacks on the county board and of rumors of alleged fixing," said President Whealan yesterday when the matter came before the board.

"I don't like the attitude of Mr. Courtney that the county board is a bunch of fatheads. If we're a bunch of fatheads, let's find it out. And let's find out what has become of those delinquent tax suits since the state's attorney took them over. We gave him a docket clerk to keep track of them. Let's see if he's been doing it."

Defend Old Fee Custom.

"The late Mayor Cermak was in favor of the La Rochelle and Ashton contracts," said Michael J. O'Connor, assistant county controller. "For the 25 years I've been around the county building, various state's attorneys have given the opinion that they couldn't collect delinquent taxes without the consent of the county board. Various state's attorneys concurred in farming out the collection job. Now Courtney comes and throws the sys; tem over."

"I've heard a lot of charges and rumors about the delinquent tax situation since the state's attorney took it over," said Commissioner George Miller. "I, for one, would like to go into the matter."

IDLE SEE HOPE OF INDEPENDENCE IN HOUSING BILL

Opens Way for Homes and Garden Plots.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

One of the most important projects for rebuilding the fortunes of thousands of families now on the relief lists in Chicago is contained in the new state housing bill, now before the legislature.

Under this plan, which has been approved by the governor's commission on unemployment, the state would aid part time industrial workers to become independent of charity by raising most of their own food. It is a modified back to the land movement, which visualizes a great belt of half acre farm homes around Chicago, with attractive one story houses, vegetable plots and chicken runs in the back, within commuting distance and offering a new opportunity of home ownership.

Would Lighten City's Burden.

It is proposed to operate this plan through private housing corporations under state supervision, meeting the requirements of the Reconstruction Finance corporation so as to make federal loans available. Chicago's burden would be lightened in three ways: through the buying of materials here, through the construction jobs that could be given those now on relief, and through the gradual withdrawal of selected families to the farm plots and partial independence. In connection with this it is also proposed to get the heavy industries to spread out their work still more thinly, so that a man getting four days' work a week could, with his new farm home, work his way back toward independence.

A survey has shown that there are 256,000 acres of good land available for this purpose within 30 miles of the loop. There is other suitable land now in forest preserves and elsewhere which would bring this up to 750,000 acres.

Fix Sale Price Limit.

The bill states that the housing corporations may undertake projects of single family dwellings in which each dwelling is on a plot of land not smaller than one-half acre and not larger than two acres. This limit is intended to rule out small farms producing for the market. In these projects the corporation must sell the properties within 25 years at a total price, for the plot of land and the buildings on it, of not more than $3,500. The rental of such houses is not to exceed $35 a month. The houses must be not less than four rooms, and they must be sold within 25 years after their construction. The housing corporations may not merge without state permission, and dividends are limited to 6½ per cent a year.

Much work and investigation has gone into this effort at relieving Chicago's tax burdens through the relief rolls, which now carry 193,000 families. It is felt by members of the committee that because of the great number of people in this area who depend on heavy industries something of a long time program must be undertaken.

Population Gains Slowly.

Statistics have been given the committee which show that instead of the normal increase of 15 per cent a decade ago in Illinois, the population will increase only 2.6 per cent in the next decade, thus cutting down the demand for new buildings. This reacts upon the heavy industries particularly, and therefore this plan.

One of the sources of information upon which the plan is based is the experience of the German central government, which became convinced two or three years ago that there would be a large permanent unemployment in the heavy industries. They began the work of moving their workers out on the edges of cities. Up to last summer the government had spent about $18,000,000 in this work, creating 27,000 home garden plots and 80,000 small garden settlements, which helped out 555,000 persons.

The plots around the German cities are from 6,000 square feet to 13,000 square feet. The individual loans have been kept to $750. The land there is owned by the state and so a similar work would cost more here. One-half acre is considered sufficient to support a family of 6 on a balanced diet.

Attack Slum Problem.

A house of the kind proposed for these garden areas in the Chicago district could be built now for $1,800, the commission has been informed. This would include plumbing, stove, and a septic tank. In addition, the land would have to be purchased as well as tools, trees, and seed. It has been figured that the property could be paid for in twenty years on a basis of about $23 a month.

The housing bill also tackles the slum problem, stating in section 2: "It is hereby declared that congested and unsanitary housing conditions which exist in low priced dwellings in certain areas of the state are a menace to the health, safety, morals, welfare, and reasonable comfort of the citizens of the state.

"The correction of these conditions in such areas being now otherwise impossible, it is essential that provision be made to encourage the investment of funds at low interest rates, the acquisition at fair prices of adequate parcels of land, the gradual demolition of existing unsanitary and unsafe housing and the construction of new housing facilities under public supervision, with proper standards of sanitation and safety, and at a cost which will permit monthly rentals or charges which wage earners can afford to pay."

GOV. HORNER PLANS CONCILIATORY BODY TO EASE MORTGAGE

Springfield, Ill., March 31.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner today outlined plans for the creation of a voluntary and state-wide organization of conciliators to negotiate reasonable adjustments between debtors and creditors, to further ease the farm and home mortgage foreclosure situation.

Through the state-wide organization, whose members will be appointed by the governor and serve without pay, machinery will be provided, the governor said, with the intention of giving new life and new impetus to the appeal he recently made for forebearance on the part of mortgage holders.

At the head of the organization will be a small committee composed of outstanding business men and farmers who will guide and direct sub-committees that will be appointed as needed for individual counties. The sub-committee will have as its members outstanding farmers and business men of each county. No enabling legislation will be necessary.

Gov. Horner said that his new move to aid hard pressed mortgagors was the outcome of a conference that th governor and Director Walter W. McLaughlin of the department of agriculture held recently with heads of state farm organizations, representatives of insurance companies, land banks and prominent farmers.

CHARITY TAG DAY WILL BE ON MAY 8, COUNCIL DECIDES

The date for a tag day for the Chicago Federated Charities, one that is recognized by city ordinance, was set yesterday by the city council for Monday, May 8. The other recognized tag days are those of the Children's Benefit league and the Veterans' Poppy day.

The council also approved a contract leasing the city's property at Madison street and the river to A. E. Neuberg for ten years at a monthly rental of $400. Mr. Neuberg informed the council finance committee that he proposed to use the property for an open air parking space and would spend $25,000 on improvements.

A resolution submitted by Ald. Henry Sonnenschein [22d], secretary to the late Mayor Cermak, calling for the appointment of a committee to procure and dedicate a suitable monument in honor of the late mayor, was adopted. It is the intention of the aldermen, who are to serve on the committee, the resolution states, to have the memorial installed in a public park during the World's Fair.

HELEN KANE PUT $90,000 IN BANK BOX TO FOIL GANG

Tells Why She Transfers Funds to Chicago.

New York, March 31.—[Special.]—Explaining why she drew $90,000 out of a New York bank and put it away in a safe deposit box in Chicago in the form of Liberty bonds under an assumed name, Helen Kane, the boop-boop-a-doop singer, told a referee in bankruptcy that she was afraid of gangsters and didn't want anybody there to know she had the money.

Her testimony was read before Judge Francis G. Caffey in the Bankruptcy court in the Woolworth building by I. Gainsburg, counsel for the Irving Trust company, which is trustee for the bankrupt Bond Dress company.

The trust company is trying to recover from Miss Kane $50,000 given her from the dress firm's funds by Murray J. Posner, a partner, just before the firm crashed.

Posner and his partner, Jack Eisen, were indicted earlier in the week for transferring debtor property in anticipation of bankruptcy, and for mutilating and withholding books and records sought by the receiver. They were arraigned in federal court today and pleaded not guilty. The judge held them in bail of $5,000 each and set April 10 as the date for all motions and for fixing the trial date.

The trustee contends that Miss Kane suddenly drew the money out of New York and laid it away in Chicago to get it out of the jurisdiction of the federal court here and to conceal it in anticipation of the bankruptcy action that followed.

Exhibit Coaster Wagon and Rocket Car for Fair

Two entertainment attractions for A Century of Progress went on exhibition yesterday. One was a giant coaster wagon for the Enchanted Island, which is to be the toyland for children. The other is a rocket car for the Sky Ride. The car is on display in front of the Wrigley building. It is one of ten built by the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation to travel between the 23 story towers of the Sky Ride. Each car can accommodate 36 passengers and a pilot.

THE REPEAL CONVENTION IN ILLINOIS.

In the convention to decide whether Illinois will ratify the repeal of prohibition the drys propose to deny representation to more than a million inhabitants of Cook county.

The dry proposal is to elect the delegates to the convention from senatorial districts. There are 51 such districts in the state, and of these Cook county has 19, or 37 per cent. Cook county has 52 per cent of the state's population. Cook county cast a little less than half of the vote for President in the last election, but in the matter of prohibition repeal Cook county's population and voting strength is to be written down by nearly one-third and downstate's influence is to be written up in proportion.

The same measure of unfairness is to be found in an alternative proposal of the drys to elect the delegates by congressional districts. Cook county has nine of the 25 congressional districts, a tenth district includes territory in Cook county, and two congressmen are elected at large. Putting the most favorable possible interpretation on this division it means that a million residents of Cook county are denied equal representation with residents downstate.

It is easy, of course, to see why the drys are contending for a gerrymandered convention. They know that if Cook county has a fair voice in the convention the repeal will be voted overwhelmingly, just as it has been favored repeatedly in statewide referenda. They know that a dry has no chance in a state-wide election, whether for governor, senator or President, when the issue is clearly drawn. And therefore the dry lobby has determined to set up a convention in this state which will so weaken the influence of Cook county that the drys will have at least a chance for success.

For more than twenty years downstate in refusing to reapportion the legislature has taken the position that a citizen of Chicago is not entitled to full citizenship in Illinois. Now the doctrine is to be extended. A citizen of Chicago is also to be denied full citizenship rights in the United States. He may know something about the costs and follies of prohibition, but he may not register his voice in the matter on terms of equality with his downstate cousins.

The fair way to choose the delegates to the convention is to elect them at large. Let the voters of the state choose between a ticket of wet candidates and a ticket of dry candidates exactly as the voters choose in presidential elections between a panel of Democratic electors and a panel of Republican electors. There is no other fair way. Any attempt to avoid election at large is an attempt to gerrymander the convention and defeat the popular will.

The eighteenth amendment has been disregarded and disobeyed by hundreds of thousands of people in Illinois and their bootleggers. What chance could there ever be of enforcing it against the militant resentment of millions who knew they had been cheated in the attempt to repeal it?

LIBERAL JUDGES.

A Milwaukee attorney, Mr. Thomas C. Kelly, a candidate for justice of the Wisconsin Supreme court, protests against candidates running for that tribunal "solely on the grounds of being what they choose to term a Liberal."

The rebuke we think is timely not only for the contest in Milwaukee but in the discussion of judicial qualification elsewhere. In Wisconsin the word is used obviously to catch the votes of laymen who could not define it intelligibly but think it means something favorable to the poor as against the rich, to the weak as against the strong, to the many as against the few. Mr. Kelly says that "liberality" is an affair of the legislature rather than of the judicial branch of government, and he holds that a judge to be qualified must have an understanding of human nature, a knowledge of the law and its practice, and, above all, impartiality.

Mr. Kelly's distinctions are significant and we think as important as they are sound. It is true that there is in the judicial function the necessity of interpretation, and in this field the judge's philosophy of life, his theories of social welfare, his economic doctrine, his political assumptions or predilections affect his reasoning in greater or less degree. Mr. Kelly recognizes this when he says that "a change in the personnel of our present court will mean an influx of new ideas." Nevertheless, when a judicial candidate asks to be chosen for a judicial office because he is a "liberal" he not only offers a very vague test of his merits but suggests that he proposes to usurp the function of the legislator and, instead of seeking impartially to ascertain and effectuate the legislative intention, will make the law conform to his own conceptions of right policy.

This is contrary to judicial integrity and to the judicial function. It is conceded that in a wide field judges make the law through interpretation, an unavoidable result and in the main conducive to justice. But this fact should not obscure the distinction between the legislative function of establishing policies and the judicial duty of applying them faithfully. To run for judicial office as a "liberal" is not only deceptive because the term is vague and without legal meaning but it is advertisement of an intention to invade the legislative function and to make law rather than to administer it.

Yet liberalism, so called, is conspicuous in the discussion of judges and judicial decisions, and there seems to be a growing assumption that all judges should be "liberals." Liberalism, in this view, now seems to involve a tendency to extend the intervention of government in private affairs, although what was once called liberalism was opposed to that tendency. It leans hard upon Mr. Justice Holmes' famous dictum that the constitution does not enact Herbert Spencer's Social Statics, but it would seem that our liberals would have it enact the opposite doctrines. Whatever one's opinion may be upon that question, we think it is, as Mr. Kelly remarks, a matter for legislative rather than judicial determination and, where the question is open, the duty of the judicial branch of government to ascertain and effectuate the intention of the legislative branch rather than to impose its own.

THE SALES TAX IN COURT.

A test of the constitutionality of the sales tax in Illinois was inevitable in view of the strength of the opposition to the measure. It is to be hoped that the courts will expedite the hearings as much as possible in the interest of all concerned.

The bill is based upon the legal fiction that the tax is to be paid by the retail merchant. The truth, of course, is that he will pass it on to his customers. Not many merchants are making enough profit these days to permit them to take a chance that the law will be thrown out by the courts. Accordingly, the tax will be collected from the public while the case is in court. Many sales will be recorded in a fashion to permit a refund of the tax if the law is declared invalid, but inevitably the proportion of unrecorded sales will be large.

If the law is upheld the money collected by the merchants will be paid over to the state, but if the courts decide the other way the merchants will be presented with a quandary. They cannot return the tax to some of the people who paid it and the state cannot compel payment into the treasury. A somewhat similar complication arose when the first gasoline tax was declared invalid. The longer the state has to wait for the final decision the greater becomes the injustice to merchants, consumers, and the poor, for whom the tax is imposed.

If ever there was a case which the courts were warranted in expediting it is this one. The attorney general will be justified in requesting that any judges called upon to hear it drop all other litigation for the time being.

BREWING MORE THAN BEER.

The suggestion that the brewers would do better for themselves and the people they serve if they would resume business in an ordinary fashion has not been received with much cordiality. Representative brewers say that they would be glad to go about their business in a normal fashion, but they must please their public. They have numerous orders for midnight deliveries and propose to fill them. It need only be repeated that they are very foolish. No one of them could be expected to take a stand against the unusual proceedings scheduled for a minute after 12 April 7, but all of them acting together could refuse to be parties to any such procedure as contemplated. They could close down their work at the usual hour and they could take it up again the next day. They would then create the impression that they had not lost their heads and that the business of making and selling beer is not to be regarded as anything extraordinary in American life.

It would make a good impression for common sense and sanity if Chicago were able to set an example in self-restraint and did not join in any exhibitions of childishness. The question of profits would not be seriously affected, and in the matter of good will more would be gained by the brewers than possibly could be lost in disappointing the comparatively small number of people who expect to get a bottle of beer legally, for the first time in thirteen years in this land, at the midnight hour set.

There was a brewery trade slogan which referred to a case of good judgment. If the Chicago brewers do not want to put their beer in that case it is probably useless to say much more about it. But just the same such would be the case. The people who are looking forward to a celebration on this occasion are not much to be blamed, but their conduct is being watched by elements not yet extinct in American society, and these elements believe that there is nothing innocent or even decent in the privileges now being restored to the American people. The privileges are justified as inherent in an adult, mature, self-governing people. There would be a manifest propriety in demonstrating at the very start that the restoration comes to a sensible people. It is not to be anticipated that the mood of the first celebration, whatever it may be disclosed to be, will continue, but any one can see that a wholly sober start would be the better one.

Editorial of the Day

ECONOMY PROCEDURE.

[Beloit Daily News.]

The business of tax raising is a serious one for every legislative body in America these days. It has been a hard and difficult problem for the leaders guiding the budget making procedure for our state government at Madison.

The legislative finance committee has brought in a budget that cuts appropriations for the biennium $14,800,000 below the last budget of Gov. La Follette's administration and $342,536 below Gov. Schmedeman's recommendations. Even after doing that, it finds that prospective revenues will be probably $6,690,787 short of prospective expenditures.

Among the new taxes whose terms have been specifically proposed in an attempt to meet this deficit the one which may most directly affect the average consumer will be taxes on cigars and cigarets. Taxes on "smokes" have been proposed in previous legislatures, but always turned down. The idea of a sales tax doesn't usually seem to be popular—though we go on complacently enough paying a sales tax on gasoline that amounts to from a quarter to a third of the retail price.

Some readjustments upward in automobile fees are suggested, incidentally. The terms of a chain store tax and of a gift tax have been definitely decided upon. Also the committee promises income tax increases, though the revenue thus derived is to be reserved for poor relief needs.

Along with their plans to devise new taxes the legislative leaders have done a lot of slashing of government costs. They have cut salaries and expenses all along the line.

Or that is to say, nearly all along the line. Of course, there is one ultimate limit beyond which this legislature apparently will not go in its expense cutting program. The legislators a number of times at this session have gone on record positively against taking any cuts in their own salaries. The economies must come out of the pockets of the other fellows.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

APRIL. That is, April used to be the name of this month, and still is, but Mr. Roosevelt is liable to change it almost any day. But right now, or at least up to the hour of going to press, the name of the month is April. It is the fourth month of the year, but it may be the sixth or the tenth or thrown clear out of the calendar entirely. It has thirty days, and it's going to be in luck if it keeps 'em if F. D. wants to do some saving on the calendar.

April is the first full month since Mr. Roosevelt became President, so what he's going to do with it is still a mystery. It's known as the month of showers, and if a lot of rain this month wouldn't fit in with F. D.'s farm program he'll probably send a five word message to congress asking a law forbidding rain in April. Up to this time each day in April has consisted of twenty-four hours. There has been a good deal of complaint about this in the past because people said that twenty-four hours wasn't long enough in which to accomplish anything. F. D. may make the days thirty hours long. Or he may cut 'em down to ten hours and forty-five minutes. You never can tell what F. D.'s going to do.

Anyhow, we can't lay out the calendar for April under the circumstances. It may go poking along just like other Aprils have done, or it may be given the bum's rush any moment and in will come May. Or August. Or January. The safest thing about April while F. D. is in control down in Washington is to hope for the best. And wait and see what happens.

WAITING.

I watch the precious moments slip away . . .
It is agony when you do not come,
And I wait, and wait, and each new moment
Seems hours longer than the last. A girl comes
Up the marble steps, my heart leaps, I hold
My breath, and then . . . it is another girl,
Grimacing a smile. I will not leave . . .
There is infinite sadness in my heart.

I watch the precious moments slip away,
Each one more wearily burdened than the last,
And still you do not come, and cigarets
Are crushed beneath my feet, and others lit
And tossed away—and still you do not come . . .
And yet when later we at last do meet,
As two borne up out of a sea, the crowds,
I know a rush of sunlight will appear,
And all the weary hours of waiting seem
As though they never were . . . nor were they, dear!

SHERRY KING.

"THE PLEASURE of your company," said a handsome steel engraved card we received yesterday, "is requested at an Informal Beer on April 7 at half past three in the afternoon." Mercy, how artistocratic beer has become, and time was when it was considered a coarse, vulgar, lowdown drink. And now the Gold Coast is giving Informal Beers. We accept the invitation with pleasure, and, while we will wear our long tailed coat and the lovely gray striped trousers and the patent leather shoes and the tall silk hat which are de rigueur in society we fear our early training in beer drinking will crop out, and after the meticulous butler has solemnly handed around dainty little glasses of beer on a solid silver tray and we have daintily sipped our Informal Beer we will suddenly bawl out in a loud and raucous voice, "Hey, Heinie, bring us another scuttle of suds and a bunch of pretzels."

Move the Speakeasies Into the Home.

RHL: Didja read where the officials of a county down in Indiana have been compelled to erect a high wire fence around the County Home for the Aged to keep the inmates from slipping out to nearby speakeasies and purchasing liquor? Why don't they call out the marines? And where is the regular army? Have we no machine guns and gas tanks? How can the inmates be prevented from escaping from the home in order to get to the speakeasies? JAZBO OF OLD DUBUQUE.

"IN THAT OLD BED slept Presidents Grant, Garfield, McKinley, and Cleveland, and Rudyard Kipling and Mark Twain."—From a news item in an afternoon paper. We hope none of 'em snored; it would have been tough on the other five.

YESTERDAY the President signed it and now it's a law—the bill restricting the amount of liquor a physician may prescribe for a patient. Bet a nickel this is going to be an awful unhealthy month.

A Middle Aged Man's Ode to Beer.

Though old acquaintance, when renewed,
Won't match the anodyne
Which longing memory has brewed,
We welcome thee, cold stein.

No zymotechnic alchemy
Could, if the truth were said,
Create a lager such as we
Drew foaming from our head.

But our majestic mental thirst
Still cries to be assuaged.
It's as puissant as at first,
Although the flesh has aged.

So, even if senescent throats
Must find thee less divine
Than brews that flowed when untamed oats
Were sown, ALL HAIL, COLD STEIN!

K. M. S.

APRIL FOOL! If anybody yells that at us today we will simply give him a sickly smile. Gosh! since we got fooled on prosperity, stocks, income taxes, every other kind of taxes, and now that we're face to face with the sales tax, being an April Fool won't hurt our feelings a bit. We'll be glad the thing is now unanimous.

IT'S A GOOD THING the city council is going to choose a mayor for Chicago instead of having a general election. We're all so busy doing jigsaw puzzles that honestly we just can't bother with an election now. R. H. L.

TREATING ARTHRITIS.

If the people who have chronic arthritis, regardless of its type, were limited to one agency for relief, I think they would be wise to select heat applied locally in some form or another. If they were allowed two it would be advisable to select light as the second. Light includes exposure to sunlight, to various forms of lamps, and to different rays. Many forms of heat can also be classed as light treatment. Far lower in the scale come medicinal agents, such as salicylates, colchicum, the iodides, and other medicines usually given.

The tendency now is toward the opinion that no form of arthritis descends on a man out of a clear sky. It is doubtless true that bacteria are the precipitating causes of several and maybe all of these disorders, and bacteria have a way of dropping in unexpectedly. But it is also true in the case of arthritis that the way must be prepared else the bacteria are shed as a duck sheds water.

There is some evidence that men built only according to certain plans and specifications are subject to arthritis. There is more that the groundwork for arthritis is not so much the build of the machine as the way it operates. One part of the working of the machinery that contributes to arthritis is what is called poor circulation, a tendency of certain parts to get cold without due provocation.

It follows that heat has a place in the prevention of arthritis. It plays a larger part in alleviating it. There is a surgical procedure that has this as an object. It consists in cutting certain nerve roots. After this the previously always-cold parts become warm and glowing.

Diathermy is of service. That is a form of electricity which heats up the deeper tissues and internal organs even more than it heats the skin. One drawback of other forms of heat treatment is the fact that they are too much localized.

Radiant heat is one of the best of all forms of heat in that it supplies the beneficent effects of the best form of heat and of light as well. Hot baths of various kinds, hot pads, hot bottles, all have a place in the treatment of various forms of arthritis by heat.

Of less service in relieving pain and discomfort, but still of value in this regard and of additional worth in other particulars, are the various forms of light. At the head of the list is sunlight. It supplies heat and a combination of several kinds of light, and it is a producer of vitamins. Arthritis abounds where there is but little sunlight. It is rare in the summer time. The arthritics are less comfortable in the season of short, dark days. Man-made radiant heat has many of the good qualities of that which comes from the sun.

Three drugs are used in the treatment of arthritis and each has a special field. For each of them there are several substitutes built along the same general lines of the originals and having advantages over them. These, too, have a place.

DISCOLORED SWEAT.

W. E. writes: What is the cause of excessive perspiration which discolors my underwear? I wash myself constantly, with plenty of soap and water.

REPLY.

The cause of red perspiration is a colored microbe. This coccus grows on the skin and hairs, producing a red pigment. This pigment may be washed into the underwear by sweat. Since it is sweat that spreads the stain that excretion is generally but incorrectly thought to be abnormal. Formaldehyde solution, properly applied to the skin, will destroy the microbe and cure the disorder.

So-called colored sweating, in which the garments are stained other colors, has a different origin. In jaundice the yellow pigment is bile. Munition workers sometimes discolor their underwear because of chemicals to which they are exposed. When a person eats yellow carrots in abundance and for some time the carrot pigment appears in and on the skin. In addition there are colored sweats from causes that are not understood. The pigment is not from the blood nor has it any chemical similarity to blood. It is not a disorder of the sweat or sebaceous glands. The only relation of the sweat and the oil to this disorder is that they wash the pigment around and cause it to stain the clothing.

Excessive localized perspiration can be controlled fairly well by applying one of the aluminum lotions, of which many are on the market.

SULPHUR AND SOAP.

Mrs. H. H. writes: Recently you advised a desperate mother to use sulphur ointment and soap for the itch. Years ago our daughter was sent home from school by the doctor and they recommended sulphur ointment and laundry soap. She was soon cured and no one else in the family caught it.

SETTLING ESTATE.

Woodstock, Ill., March 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died last September and willed all his property to my mother and appointed my sister and myself executors of his estate. His debts amounted to $3,000, and all creditors have filed their claims. 1. We own considerable property—a mortgage is on the home, but on two other valuable pieces of property there is no mortgage [2] it being free from debt. 3. Could this property which is free from debt be put in somebody's name temporarily or how could we go about saving this property from a sheriff's sale? 4. I heard a person could deed his property over to another and still hold the deed. Is there such a law? We haven't enough money to pay the $3,000, but probably could make small payments. 5. We have asked lawyers and one tells one story one way, the other the opposite. L. F. P.

1. It is not clear whether by "we" you mean that you own it individually, or the property belongs to the estate.

2. If the estate owes debts, then it is not accurate to state that any of the assets are free from debt.

3. Your individual assets are not subject to your father's debts, if that is what you mean to ask. On the other hand, his assets could not be put out of reach of creditors.

4. In general, any gift made by a person who is in debt can be set aside as a fraud on such existing creditors.

5. The inaccuracy of the statement of the facts to us makes it seem probable that these differences between the attorneys are due to the facts having been differently understood.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 1, 1917.

CHICAGO.—With the cloud of war big on the nation's horizon, Chicago's patriotism flared up last night in one of the most enthusiastic massmeetings in the city's history. The meeting was held in the Auditorium. The hall was crowded and the doors closed at 7 p. m. and thousands were unable to get in. The supreme note of the night was preparedness. The resolutions that were adopted and the addresses which sent the audience into whirlwinds of cheers that almost lifted the roof showed that if the people of Chicago do not want war they are at least ready in spirit to meet it if it comes. The meeting was a profound expression of loyalty to the country. On the stage were Gov. Lowden, Maj. Gen. Barry, U. S. A., and staff, and officers of G. A. R. posts and veterans of the Spanish-American war. The front seats were occupied by civil war veterans. Behind them were grouped the Daughters of Veterans and in the boxes were Col. Milton J. Foreman and staff of the 1st Illinois cavalry and Col. Joseph B. Sanborn and staff of the 1st Illinois infantry and other officers of the Illinois National Guard. Bishop Samuel Fallows opened the meeting with an invocation in the spirit of a nation on the brink of war.

THE GERMAN CRISIS.—President Wilson is likely to deliver his war address to congress on April 3. Many messages of public support have been sent to the White House. Eighteen senators declared for war while only three opposed it; many refused to give their views until President Wilson has spoken. Two Americans were killed and eighteen are missing on an unwarned British craft sunk by a German submarine. Senator Knox of Pennsylvania publicly pledged support to President Wilson regardless of what step he takes toward war.

LONDON.—Eight villages adjoining the Hindenburg line fell to the British yesterday and last night, two of them just southwest of Arras on the road to Cambrai, and six of them, including the important center of Vermand, facing St. Quentin from the west. Occupying Vermand, the British are once more back on the road of Sir John French's memorable retreat from Mons when the "first hundred thousand" were thrust from Belgium and almost cut to pieces. It was at Vermand that the 8th brigade halted after the battle of Le Cateau. Hendecourt-lez-Cagnicourt, below Arras, was captured by Gen. Haig's troops yesterday. They continued to thrust eastward and brought in a number of additional prisoners and machine guns.

ROME. — Gen. Garibaldi, son of Italy's liberator, wants to aid the United States against Germany "anywhere in Europe." Though 70 years of age and forced to use a crutch, Garibaldi's fire is undiminished. He cabled recently to President Wilson, formally offering his services to America. Today, through American Ambassador Page, the general received the President's formal thanks for his offer.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The war department yesterday called into the federal service for purpose of police protection about 7,000 additional National Guardsmen.

DALLAS, Tex.—Ty Cobb, Detroit's star, and Buck Herzog of the Giants forgot baseball today and tore into each other with their fists. It was a battle to the finish. It started during the game between the Tigers and the Giants yesterday afternoon and did not finish until last night, when the two met by appointment in Cobb's room and with bare fists settled the argument, the Georgian winning after five minutes of battling in which Herzog took a thrashing and finally announced he had enough. The fight began in the afternoon when, in the third inning, Cobb, in sprinting to second, spiked Herzog.

THE FARMER AND TRADE BARRIERS.

Windsor, Ill., March 22.—Class freight rates have practically doubled in the last eighteen years. This advance has produced an opposite effect on the prices of farm products. The best Illinois timothy, for example, is selling for $16 per ton on the New Orleans market and the shippers of this section are paying the farmers $5 for this hay, baled and delivered to the car. With the freight rates of eighteen years ago in effect, and hay selling for the same price in New Orleans, the shipper could pay the farmer $10 per ton with the same margin per ton profit.

This is due to the advance in freight rates from $4.80 to $9.80 per ton, and the distribution of all bulky farm products is laboring under the same load. Pages could be written giving account of thousands of cars of farm products rotting in the fields and thousands of other cars held in farmers' storages, unable to stand the high cost of transportation to market.

Prohibitive freight rates limit marketing areas and are embargoes in effect. Distance to market is no longer measured in miles but by the freight rate. The high cost of transportation is the big burden on agriculture, materially added to by high postage, high telephone telegraph, and exchange rates, the cost of all of which is reflected back through the dealer to the farmer in the prices he realizes for his products.

An analysis of the farmer's ills reveals that his need is a market and not a loan. His problem is one of distribution and not of production, and we may expect farm relief when and to the extent that trade barriers and restrictions are removed that affect the marketing of his products.

Removal of trade barriers will operate alone, or as an aid to any plan of farm relief. It would give immediate results, violate no economic law, and operate without the high cost of administration. This applies to foreign as well as domestic trade.

RECOGNITION.

Chicago, March 19.—When The Tribune discusses the league of nations or some of our treaties it is fond of quoting the Father of Our Country as to foreign entanglements. But when it comes to the business matter of recognizing the soviet government of Russia The Tribune never refers to the fact that George Washington recognized the revolutionary government of France, bloody though it was, within fifty days after that government was established.

CHARLES W. PHILLIPS.

EVENTS IN WASHINGTON.

Highland Park, Ill., March 27.—For several years you criticized unceasingly the Hoover administration for its policy of bureaucracy, government in business, socialistic experiments, etc. Since March 4 your columns have been strangely silent on this subject.

The agricultural bill recently passed by the house will put government in business with a vengeance. The radicals in congress, having the support of F. D. R., seem at last to have achieved their idea of paradise.

Recognition of Russia will no doubt make it simpler for her to send over organizers to complete the job. With Prof. Muddle on the left, Gracie Allen on the right, Comrade Wallace can put through the four more years' plan to the tune of "There you go again." A. E. LUNDIN.

GEN. CHARLES KING.

Chicago, March 21.—In The Tribune of March 18 there appeared an announcement of the death of a very gallant soldier, Gen. Charles King. He was so long associated with military affairs in Wisconsin that it is perhaps excusable that the writer of the note fell into the error of stating that in the Spanish-American war Gen. King commanded a Wisconsin brigade of volunteers in the Philippines. No Wisconsin troops participated in the Philippine expeditionary forces. During the insurrection the only volunteer regiments from east of the Mississippi were the 10th Pennsylvania and the 1st Tennessee infantry.

In San Francisco, at Camp Merritt, and later at the Presideo Gen. King commanded an infantry brigade composed of the 51st Iowa, 1st Tennessee, and the 20th Kansas infantry, U. S. V. In those days the regiments were small and the infantry drill regulations still prescribed brigade drill. I have a lively recollection of him rising in his stirrups and sending his ringing voice, "Well done, Kansas. That is well worth seeing." His inspiring leadership was felt by every soldier of that splendid brigade. Every soldier of his brigade and of the whole encampment attended his play, "Fort Frayne," based on his novel of that name, which had a long run in San Francisco.

Gen. King's brief service in the Philippines was in command of the Santa Cruz amphibian expedition of the province of La Laguna. Under his command were a squadron of the 4th cavalry, the 14th infantry, the 1st Idaho, 1st North Dakota, a detachment of the 1st Washington, and a mountain battery. The composition and purpose of the expedition appear in general orders No. 19, headquarters, 1st division, 8th army corps, Manila, P. I., April 6, 1899. Although Gen. King organized the expedition and conducted it up the Pasig river, sharp illness, reported by Maj. George F. Shields, brigade surgeon, as a "cardiac depression," caused him to be relieved of his command.

Gen. King was a man of unswerving loyalty to soldierly ideals, of lofty, inspiring patriotism. PHILIP FOX.

Colonel, 341st Infantry.

A FIGHTING ROBIN.

Fox River Grove, Ill., March 27.—You report a cock robin battle now is being waged at Kansas City, Mo. I have a cock robin here at Fox River Grove that has been actively engaged fighting his image or shadow boxing for the last ten days.

He is fighting by himself without any aid, fighting on two fronts. First, he attacks himself on the eastern front—the east side of the house—at a window, and then retires to the western front—the west side of the house—to a window.

He is losing weight as he battles along, as he was a good deal heavier before he started these drives on himself. He is a grand old warrior, and I know my warriors, having been a sergeant in the 148th F. A., 66th brigade, fighting in four major operations with those big, heavy, long range guns until it was all over, always shoving ahead, never knowing what the word retreat was.

That's the kind of stuff Mr. Cock Robin is made of, always shoving and pecking away and charging, never retreating, retiring only to get something to eat and returning to the battle front again.

This warrior starts his attacks at 5:30 a. m. and continues until 6:30 p. m., leaving only to get something to eat.

PRESS PLAN TO HOLD ECONOMIC PARLEY IN U. S.

Davis Spends Day Talking with British Officials.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 31.—The organizing committee of the world economic conference probably will meet in London on April 10, and if it then decides, as it is expected to do, to summon the conference at the earliest possible moment, the world meeting may begin the third week of May.

So far London is still assumed to be the meeting place, but there is increasing talk of moving the conference to Washington. This is the result of continued conferences today between Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large, and Prime Minister MacDonald and other British officials.

If it is to be held in London, Great Britain will be the inviting power and MacDonald the president. If it is transferred to Washington, then the invitations will be sent by the United States and Secretary of State Hull probably will preside. All of this must be submitted to Washington by Davis before any final agreement can be reached. Davis expects to meet MacDonald again Monday. He will leave for Paris Tuesday.

David Lloyd-George, wartime prime minister, left his audience guessing as to the identity of "the man who wanted the war" when he opened the annual Universities Congress of National Union Students at Cambridge tonight.

"I know only one man who wanted the war in 1914," he said. "He was not in this country, not in France, not in Germany, not in Russia. I shall tell that story in the course of a few weeks."

Referring to the new nations created at Versailles, Lloyd-George said President Wilson, Premier Clemenceau and himself did not create Czechoslovakia, Poland, Transylvania, Lithuania, Estonia, Latvia, and Mesopotamia. "We simply faced the facts," he said. "We found that nationalities which had been oppressed had been a fruitful cause of wars. The liberal sentiment of the world was in favor of emancipation. We gave expression to that. We were not responsible for the fact that these buried nationalities, coming out of their mausoleums in their grave clothes, cast them off and put on armor."

1933 AUTO DEATHS ARE 24 PCT. BELOW LAST YEAR'S TOLL

Auto fatalities in Cook county in the first three months of 1933 dropped 24 per cent below the deaths for the corresponding period of 1932. This was revealed yesterday in statistics compiled by Coroner Frank J. Walsh. The comparison follows:

Month.	1933.	1932.
January	81	116
February	59	82
March	72	82
Totals	212	280

Coroner Walsh attributed the decrease to economic conditions and the inclement weather of the last two months. Fewer autos are in operation now, he said, and drivers have been more careful on icy and wet streets.

One death yesterday raised the 1933 Cook county motor toll to 212. The victim:

John Maguire, 66 years old, 1841 South Grove avenue. Died in the Holy Cross hospital of injuries received March 22 when he was struck by a taxicab driven by Charles Miller, 1336 West 31st street.

Donald Hammock, 6 years old, 2318 141st street, East Chicago, was killed last evening at 141st and Pulaski streets, East Chicago, by an automobile driven by Otis Slauter, a farmer living near Gary.

Mrs. Johanna Fedler, 47 years old, 5950 Superior street, and Miss Myrtle Nelson, 36, of 1487 Melville place, teachers at the Burbank junior high school, were injured last night in an automobile collision at Wabash avenue and Wacker drive. Mrs. Fedler suffered a fracture of the pelvis.

Dr. William H. Wiesjohn Dies Suddenly in Home

Dr. William H. Wiesjohn, 47 years old, for the last ten years a practicing physician on the north side, died suddenly yesterday at his home, 5750 Virginia avenue, of heart disease. He had offices at 2345 Devon avenue. Dr. Wiesjohn is survived by his wife, one son and one daughter. Funeral services will be held at the Evangelical Salem church, Wanatah, Ind., at 2 p. m. Monday.

124th Victim of Quake in Southern California Dies

Geo. W. Lawrence, Former Indiana Sheriff, Is Dead

George W. Lawrence, former sheriff of Lake county, Ind., died yesterday on his sheep ranch at Rice Lake, Wis. He was 78 years old. Lawrence was born in Lowell, Ind., and lived for years at Crown Point and Hammond. At one time he was in business at Urbana, Ill.

BLAME CERTAIN TYPE OF CANCER ON GERM CELLS

Public Health Service Tells Research.

Washington, D. C., March 31.—(AP)—Facts indicating that at least one type of cancer is caused by infection with some sort of germ were announced today by the United States public health service.

The discovery was made by Drs. T. J. Glover and J. L. Engle, for four years working as independent investigators in the laboratories, under the supervision of the public health service's National Institute of Health.

It may mean, service officials said, that cancer, now the second in rank among causes of death by diseases in the United States, can be contracted by infection. Officials of the public health service added that while they believe Glover and Engle have found one cause of cancer they have not found a cure.

Believe Germs Are Cause.

Glover and Engle believe they have definitely proved that cancer can be caused by a germ infection. From a human breast cancer they obtained a "culture" of micro-organisms which were grown on a special culture media or cell food, and then inoculated a female guinea pig with it. At the end of three months they found that that guinea pig had developed a cancer at the point of the inoculation. All tests showed that the growth was undoubtedly a cancer known as malignant adenoma.

They believed this indicated that the cancer must have been caused by some type of germ transmitted from the human cancer to the guinea pig. Guinea pigs almost never develop spontaneous cancers. That, the scientists felt, added to the likelihood that the cancer in the guinea pig did come from the human cancer.

Scientists Are in Doubt.

The theory that cancers might be caused by germ infections has been minimized in recent years. Most scientists have believed cancers resulted from some chemical change within normal body cells that caused them to grow abnormally fast. Glover and Engle now feel sure, however, that the cancer in their experiments is caused by some kind of living germ, but have not yet positively identified it. There may be several causes of cancer, with this germ producing one particular type.

POPE TO DELIVER MESSAGE TO U. S. ON RADIO TODAY

His Holiness Pope Pius XI. will broadcast a special message to America on the opening of the holy year over W-G-N and the Columbia Broadcasting system between 12:30 and 1:30 p. m. Chicago time today.

The age old door opening ceremony, which officially begins the year of prayer, will take place at 4 a. m., an hour too early for broadcasting in America. In an audience granted to Herbert B. Glover, Columbia's director of news broadcasting, the Holy Father consented to give a special message to North America later in the day.

Father John O'Rourke, an American priest in Rome, will open the program with a brief review of the door opening ceremony. This will be followed by five minutes' singing by the choir of the Cathedral of the Annunziata of Florence.

Pope Pius will then chant a hymn into the microphone, after which he will press a button lighting the huge cross on Mount Scenario near Florence. Next the pope will deliver a special holy year message to North America, adding his benediction. The broadcast will be concluded with the ringing of the bells of the Florentine cathedral and another short performance by the choir. Father O'Rourke will read a translation of the papal address and blessing.

The ritual of opening the holy door of St. Peter's is four centuries old. When it is opened this morning it will commemorate the 1900th anniversary of the passion, death, and resurrection of Christ. Cable dispatches last night described the final preparations being made for this ceremony. Workmen had sawed and chiseled out the little brick wall filling up the holy door, making it ready for the moment when the pope with a golden hammer will shatter a thin marble cross in the center and push the barrier in.

ITALY JAILS EIGHT OFFICIALS; FACE THEFT CHARGES

Baron, Envoy to Chicago Fair, Also Named.

ROME, March 31.—(AP)—The arrest of eight directors of the government's motion picture supervisory body on charges of embezzlement was reported today.

Three officers of the Luce institute, which controls the production and distribution of films in Italy and which since 1927 has been under the direction of Premier Mussolini, were sentenced to five year terms.

The three are the managing director, Commendatore Eugenio Fontana; the administrator, Umberto Riva, and the supplies manager, a man named Berti.

Baron Alessandro Sardi, president of the institute, who was in Chicago recently to arrange for the Italian exhibit at A Century of Progress, will be questioned on his return to Italy.

The government, it was understood, charged the directors with the embezzlement of millions of lire over a period of seven years since shortly after the foundation of the institute in 1925.

Baron Can't Believe It's True.

New York, March 31.—(AP)—Baron Alessandro Sardi, president since 1930 of the Luce institute, said today that he has received no official or unofficial communication on the matter.

"I cannot believe the report is true," the baron said. "If it is true, I am sure I would have heard about it from some source—the government or Italian newspapers."

When he left Italy six weeks ago, Baron Sardi said, there were no reports that any of the directors of the institute were under suspicion.

The report from Rome that he will be questioned upon his return to Italy will not change his plans to sail on the Liner Rex tomorrow, Baron Sardi said.

ENTERTAINED IN CHICAGO.

Baron Alessandro Sardi di Revisondoli, one of two royal Italian commissioners to A Century of Progress exposition, Chicago's World's Fair, was in Chicago on official business for the Fair for more than two weeks recently. He left for New York about a week ago. While here he was entertained by Mrs. Edward A. Leight at tea on March 12, and was honored at a dinner and reception given for him on March 22 by the Dante Alighieri society.

PRESIDENT PUTS URUGUAY UNDER A DICTATORSHIP

Names Army Junta to Help Rule.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, March 31.—(AP)—President Gabriel Terra, whose long career in politics has included almost every important political post at home and several abroad, assumed dictatorial powers today in the hope of strengthening Uruguay politically and economically.

He dissolved parliament and the national administrative council, which shared executive powers with him under Uruguay's constitutional system.

All but two of the council were imprisoned. Agarcia Morales took refuge in the Argentine embassy. Former President Baltasar Brum, who won world-wide attention as an author and authority on international law, killed himself after wounding two policemen who had attempted to arrest him as he sought asylum in the Spanish embassy.

Opposition Press Suppressed.

The president drew up his decree in the barracks of the fire brigade, where he set up headquarters last night after having ordered the arrest of the administrative council members.

The opposition press was suppressed and Dr. Terra tonight was dominant in the first upheaval South America's smallest republic has undergone since 1904. The army was solidly behind him. Public meetings are forbidden.

To assist in governing the country, President Terra named a junta composed of Lieut. Gen. Pabla Galarza, Alberto Demichelli, Ghigliani Andre Puyol, Pedro Manini Rios, Jose Espalter, Roberto Berro, Ancieto Patron, and Alfredo Navarro.

Text of Decree.

Dr. Terra's decree read:

"In view of the pronouncement of parliament favoring the lifting of measures of security, thus provoking a commotion whose results are impossible to foresee, the president in seeking to assure order and tranquility amid the complexity of financial, economic, and political difficulties, deems necessary immediate reforms to relieve the tax burden, to lower governmental costs, to make effective governmental responsibility, and to restore national confidence.

"I intend as soon as possible to convoke a constituent assembly to permit the people to decide their own destiny, to pass on the retention of the administrative council."

Plans New Constitution.

The people, it was announced, will be convoked on June 25 to choose the constituent assembly. This assembly will draft a new constitution, which later will be submitted to the people for ratification.

Pedro Cosio tonight was appointed minister of finance. It was decided to retain all present governmental employés at reduced salaries. The legislative assembly will be cut from 142 members to 99. All unnecessary expenses will be eliminated.

Grandson of a Brazilian army officer and son of a prominent Uruguayan politician, Terra has been in the course of his sixty years a lawyer, a newspaper man, and professor of political economy at the National university. He started in politics as a member of the chamber of deputies. He was elected president in 1931 for a four year term by the dominant Colorado or Batalista party, which is now split into numerous factions, several of which are not supporting him.

LACKS MONEY; BEATEN BY ROBBERS.

When he stopped his car for a traffic light early yesterday at Elston and North avenues, Robert Sorenson, 20 years old, 2143 North Lockwood avenue, was beaten with revolver butts by two gunmen who were angry because Sorenson had no money.

PASTOR ACCUSED BY GIRL OFFERS ALIBI IN DEFENSE

Muncie, Ind., March 31.—[Special.]—The defense of the Rev. G. Lemuel Conway, deposed Methodist minister on trial here on a charge of attempted rape upon Helen Huffman, 18 year old Sunday school teacher in Conway's church, today presented alibi evidence for the accused minister.

There was still doubt whether Conway would take the stand. Although his lawyers say they plan to climax their case with the minister's own testimony, it was pointed out that if the pastor did not testify it would keep out much testimony the state then would be able to use in rebuttal.

In cross-examination of witnesses today, prosecution attorneys indicated they were prepared, if given the opportunity, to bring out the story of difficulties in which Conway is said to have been involved while pastor of churches in Middletown and Lapel, Ind., and Spencer, W. Va.

Three witnesses said that at the time of Conway's alleged attack upon the girl he was with a company of men in a plumbing shop discussing a proposed hunting trip. Five others were to testify to the same thing.

Held for Shooting Girl; Now They're Engaged

Ray Grieger, 23 years old, 1530 Washburne avenue, appeared yesterday before Judge Frank M. Padden in the South State street court on a charge of having shot Miss Anna Dolan, 21 years old, 1314 South Wabash avenue, last October. Miss Dolan was in court and stepped forward with Grieger when the case was called. "We're engaged to be married," said Grieger to the judge, who then dismissed the case.

Garden Show, Work of 8,000 Women, Opens

Display Called Best Ever Staged in Middle West.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The largest collection of amateur gardens ever assembled in the middle west was placed on formal preview last night as the seventh annual garden and flower show of the Garden Club of Illinois opened on Navy pier. The exhibition will continue until 10 p. m., April 8.

More than a mile of well groomed gardens, thousands of potted flowers, cut flowers and unique schemes of exterior and interior floral treatments are contained in the display. The riot of color harmonies, marking the culmination of a year's planning on the part of nearly 8,000 women gardeners of Illinois, caused critics to declare the annual spring show the best ever staged in point of creative design and finish.

North shore garden clubs won most of the awards made by judges yesterday afternoon. The Evanston Garden club, with its enticing brick path leading up to a lighted arbor over which rambling roses were festooned, was given the much coveted silver medal of the Garden Club of America. The Evanston club showed a house and two gardens.

Gold medals of the Garden Club of Illinois went to the North Shore Horticultural society, National Association of Gardeners, Andrew Benson of Des Plaines, Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, James Norris estate, Morton Arboretum, forest preserve commissioners, Garfield park commissioners and Vaughan's Seed store.

The Long Lake Garden club won over the Freeport club in the class of best decorated and landscaped English type house, while the Founders chapter of Glencoe displayed the best colonial type. Among the other garden clubs named on the prize lists available last night were those of Wheaton, Hinsdale, Kenilworth, Joliet, Fox River Grove, Winnetka, Aurora, Mokena, Downers Grove, Norwood Park and De Kalb.

A departure from previous garden shows is seen in the widening of the aisles, permitting of large crowds without hampering views. The long stretch of azure blue ceiling leads back through the potted and cut flowers, the formal gardens and special displays to lead visitors into constantly changing surroundings. Garden seats have been provided into which guests may drop to drink in the beauties of the gardens which catch their fancy.

Unique in the field of garden shows anywhere, critics averred, was the showing of model roadside plantings, in contrast to the shoddy treatment too frequently found in America today. The quiet pools, overhung with willows and aspens, lent particular charm to the exhibit of the Morton arboretum.

Displays of model children's playhouses and the gardening treatment of small home yards where children play are more numerous and intriguing than in any previous Chicago garden show. Crowds also gathered about the collections of tropical fish and other water creatures.

Quilt Is Especially Pretty in Natural Tiger Lily Colors

Original Tiger Lily.

BY NANCY CABOT.

This quilt design owes its inspiration to the real Chinese tiger lily of orange, scarlet, and red. Although the pattern may be worked out in various colors, it is especially pretty when the natural flower colors are pieced on a background of eggshell or cream colored material.

You may obtain a quilt pattern of this design by sending five cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune; print your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

Something New in Men's Wear Is Told Today

Store Displays Charts to Aid Male Shoppers.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

There have been quite a few rather scathing paragraphs criticizing the masculine disregard of suitable apparel and other dissertations have been printed concerning the male fear of being a sissy unless he sticks to regular run-of-the-mill clothes, the kind of haberdashery affected by all the rest of the crowd. But evidently these biting bits of rumors were greatly exaggerated. Proof is hereby offered . . . one clever men's shop has scooped the town. It has opened an uncluttered spot and with the pictorial aid of some easy to read signboard affairs the uncertain male clothes collectors can now gather with his fellow men and find out what's what.

Not a single bit of feminine frippery is allowed. The huge charts are severely simple as to color, design, and wording. Upon them you will see what you should wear, if you would be impeccably though unostentatiously well groomed. The first lesson is in proportions . . . for example, these charts show what the tall man can use, what the average fellow can choose and exactly what to avoid and what to accept if you are short and inclined to be a bit well fed.

They prove all this to the most doubting Thomas with good looking sketches and then they take you to second grade and illustrate the infinite possibilities of color and color contrast. It's no longer a mystery how to use a certain shade of bright blue with the right shade of gray . . . and just because you may be short instead of tall is no reason why you can't wear any color you particularly fancy. In other words, if you have an urge for gray that has never been fully satisfied, because you mistakenly believed that gray could only be worn by certain skyscraper individuals, you will gleefully discover that you can wear a certain shade of gray quite a bit better, in fact, much better than the tall chap ahead of you.

You'll find out more about fabrics and textures than you dreamed existed. You'll find out that you either can or can't wear fuzzy mixtures, or pencil stripes, or those stunning new Scotch checks you have been thirsting for . . . and all the useful information you will tuck away in your memory about shirts, cravats, socks, and such, will fill a book. Even the man who knows he knows it all probably will be sport enough to admit there are a few new tricks this year.

Protestant Home Backers Will Attend Polo Match

Members of the Hyde Park auxiliary of the Protestant Children's home and their friends will attend in a group tonight the polo game between the 124th Field Artillery and Fort Sheridan at the 124th Field Artillery armory in Washington park. A share of the proceeds from seats sold through the auxiliary members are to go to the support of the children's home founded 15 years ago to provide for boys and girls that come to the joint service bureau and the Juvenile court. In later years these children are sent to the Glenwood Manual Training school and the Park Ridge School for Girls. Mrs. D. M. Flick is president of the auxiliary.

Fifty Guests

Mrs. Marion R. Janney became the bride of Cornelius Lynde of Winnetka yesterday afternoon at her residence on Spruce street, Winnetka, the Rev. Samuel Harkness of the Winnetka Congregational church officiating. About fifty relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony and were at the reception that followed.

The bride, who wore a greige ensemble and a corsage of gardenias, orchids, and valley lilies, was attended by her younger daughter, Miss Eleanor Janney, who wore powder blue. Samuel Adams Lynde II., who is at home from Lawrenceville for his spring holiday, served as best man for his father. The bride's only son, Frederick, also is a student at Lawrenceville and was present at yesterday's ceremony.

Mrs. Lynde's older daughter is Mrs. Stephen Roby, who with Mr. Roby and their little 2½ year old daughter, Joan, were at the wedding; also Mr. Lynde's daughter, Miss Margaret Emily Lynde, whose engagement to Eugene V. O'Brien of Winnetka was announced this week.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

CLASS DAY.

"There had been no depression for 'Gentleman' Jim and he might still have been going his profitable way had not Inspector Kelley been given a tip from the underworld," Prof. Fordney told his class.

"Just three weeks ago today we arrested the international crook after he had cashed a check at the First National bank.

"He is, without exception, the cleverest forger known to the police today. I was curious about his extraordinary ability and asked him to duplicate my signature. He requested me to turn my back for one minute. When he handed the paper to me there were three signatures directly beneath each other and for the life of me I couldn't tell which one I had written!

"I wanted to watch him work. I was interested in knowing if he copied it by turning my signature upside down. This is the method employed by many 'penmen.' He laughingly replied he didn't want me stealing his thunder while he was doing his stretch!

"Here, again, is an example of stupidity. 'Gentleman' Jim, in spite of his cleverness, forgot the one thing that proved his guilt beyond a doubt. Under the miscroscope I discovered the perforations on the forged check he had cashed when we arrested him matched one of the stubs in his own check book!"

"I happen to know you did catch a forger in just that way," interrupted Nick Carlson, "but you've used this story to test us. April fool, yourself, professor—I know what's wrong with it!"

Do you?

[See solution on page 33.]

Miss Hepburn Proves Find in Splendid Film

'Christopher Strong' Terse, Fresh Movie.

"CHRISTOPHER STRONG."
Produced by RKO—Radio.
Directed by Dorothy Arzner.
Presented at the Palace theater.
THE CAST.

Cynthia	Katherine Hepburn
Christopher	Colin Clive
Elaine	Billie Burke
Harry Rawlinson	Ralph Forbes
Monica	Helen Chandler
Carrie	Irene Browne

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Here's a terse, engrossing picture, superior as to acting, direction, and photography. Its story theme is not new, but the manner of treatment is so fresh, so incisive, that lack of originality is forgotten.

Katherine Hepburn dominates the action with her crisp naturalness, her strident voice, her faculty for suggesting the most intense emotionalism without emoting—and her strange, fascinating, satyrlike face that, somehow, makes you expect her ears to be pointed. She dominates without ever once being domineering, but she has such excellent runners-up in Colin Clive, Helen Chandler, and Billie Burke that you catch yourself wondering if, after all, her work is best.

A find, Miss Hepburn—though why folks compare her with Greta Garbo I cannot see. To me the two neither look nor act alike. One is the languorous southern zephyr; the other a keen, salt breeze off the sea.

In this piece Miss Hepburn plays Lady Cynthia, an aviatrix who wins fame à la Amelia Earhart, falls in love desperately and for all time with a married man and, in the final summing up, is true to the motto on her family crest—"Courage defies death."

Colin Clive gives a fine, clean cut performance as Christopher Strong, a devoted family man of untarnished reputation, who is swept from dock but not from moorings by his surging passion for the magnificent creature whose father's friend he had been. Helen Chandler presents a delicately powerful characterization as Strong's young modern of a daughter. She also loves a benedict—Ralph Forbes, who is a false note in the picture. Billie Burke is charming as Mrs. Strong. She hasn't much to do but watch, wait, adore and weep, but she brings appealing dignity and sweetness to her passive rôle. Minor parts are played with taste.

News reel shots are cleverly interlarded so as to appear part and parcel of the photoplay proper, and the dialogue, which might have sounded banal from some lips, is pertinent and believable as spoken by these seasoned players.

Paris Shrinks the Jackets of Summer Suits

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Suits with jackets shrunk to mere shoulder coverings are seen daily walking up and down the Avenue Bois de Boulogne with extra-chic women inside them. The bolero jacket and skirt have IT of high style without being shrieking headliners.

The Goupy suit in our sketch today is the kind that is most chic. It is made of the new linen crash that Paris adores for summer suits. This crash is woven almost as loosely as gunnysack and is made by Rodier. The suit shown here is pale pearly gray in color, and the jacket, as you can see, ends above the floating rib line. It has big revers and no collar, and its shoulder line is widened by a tuck at the top of the long, straight sleeves. These sleeves meet the body of the jacket at a point way out on the end of the shoulder to increase the width on top, whereas the armholes below are considerably further in toward the body.

The plaid shirt that is worn with this suit is a coarse weave cotton fabric in tropical reds and yellows and greens, and is worn just over the top of the skirt. The fez is made of the same plaid material.

Two Interesting Exhibits Open at Arts Club

African Wood Carvings Get Attention.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The Arts club opened two interesting exhibitions yesterday. There has been such an extraordinary amount of synthetic African sculpture shown in the last several years that the authentic African wood carvings now at the Arts club come as almost a grateful innovation.

There is something touching about them, something a trifle pathetic. They are naive, childish, and quaintly primitive, with a sincerity which it is difficult today to match. The touch of adornment, one little black mask wears a nose ring, is peculiarly affecting. The purpose back of the dwarfed statues, their intimate relationship to the religion of a people, prevents any one passing them by lightly.

In the two long galleries of the Arts club are drawings and water colors by George Grosz, the German painter, whose work has been made familiar to a wide public through the International Water Color exhibitions held each spring in the Chicago Art institute. Mr. Grosz is now, it is understood, living in New York. These various caricatures are presumably of New York types.

From the evidence one may judge that he has not penetrated far enough as yet beneath the metropolitan mask to unveil the true self of the Manhattanite. These typical Grosz caricatures might have been drawn as cleverly on the other as on this side of the Atlantic. In no way are they essentially American.

Among the drawings two stand out as being particularly amusing. The one is "Retired," an affluent but idle merchant sniffing the air, with his fists buried deep in his pockets. The other is "Indivduality or the Coronation," a pointed hit at the creative artist whose ego has been permitted to swell.

The water colors are a long tale. In them Mr. Grosz permits himself to repeat interminably. Vulgarity and coarseness creep in. The back view of a fat woman's hips are made the cream of the jest ad nauseam. The nudes also lay themselves open to adverse criticism. Shrunken arms and enlarged thighs seem unnecessary.

A few street impressions give us an idea of Mr. Grosz as a colorist. His forte is, however, caricature;

Katherine Cowin Engagement to Robert A. Carr Announced

Wedding of Popular and Talented Young Couple Is Planned for Next Fall.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THIS morning in Boston and in Chicago Mrs. Benton Cowin of the former city is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Katherine Clay, to Robert Adams Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott Carr of 1500 Lake Shore drive. Miss Cowin, who was graduated from Dana hall at Wellesley, Mass., and Vassar college, is a member of the Junior league, and for the last year has been living in Chicago where she is engaged in editorial work on Fashions of the Hour, of which her fiancé's sister, Miss Margaret Carr, is editor.

Miss Carr just recently was given that position so she as well as her brother is in line for congratulations today. Mr. Carr is a graduate of the University of Chicago and is well known as an amateur aviator and photographer. The picture of his fiancée on this page was taken by him and given to us to be used with this announcement.

The wedding of this clever and popular young couple is planned for next fall. Tonight in Lake Forest Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Donnelley are entertaining at dinner for Miss Cowin, who was Mrs. Donnelley's classmate at Dana hall.

Margaret Dawes Sets Wedding Date.

It's a little hard for the Rufus C. Dawes family to find time to have a wedding in the family this spring for Mrs. Dawes has been ill, Mr. Dawes is "up to his neck" in A Century of Progress, and Helen is to graduate from Vassar in June, but at last Margaret has been able to set Friday, April 28, as the date for her marriage to Beverly Jefferson.

The wedding is not to take place in the Dawes' Evanston residence, however, for the family has decided that it will not be possible to open the house just for the wedding, so it is to be solemnized in the Fullerton parkway apartment that the Daweses are occupying during these busy months. Only the immediate relatives are to be present but that means that about forty or fifty will hear the Rev. Paul Wolfe of the First Presbyterian church of Evanston read the service, there are so many Daweses in and near Chicago.

It is to be an evening wedding, very simple and unostentatious, with Miss Betty Brown of Indianapolis, as maid of honor, and the bride's two sisters, Miss Helen Dawes and Mrs. Robert Sherman [Jean Dawes] as bridesmaids. Frank W. McCulloch of Evanston will serve as best man for Mr. Jefferson and ushering will be the bridegroom's two brothers, William and Carl Jefferson Jr. Miss Brown was a classmate of Miss Dawes at Pine Manor.

Busy Musical Day Tomorrow.

Those of society's music lovers who will be at the Blackstone theater tomorrow afternoon for the concert the Chicago chapter of the International Society for Contemporary Music is sponsoring, and then will be at the Arts club in the evening for the buffet supper the club is giving for the young violinist, Nathan Milstein, certainly will feel at the end of the day that they have had a perfect day with two such musical affairs to enjoy.

The C. Barney Goodspeeds and the Arthur Bissell will be among those entertaining at luncheon before the concert, which is to start at 4 o'clock and is to be a program of chamber music of eight living composers.

Mr. Milstein will not be the only noted musical artist at the Arts club party, for Lily Pons, who is to sing here Monday night at a benefit for the Northwestern university medical school clinic, is to be a guest of the president of the club, Mrs. Goodspeed, and Mr. Goodspeed. The supper is at half past seven and Mr. Milstein will start his program at half after eight.

The Changeling Bride

By Martha Ostenso

SYNOPSIS.

The Hendersons—Meryl and Margaret, sisters; Flint, their older brother, and Andrew, the father—have lived for twelve years in poverty in a fishing settlement on the shores of Lake Superior, after losing their fortune in Chicago. Andrew went to pieces after the death of his wife. Great-Aunt Letitia, formerly dean of a girls' school in Ohio, is the liaison between the Hendersons and a cultured past. Flint and his friend, Ned Bremner, hope to build up a great export business. Ned is in love with Meryl, but she dreams of a better future. A forest fire brings Blake Lawrence, injured and lost, to the Henderson cottage. There were two great names in nearby Agate Bay and its environs—Lawrence and Greer. Blake is in love with Greer's wife, Christine. Blake's broken ankle keeps him two weeks with the Hendersons. Meryl falls in love with Blake. Though still enamored of Christine, Blake becomes engaged to Meryl, and sends for his sister, Theresa, to meet her. Meryl leaves for Agate Bay with Blake and Theresa, where the wedding takes place. Blake leaves immediately after the ceremony for one of his mines, where a strike is on. Lucia, a snobbish relative of the Lawrences, pays them a visit. Lucia has some of her friends in for dinner.

INSTALLMENT XVIII.

HUMILIATION.

During dinner Meryl listened to talk that turned upon subjects and people of whom she knew little or nothing. Blake's name was mentioned frequently, and the trouble at the Calimac mine. The men spoke too of Julius Greer, and of some stupendous scheme for the development of power in which he was the leading spirit. The women discussed their friends in the city and dwelt upon "the season" that was just opening. When the glasses had been filled with a dry, sparkling wine Uncle Tom got to his feet and proposed a toast to the bride. For a few minutes Meryl became the center of interest and the object of some gentle bantering on the part of the men. Almost at once then she was ignored except by Uncle Tom and Theresa.

Not quite, however. From the opposite side of the table, where he sat beside Lucia, Chester Hyde permitted his eyes to rove toward Meryl at brief intervals in a way that was more than disconcerting. His expression was unequivocal. At first she pretended not to notice him. Presently she became humiliated, then almost angry.

When tables for bridge were set up in the living room Lucia seemed to discover for the first time that there were nine in the party. Meryl begged to be permitted to look on while the others played. She had had little experience with contract beyond the desultory attempts they had made to learn the game at home. And Lucia's query as to what "system" she played had obviously not been framed with any view to making Meryl feel more comfortable. In the end Meryl sat on the arm of Theresa's chair and watched her and Fred Inglis, Blake's business associate, engage Lucia and Chester Hyde. At another table Uncle Tom and Dorothy Inglis were playing against Harry and Jule Shan.

"Please," he begged, "I have come to ask your pardon."

"I'm so sorry Christine isn't coming over," Lucia observed as the game went on.

"She may be along yet," Chester suggested.

"I don't think so," Lucia replied. "Christine isn't in a particularly cheerful mood these days."

Theresa hunched suddenly forward and bid five reckless spades. "Are playing bridge, or——"

"With five spades, my dear, it looks as if you were trying to dig a little grave for yourself," Lucia replied. "I'll double."

Chester Hyde lifted his glass then and smiled across at Meryl. She got up quietly and went to the window, where she stood looking out at the dimly starlit lake.

Presently Uncle Tom suggested a hand of poker and drew Meryl into the game. She lost her chips with dismal consistency. But Chester Hyde, who had seated himself beside her, adroitly replaced them as they vanished. It was when he permitted his hand, after replacing twenty of the red disks, to slip carelessly down her gown at her side, that Meryl finally got up and left the table. She stole quietly away to the small, dimly lighted library, which winged off from the reception hall.

What should she have done, she wondered now, as she sat alone in the library. Should she, in the presence of every one, have turned upon Chester Hyde and indulged in the natural and violent impulse to slap his face? The man's effrontery had been incomprehensible.

The sounds which drifted in to her from the living room were a cacophony of sharp laughter and groans of disgust. Meryl wondered for a moment whether it would be altogether unseemly of her to retire upstairs. But immediately she admitted that such an act would be admission of defeat. For Theresa's sake, moveover, she must stick it out and bid good-night to Lucia's guests—if they ever intended to go.

It was a curious streak in Theresa—her evident love of gambling. Meryl had seen her eyes shine with aggressiveness at bridge. Later, in the poker game, they had become blank and unreadable. Undoubtedly the old Lawrence, whose name had been a byword up and down the lakes, lived again in this daughter of his.

Scarcely aware of its title, Meryl drew a book from one of the shelves and opened it beneath the reading lamp. But the words danced before her eyes. She closed it and looked up at the sound of some one in the doorway. There had been no lull in the talk and laughter in the living room. Chester Hyde had appeared in the library doorway quite unexpectedly.

He came toward her with mocking solemnity.

"My dear," he said softly, "have I offended you?"

"Scarcely," she replied quickly. "You couldn't offend me."

"Ah," he smiled. "Now you're being sarcastic. That's the last resort of an unsophisticated imagination."

"I am not interested in what you choose to call it," she retorted.

"Please!" he begged, "I have come to ask your pardon. I—I misunderstood."

"What was there for you to misunderstand?" she asked.

He spread out his hands in a gesture that was meant to indicate that he was at a loss.

"My dear child," he protested with difficulty. "You are not being fair to me. All I'm doing is—making an apology."

"And why should you place yourself in a position where an apology is necessary?" she demanded.

Chester Hyde shrugged his shoulders and looked a little tired.

"Haven't I just told you that I was mistaken?" he replied with some dignity.

He hunted in the pockets of his dinner jacket for his cigaret case.

"And I have already asked you in what you were mistaken," she reminded him.

"O, rats!" he exclaimed when he had lit his cigaret. "Let's be friends, eh? I'm not such a bad sort, Meryl. Just—a little impulsive—that's all."

He thrust out a hand and laid it on her shoulder. Meryl looked at him calmly. It was more important to her at that moment to discover what had prompted his indiscretion than to release his hold upon her.

"We can't be friends," she told him, "until you tell me just what it was you 'misunderstood,' Mr. Hyde."

He wagged his head in a humorously deprecating way. "O—all right! You wouldn't know how to appreciate a chap like me. You see—I'm sort of—sort of poetic. Honestly! Doesn't sound right, I know. You'd never think it, would you? But I am! And when I saw you tonight, you—well, you looked like a mermaid or something. No fooling! You're—O, hell! You're not real. Fairy—that's what you are. And, you know what? I just can't see you married to Blake. That's a fact. I can't see him marrying you—not that you aren't—well, why go into that, eh? It's just as if Blake got something—something different from what he married. You know—a sort of changeling bride. Hell, that's what I'm trying to say. You're a changeling bride, my dear!"

His hand was still pressed down upon her shoulder. It was at that moment that Lucia stood in the doorway.

Kitchen Ills Given Attention of Food Editor

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented today by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 for Miss Meade's market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

"What makes the streusel on my quick coffee cake sink down into the cake and leave streaks and a sticky dough?" That is question No. 1 for this morning's question clinic. And here is the answer:

You write, Mrs. L., that you sprinkle flour, sugar, and dots of butter over the coffee cake top before baking. Also you wondered in your letter whether or not it would be well to butter the cake top before putting on the streusel. First, I suspect that those holes and streaks are due to the dots of butter you use. The best method is to work the butter, cinnamon, sugar, and flour [if used] together with the finger tips until mealy. Then, when the streusel is spread over the cake, the butter will melt more evenly and be partly absorbed by the flour, thus making those objectionable streaks and holes less likely to appear.

I always find it the best plan to give the top of a coffee cake, whether it is a yeast or a quick one, a brushing over with melted butter before adding the streusel. Milk is sometimes used in the same way. Or you may find the best results by applying a coat of corn starch glaze. I make this by blending ½ teaspoon of corn starch with 2 tablespoons of water, and then cooking it till thick and smooth with 1-3 cup of boiling water. Then strew on your streusel. A moderate oven [350 to 375 degrees F.] seems to give the best baking results with quick coffee cakes.

Next, from Mrs. L. K. H.: "Is the red coating on the outside of Edam cheese supposed to be eaten? What is it made of? Just how are you supposed to use Edam cheese? And what are those little flattish red cheeses that look like young Edams?

Don't let that red covering bother you—but don't feel that you are expected to eat it. Edam, as you know, is a hard cheese, imported from Holland, though Edam style cheese is now being made in this country. The cheese, which is golden in color, has been molded in spherical forms—in balls weighing from 3 to 4 pounds. These balls are then coated with a dark red harmless coloring or with red paraffin. Those little fellows you have noticed are known as "Baby Goudas" and sometimes are more economical for a small family than are the big ones.

There are several correct ways to use these round red cheeses. If you enjoy serving fairly frequent desserts of various cheeses, crackers, fresh or dried fruit, and demi tasse, an Edam or a Baby Gouda will make a charming centerpiece for a platter of cheese squares and wedges. With a sharp knife cut a cover from the top, just as if you were taking the top off a jack o' lantern. Supply a sturdy spoon or knife with which each diner may scoop out his section of Edam, and when dinner is over, put back the cover, wrap in oiled paper, and put away till next time.

eral times each week are to have a gymkhana this afternoon in the handsome big riding arena.

Young Adelaide Taylor, Sheila Cudahy, Mary Faith Wilson, and Betty Mead will shine in the first event scheduled to take the ring at 3 o'clock for it's a jumping competition, singly and by pairs. Then will follow jumps for some of these young Onwentsians' mothers, a needle and thread race, an egg and spoon contest, even a night-shirt race. The afternoon will wind up with a military drill under the direction of the young lieutenant who has been making regular visits to Lake Forest every Monday and Thursday afternoon to help his pupils learn how to pivot and trot by fours.

After the gymkhana this afternoon the young entrants will hurry home to get into their costumes for the party the Lake Forest junior dancing class is to have this evening at the Winter club. "It's an after supper affair, dancing until 11," Alvar L. Bournique, the master, explained yesterday, "it will climax the Lake Forest dancing lessons for another year."

The long awaited Latin school prom takes place tonight at the Casino club and it undoubtedly will be as successful as their past dances. There are to be comparatively few dinner parties preceding it, but among those is the one that Mrs. Bryan S. Reid is giving for her daughter, Margot, and the one that Mrs. Edmund J. Doering Jr. is having for her son, Edmund J. Doering III.

Two Parties for Samuel Grimsons.

A number of fortunate friends of the Charles Garfield Kings are to have an opportunity to meet Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Grimson (Malvina Hoffman) tomorrow preceding her public appearance Monday afternoon before the American Friends of China. Mr. and Mrs. King are entertaining for the Grimsons, who arrive tomorrow morning, at luncheon at their residence at 1530 North State parkway and later at tea.

Among those who have already accepted are Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Nicholson, Miss Lucy Driscoll, Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling, Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Goodspeed, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker.

Mrs. Grimson is to be here most of a week, since she has some work to do on her bronzes of mankind for the Field museum.

There will be a cosmopolitan group for tea this afternoon at the Chicago Historical society for the students living down at International house at the University of Chicago are to be the guests of the society's board of trustees.

After a tour of the building, Mrs. Charles S. Dewey is to be hostess at tea. Mrs. William H. Bush, who is to pour with Mrs. John W. Walsh, is bringing over her handsome silver tea service that once belonged to Charles Carroll of Carrollton, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Early American accessories for the table are to be supplied by Mrs. Walter S. Brewster.

American Opera Society to Meet.

The American Opera society will hold its last meeting of the season this morning at the Drake hotel, followed by luncheon. Prof. Jerzy Bojanowski, former director of the Warsaw symphony orchestra, and now in charge of the Polish musical programs for A Century of Progress, will speak and Lorna Doone Jackson will sing some of Mrs. Archibald Freer's songs. Miss Emily Darned is president of the society.

M. Grimm-Provence is to be the speaker today at the meeting of the Alliance Française. At 12 o'clock he will give an illustrated lecture on "Morocco" in the alliance rooms in the Fine Arts building. An event the juniors of the Alliance are anticipating with much pleasure is the French lecture, "Menage et Menages," Mrs. John Storrs is to give the afternoon of April 11. Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift is opening her home at 1551 Astor street for the affair. Pouring tea will be Miss Marjorie Goodman, who is chairman of the juniors; Miss Beatrice Kirk, Miss Frances Robinson, Miss Beatrice Borland, and Miss Louise Dewey.

Lecture Today By German Visitor.

Chicago's distinguished German visitor, Dr. Albrecht Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, director of the Institute of Foreign Affairs at Hamburg, is winding up his week here with luncheon this noon with the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, dinner this evening at the home of Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum, and luncheon and tea tomorrow in Evanston.

Dr. Mendelssohn-Bartholdy's talk before the council will deal with the outlook for his country under the Hitler régime. Dr. Otto L. Schmidt will introduce the speaker in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house.

The woman's auxiliary of Grant hospital is having a card party and tea in the Grant hospital nurses' home Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Henry Bartholomay is president of the woman's auxiliary and Mrs. Philip T. Starck is chairman of the card party.

Miss Edith Cummings is arriving at home this morning from a trip to Jamaica. Her co-traveler, Miss Eleanor Holden, will not be at home until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick D. Corley and their daughter, Mary Louise, have left for ten days or two weeks in Gulfport, Miss.

Joseph Fields Home Again.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Field II. are at home again from what Mrs. Field describes as "a most marvelous holiday." They spent most of the time visiting the Stanley Fields in their Sarasota, Fla., home. The Honoré Palmers' home is not far from the Fields' and with the constant stream of guests both houses were filled with gayety. Norman Field, Stanley Field's brother, came over from England and brought with him Maj. Ernest Bellamy. Mrs. T. Clifford Rodman and Mrs. Russell P. Kelley also were there; and visiting the Palmers were Mrs. John Wentworth and Mrs. Walter Keith, among others.

More travel addenda, coming and going. Lloyd Laflin is vacationing in Castle Hot Springs. Mrs Laflin who has remained in Lake Forset expects his return about April 10. . . . Yesterday Miss Eleanor Chapman, daughter of the John Adams Chapmans, arrived in Chicago for her Easter holiday from Bryn Mawr college. On Monday Mrs. Chapman and Miss Virginia Chapman will return from their two weeks trip to Bermuda.

Another student home from school is the John L. Seniors' tall blonde son, John L. Senior Jr. He is here from Hotchkiss. . . . Coming home from Hot Springs, Va., the first of the week, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, and from Daytona Beach, Fla., Mrs. Warren M. Salisbury. Mrs. Salisbury has had her son and his wife, the Kimball Salisburys, for her house guests at the southern resort for several weeks.

And still more. Mr. and Mrs. William Steinwedell [Mrs. Steinwedell was Louise Tyler before her marriage] are leaving today for their home in Cleveland. They have had a visit of several days with Mrs. Steinwedell's parents, the Ralph M. Shaws.

Returned honeymooners are Mr. and Mrs. D. Seymour Offutt. Before her marriage on Feb. 11, Mrs. Offutt was Miss Emily Chester Battelle. The young couple are at home at the Whitehall. . . . Miss Jean Hyman is extending her vacation from the French school in New York City for another three weeks. . . . Today Mrs. William O. Green of Winnetka with her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, is arriving home from a month's holiday in Phoenix. . . . And a week from Monday Mrs. Herbert Stuart Stone [the former Elizabeth Randall] will be back from a visit with her family in Baltimore.

Palmer House Displays State Chamber Furniture

A Victorian exhibit has been opened in the lobby of the Palmer house showing the original state chamber or bridal suite of the old Palmer house which for fifty-two years stood at State and Monroe streets. The great bed in which Presidents Grant, Garfield, McKinley, and Cleveland slept, as well as Rudyard Kipling and Mark Twain, with its built-in davenport at the foot, even the mirror mantelpieces and all incidental furniture are on display just as they were years ago.

Gray Crinkled Silk Crepe Suggested for Delightfully Flattering Design

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

This delightfully feminine and dainty dress easily could be copied in pale gray thin crinkled silk crêpe, and you would be sure to love it. The crossed tied bodice is a flattering detail. Then, too, there are bias seams at the hips that add to its slimness.

The pattern, No. 3487, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 4⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

How to Bring Up a Wife Is Problem Here

BY DORIS BLAKE.

We need some help from husbands on how to bring up a wife. Especially the kind of wife who argues over every little thing.

The latest victim of the maddening female of the species was never cut out for a henpecked rôle. His nickname is Tarzan, due to his hefty build. He tells himself that he looks like Tarzan. His young wife apparently doesn't see the resemblance the way she bears down on him at every opportunity. Nag! Nag! Argue! Argue!

"Tarzan" used to be celebrated for his ready smile and cheery disposition.

He's told his wife that he's afraid of that temper of his.

They have an apartment and an adorable youngster, but from the present looks of things there's going to be one more Reno casualty to swell the year's record.

Maybe there's some form of kindness one of you husbands has experienced as the simpler way out. Or maybe some form of discipline. Anyway, if any of you men have had experience with this kind of woman we'd welcome your help for Tarzan's sake.

Like you, we hardly think Tarzan is entirely blameless, but there is a species of the sex commonly called fair that starts out her marriage with the intention of being the last word and having it, no matter how trifling the decision in question. The trait, no doubt, dates back to an undisciplined childhood, a childhood that never learned the give and take principle of getting on with people.

Correct Position

Take the correct position. Weight on the balls of the feet; chest up; shoulders down and back, head erect; the entire body stretched upward easily.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You might see now just how much better your muscles are able to meet correct posture rules. You remember the theory, based on West Point training rules, is to strengthen the muscles before they should be expected to do their own good posture work.

Now you've been stretching to get the kinks out of your spine. You have been doing the neck exercises to give your head carriage something to go on and this week your shoulders have been under training.

So, now, see how you measure up on the correct position:

1. Weight on the balls of the feet.
2. Chest up.
3. Stomach stretched.
4. Shoulders down and back. [Mark that word "down."]
5. Neck stretched.
6. Head erect, chin drawn in slightly.
7. Entire body stretched upward easily.
8. Air of alertness, poise, and balance.

We're not through with exercises, understand. Just want you to see how you are coming along. There are still leg, abdominal, and back exercises before you. Grand ones, too, and don't miss them next week and the week after. They'll take the fat off you, give you a beautiful bathing beach silhouette. This goes for men as well as women.

Note in the illustration today how straight is the back, and flat; how the body is balanced for a smart step-off, which is exactly what you want. Be sure to get the weight on the balls of the feet or you can't step off lightly. If you're down on your heels you'll look like a man pushing a big bass drum.

No arm swinging in front of the body is a stern West Point rule. No shoulders up like Tarzan of the Apes. The arms swing straight ahead.

Studies Facts About Jackson in This Volume

Marquis James Presents Good Biography.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Andrew Jackson, the Border Captain," by Marquis James. [Bobbs-Merrill.]

WHILE he was finishing his brilliant life of Sam Houston, "The Raven," Marquis James saw a further literary horizon which lured him—the oft debated life of Andrew Jackson. The heights to which his protégé rose were mounds compared to the mountains of history to which Andrew Jackson ascended, and—what makes his work doubly alluring to a biographer—the steps up that mountain have been so judged and misjudged that a historian-biographer has a serious and thrilling task before him in his judgment of the source material.

MARQUIS JAMES.

With the discovery of over twelve hundred Jackson letters the material which was to the hand of the earnest young biographer was infinitely greater than that from which Parton made his monumental life story or Bassett his scholar's evaluation.

Marquis James, like Parton, sees his hero in the heroic size, for this vast and detailed history of Jackson's days, in its 361 pages of text and almost a hundred of notes, bibliography, and index, leaves him in 1821 when he had retired to the Hermitage after having settled Florida to his own satisfaction. The remainder of that fiery life awaits another or other volumes.

There is nothing of the "popular modern biography" about Mr. James' "Andrew Jackson." The chronicler has no preconceived psychological straitjacket into which he laces his hero. He does not pretend to probe the innermost workings of his hero's mind. He does not look at him, as many popular modern biographers look at their principal characters, through a telescope turned backwards. He is not interested in showing how mean or how overrated the great man actually was. Mr. James impartially marshals the evidence, judiciously presents it, and allows his readers to do what the readers of all really good biographies are called upon to do, cooperate with the biographer in knowing the human being whom he is depicting.

"Andrew Jackson" lacks something of the fire and excitement of "The Raven," for the obvious reason that the tempo of one volume is naturally quicker than the tempo of two. And Mr. James is, to my mind, more restrained, more serious, more impressed, shall we say, by his task in "Andrew Jackson" than he was in "The Raven." Certainly no one could ask for more meticulous documentation than is to be found in "Andrew Jackson." Although the text is not halted by the tiny numbers referring to the notes at the end of the book; the explanatory notes are as complete as they ever were in one of the most annotated of the old fashioned volumes.

In a book just published on "American Presidents," by Thomas F. Moran (Crowell), Viscount Bryce is quoted as saying that "Jackson himself was something of both politician and soldier, a strong character, but a narrow and uncultivated intellect." Mr. Moran concludes: "This judgment, while true in the main, is, like most generalizations, too sweeping and indiscriminating to be wholly just." It is with the man who won the fancy of the American people to such an extent that he was elected President, not as the actual President that Mr. James deals with in this volume of his biography, but his hero is much less of a politician than a soldier, and a soldier quick to draw sword or pistol not only in the preservation of his country but in the almost fanatical guarding of the fair name of the woman whom he unwittingly married before she was legally divorced. And, far from a narrow and uncultivated intellect, Andrew Jackson in Mr. James' pages is a man of unusual mental brilliance and native sagacity, as well as a scrupulously honest man.

New Orleans was the scene of one of the great military dramas of Andrew Jackson's life, and it is especially interesting that there should have been published last month one of the first descriptive books on that enchanting old city. "New Orleans" (Lippincott) is written by Nathaniel Cortlandt Curtis and is illustrated with seventy records of the unforgettable beauties and memorable historic spots of one of America's two or three wholly individual cities. This time last year I was breathing that soft magnolia and sea scented air and seeing for the first time the most beautiful old square between our two oceans, and if my typewriter were only winged I should be at this moment again flying southward to sit in Jackson square, with eyes, I must confess, averted from the equestrian general, but turned in joyous peace toward his background.

A. J. Cronin, after writing his last novel, "Three Loves," went to the Canary islands for a vacation and he recommends the islands to any one who wants a change. He was inspired to lay the main scenes in his forthcoming novel in these fascinating islands.

Meetings and Lectures

Mignon G. Eberhart will talk about plot building at the regular luncheon of the Midland Authors today at the Hotel Sherman.

This morning at 11 o'clock in Kroch's galleries Llewellyn Jones will begin another series of six lectures on current books. Each week three or four important books will be reviewed and the lectures will be followed by questions and discussion.

A symposium on "Poetry and Revolution," based on the recent lecture by Archibald MacLeish at the University of Chicago, will be held tomorrow at 3 o'clock at the John Reed club.

On Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock Dr. Mortimer J. Adler will discuss "The Contribution of Sigmund Freud," under the auspices of the Lower North Community council in the Diana Court salon.

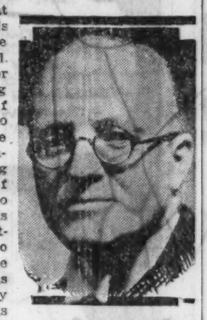
If You Laugh at the English Here's a Book

'England, Their England' from Pen of Scot.

LONDON. — [Special Correspondence.]—Those who like laughing at the English [there are many Englishmen who enjoy this occupation] should make a point of reading A. G. Macdonell's "England, Their England," which at present is all the rage in England. The author is a young Scot of parts, who tells the story of another young Scot of parts, who descends from Scotland to study the English as they truly are. He is bent upon writing a book about them—as Mr. Macdonell has done—and his adventures are beautifully funny. True, he ends by liking the English, as well as laughing at them, so that English enjoyment of the book is explained, but those who have been puzzled at certain English habits will find them delightfully pilloried in "England, Their England."



HUGH WALPOLE.

Besides a new book of short stories, called "All Souls' Night," Hugh Walpole is publishing this spring a privately printed volume of reminiscences entitled "The Apple Trees." These reminiscences are slight and are not connected in the form of a continuous narrative, but they give a picture of the author's childhood and bring him into the pre-war literary world which he found so enchanting.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Walpole will one day bring together his various autobiographical writings into one volume for general consumption; for he has, in writing of himself, a candor which is very unusual and very attractive. But such a book is for the future. The curious should acquire "The Apple Trees" for present consumption. They will find in it the assurance that Mr. Walpole is now a happy and contented Dalesman, who has found the way of life that suits him. In a period of so much egotistical discontent this fact would alone give distinction to "The Apple Trees" as a record.

*

A new book which it is hoped will attract many readers by its freshness and originality is "He Arrived at Dusk." It is an unhackneyed sort of thriller—a combination of ghost story and detective romance. The hero is a detective, and it is he who goes to Northumber land to "lay" the ghost which is terrorizing the whole neighborhood. The book is quick and fure in all its effects, and very readable. It is the work of a writer—Miss R. C. Ashby—who has already published half a dozen mystery books and whose work should be watched by all whose taste for such books is not yet dulled. Certainly, "He Arrived at Dusk" gives the genre a new twist.

*

Winston Churchill—the English Mr. Churchill—having practically completed the "Life" of his great ancestor, the duke of Marlborough, and having, apparently, made up his mind that his career as a political leader has closed, is going to write an elaborate "History of the English Speaking People," which will be published in several big volumes. This is a work which Mr. Churchill is peculiarly fited to write. He has the grand historical manner, the knowledge, and the intellectual grasp to make such a history of the first importance. But he will take some time to write the book, and we must not expect it yet awhile.

BRIEF REVIEWS

BY M. D.

Elizabeth Moorhead, author of several other books, for a long time a teacher of English and composition in college, writes in "The Forbidden Tree" [Bobbs-Merrill] of the spiritual, moral, and intellectual fumblings of a young instructor in a co-educational school. Charles Maynard, the hero, is at the opening of the book a young professor passionately interested in his teaching and research. He is uncertain about his love for Janet Ware, a loyal and rather plain colleague in the department. He meets a strange and psychopathic girl, Mirella Berger, a student of his, and enters into a dangerous relationship with her. Then Fanny Remington, a beautiful wealthy girl, opens up vistas of ambitions and of a new life that completely unbalance the equanimity of his career. In the end he gets hold of himself and begins to see his way clearly out of the spiritual morass.

"The Forbidden Tree" is an average good book. The plot is well designed and has suspense, the characters are just real enough to make the book seem worth going on with, the style is competent and workmanlike and the point of view of the author neither original nor compelling but sensible and sensitive.

PITTSBURGH BEATS CUBS, 6-5; SOX LOSE, 5-2

VAUGHAN HITS HOME RUN WITH ONE ON IN 8TH

Wrecks Nelson's Record.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 31.—Floyd Vaughan's homer with two out and one on in the eighth inning today gave the Pittsburgh Pirates their first victory in five games against the Chicago Cubs. The score was Pittsburgh, 6; Chicago, 5.

Beryl Richmond had spotted the Pirates four runs in the first inning and from then on the Pittsburghers had not been able to get a run across until Vaughan nicked Lynn Nelson with the aforementioned homer, following a walk to Suhr. In the meantime the Cubs had assumed the lead by virtue of a three run attack on Hoyt in the fifth inning.

Only three men faced Nelson in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, and when he put out P. Waner and Traynor in the eighth it appeared as if another Cub triumph was inevitable. Then came the Vaughan act.

The two teams will play their next to last game on the Pacific coast tomorrow. Yerkes will start against Meine.

Cub Lead Fades.

The Cubs stepped out in the first inning to make themselves a run, but it faded away immediately in the face of a four run bombardment of Mr. Richmond. Bill Herman's single, an out, and a double off the left center field fence by Babe Herman gave the Cubs their run.

Woody Jensen, subbing for Lloyd Waner, who has a lame leg, belted an extensive home run into the right center bleachers as a starter for the Pirates. Richmond got Lindstrom out, but P. Waner and Traynor doubled to the far corner of left field, and Suhr doubled to right. Vaughan was content with a mere single. All these netted the Pirates four runs. Piet ended the inning by grounding into a double play.

The Cubs made another run in the third, which, like the first, was steered home by a Babe Herman double. Bill Herman walked and English was called out on strikes. Demaree beat out an infield hit, Bill Herman stopping at second. The Babe then knocked double No. 2, this one to left field, Bill Herman scoring and Demaree stopping at third. Stephenson was called out on strikes, but the bases were full after Hendrick was hit by a pitched ball. The big threat ended when Hartnett grounded out to Traynor.

Cubs Regain Lead.

Three runs gave the Cubs the lead in the first half of the fifth. English walked, but Demaree flied to Lindstrom and Babe Herman forced English. The Babe took second on a passed ball and scored on Stephenson's single to left, after which Hendrick walked. Hartnett singled to left, sending Stevie in with the tying run and putting Hendrick on third. Jurges singled over second, Hendrick scoring and Hartnett stopping at second. McCarron batted for Richmond and was thrown out by Hoyt.

Only nine men faced Nelson in the first three innings he worked and in his fourth inning, the eighth, P. Waner tapped to Bill Herman and Traynor was called out on strikes. Suhr walked, however, and trotted home ahead of Vaughan, who drove a homer over the right field wall.

Smith relieved Hoyt at the outset of the ninth. English popped to Piet and Demaree flied to Jensen. Babe Herman fanned to end the contest.

VEECK RETURNS; WILL COUNT ON DEMAREE, BARTON

George Stainback, star young outfielder of the Los Angeles Coast league club, will not be used this year to fill the place of the injured Kiki Cuyler, President William Veeck of the Cubs said yesterday.

"I don't think we'll need Stainback until 1934 anyway," Veeck said. "Frank Demaree will get his chance to make good as a regular outfilder and so will Vince Barton."

Mr. Veeck arrived yesterday from the coast along with John Heydler, president of the National league.

NEW MAROON CHIEFS GET TOGETHER

Kellogg Leaves Purdue to Take Post at Lehigh

Lafayette, Ind., March 31.—[Special.]—N. A. Kellogg, director of athletics and physical education at Purdue university since 1919, today resigned to accept a position as athletic director at Lehigh university of Bethlehem, Pa. It is understood that Kellogg will receive a substantial increase in salary. He expects to take over his new duties on May 1.

N. A. KELLOGG.

"I sincerely regret leaving Purdue, for I have formed the pleasantest of associations here and in the Big Ten," Kellogg said today, "but the opportunities offered at Lehigh are such that I could not afford to ignore the offer."

Kellogg entered the University of Michigan in 1900 and won a reputation as a distance runner. He won the Big Ten two mile championship for four straight years, from 1901 to 1904, and was captain of the team in 1904. He was graduated from Michigan in 1904.

Immediately after graduation he became director of athletics, coach, and professor of languages at the Marion Military institute, Marion, Ala. In 1906 he became director of athletics at the Northern Illinois State Teachers' college, De Kalb, Ill. In 1910 he was called to the University of Iowa as athletic director. In 1917 he enisted in the army and served for twenty-eight months.

Shaughnessy Is Pleased to Meet You, U. of C. Men

The new deal in University of Chicago athletics, designed in part to keep the Maroons from being forgotten men, made its informal bow to the Midway campus yesterday in the persons of Clark D. Shaughnessy and Thomas Nelson Metcalf.

Jointly, the two will succeed A. A. Stagg, the former as football coach and the latter as athletic director, and for an indefinite number of seasons will serve Maroon athletics as Stagg did for forty-one years.

Shaughnessy, coming north after 18 years of coaching in New Orleans, met newspaper men, photographers, members of the athletic staff and the university administration and various of his future football players and impressed them all with his amiability and general poise.

He Lauds "the Boys."

"I have nothing to do but be sociable today," he told photographers. "They won't let me start practice till Monday." And after 25 shots had been taken, one of them in a Maroon coaching jacket made for his coming, he remarked, "I guess that will qualify me."

The new coach, a tanned six footer with a ready smile, has a quiet voice and a habit of making mild self-depredatory remarks. "I have no preconceived plan for spring practice," he told reporters. "I'll certainly find out about my material in a hurry, though. I'll probably learn more than the boys do. I've met some of the players. They look like mighty fine boys. You can't tell much by just looking at them, but they seem to have intelligence and enthusiasm, and those qualities go a long way in football."

Changes Freshman Plan.

"Pete Zimmer, the captain, seems to be a magnificent boy. I make snap judgments, and sometimes I'm wrong, but I'm much mistaken if he's not a born leader. I've seen lots of football players and I've seen about 2,000 coaches come and go down south, and the more I see the more I am convinced that morale and intangible factors like courage and the will to keep in condition are terribly important. I've seen some wonderful squads disintegrate because of friction and jealousy. A good leader can prevent that."

If the size of his freshman squad next fall will permit it, Shaughnessy said, he will drill the first and second best freshman groups in the fundamentals of the game and use the third string group, possibly augmented with third string varsity men, to illustrate opponents' plays. "The varsity men must see the opponents' plays," he said with conviction, "but I don't believe that freshmen can learn the game by rehearsing Michigan plays one week and Purdue plays the next. And if I were a player assigned to the 'checker' squad to illustrate opponents' plays I'd welcome the chance to get into action and show what I had."

Shaughnessy disclosed that he has seldom had more than sixteen or eighteen usable men to work with at Loyola of New Orleans and that he had few more than that while at Tulane.

Just Practice Monday.

Reminiscing about his own athletic career at Minnesota, Shaughnessy recalled the Chicago-Minnesota game at Minneapolis in 1913, which the Maroons won on their way to the championship. "That rascal Norgren beat us with his punting," Shaughnessy said, "Norgren and the old Statue of Liberty play. Pete Russell, the Chicago quarter back, was a great football player. He was a slender fellow, too, at least he felt slender.

"I was just a big, playful, rough kid when I entered Minnesota. My feet were too big for track, and I ran behind Ira Davenport of Chicago, in that sport. In basketball I was told to stay in the back court, not to let the crowds see how badly I shot, and just to take the ball away from the other side and throw it to one of our forwards."

Paddock Named Business Manager of Newspaper

Long Beach, Cal., March 31.—(AP)—Charles W. Paddock, former sprint champion, has been made business manager of the Long Beach Press-Telegram. The paper announced today that Paddock will assume the duties as successor of William H. Hoskins, who died March 15.

GALLANT SIR CINCH IN AGUA RACE TOMORROW

At Least Rival Owners Say So.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, March 31.—(AP)—"Beat the favorite!" was the cry heard round about Tia Juana valley tonight as the crowd began to gather for the running of the Agua Caliente handicap Sunday.

The shout was as old as the border classic itself, and only four times in 13 years has the favorite won. But never before has there been such a short priced favorite as Gallant Sir, the big 4 year old colt from Norman W. Church's barn. The son of Sir Galahad III. was quoted at 1 to 5 to win and nothing offered in the place and show position. He has beaten everything in the race in preparatory jaunts at distances from 6 furlongs to more than a mile.

Rival Owners Give Up.

Even the owners and trainers of the other nominees, with two exceptions, told any one who asked that their thoroughbreds had no chance to lead the big horse home in the mile and a quarter race for an added purse of $25,000.

The exceptions, however, were notable. One was Bill Hartman, whose Oak Tree stable nominated Bahamas, a 4 year old gelding. Winner of the Agua Caliente Derby last year, Bahamas went confidently into the 1932 handicap, only to break his heart in a back stretch duel with Phar Lap, superhorse from the antipodes, which went on to win as he pleased.

Hartman said, "Gallant Sir will know he has been in a race if he beats Bahamas."

While not as confident, A. A. Baroni, who will send two horses to the post, Wirt G. Bowman, an honest plater, and Waylayer, which has a giant killing or two to his credit, would not concede the race to anybody.

Pillow Fight Out.

Pillow Fight, the New Zealand successor to Phar Lap, bred by Night Raid, the red terror's sire, was not considered a starter tonight. D. J. Davis brought both horses to America. Pillow Fight did not train well.

The probable starters and weights:

Gallant Sir [Norman Church]	124
Bahamas [Oak Tree stable]	118
Whizz James [Norman Church]	115

PHIL BALL PLANS BEER IN PARK ON OPENING DAY

St. Louis, Mo., March 31.—(AP)—If the plans of Phil Ball, president of the St. Louis Browns, go through, beer will be on sale at Sportsman's park on the opening day of the baseball season.

"I hope to put beer on sale at booths under the grand stands," Ball said today.

The Cardinals have taken no action, believing that the matter should be considered as a league affair.

Cambridge Crew Is Favorite Over Oxford Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PUTNEY-ON-THAMES, England, March 31.—The colors of Cambridge and Oxford will fly over the Thames river again tomorrow when the crews meet in the 85th renewal of the traditional classic which began in 1929. The race is scheduled to start shortly after 3:30 o'clock [9:30 a. m. central standard time] on the flood tide.

Only once since the war has Oxford triumphed over its ancient rival. That was in 1923. Cambridge has won 43 of the 84 races, while Oxford won 40 and one ended in a dead heat.

Another triumph for Cambridge is predicted because of its brilliant record thus far this season. It has scored nine consecutive triumphs.

The crews went through paddling exercises today. Tomorrow morning another short drill will end their long training grind for the event. The course, from Putney bridge to Mortlake brewery, is four and one-quarter miles long.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Adolph Heuser beat Harry Ebbets [10]; Art Laskey beat Hans Birkie [8]; Bep Van Klaveren beat Jimmy Phillips [8]; Abe Feldman stopped Al White [5]; Mike Belloise and Allan Headley drew [4].

At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Tracey Cox beat Tony Falco [10]; Eddie Hebner beat Steve O'Malley [6].

At Detroit, Mich.—Louis Mays beat Johnny Reguzzoni [10].

PICK YOUR DERBY WINNER! 3 TO GET LEXINGTON TEST

Mr. Sanders Writes of Ham and Biscuits at Louisville.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The folks who are trying to pick the winner of the Kentucky Derby will not have to wait long to discover which of the three leading western candidates—Boilermaker, Red Whisk and Head Play—is the best colt.

These budding flyers will come together at least once and possibly twice during the spring racing which opens at the Lexington track one week from today.

Red Whisk has done all his training at the Lexington course and has electrified the railbirds with his early season speed. Boilermaker has trained over the track on Col. Edward R. Bradley's farm near Lexington. Head Play is at Churchill Downs after wintering at Nashville, but his trainer, Bill Crump, announced yesterday he would be sent to Lexington for a couple of engagements.

We can soon expect the annual Derby selection of old Screw Sanders, the sage of Churchill Downs. He has reached the meditative stage which leads on to the eventual pick, be it good or bad. If you don't think so just read the following lines from his pen:

"Hoof beats. We hear 'em at Churchill Downs these typical spring mornings. Just enough tinge in the air to create an appetite for horse and the inner man. The blue smoke curls out over the stable chimney tops and the sizzling country ham sends out odors which tickle the salivary glands to the state of ecstasy. Big biscuits, fresh eggs and coffee waiting for the stable help who arise with the lark to put the thoroughbreds through their morning gallops."

The odor from the Kentucky ham may be missing, but about everything else in the Churchill Downs turf scene can be found at Hawthorne and Sportsman's park these mornings, where the horses are arriving from the winter racing centers.

A dozen carloads have come from New Orleans, Havana and Hialeah Park.

William Schmidt's Superior stable horses, which will come from Florida within the next day or two, will not take up quarters at either of the Chicago courses. Instead they will be shipped to Mr. Schmidt's farm near Winona, Ill., to be freshened up after their long winter campaign which took them first to New Orleans, later to Cuba, and which wound up in Florida. The horses will not be put back into training until June 1 at Arlington Park.

The Hawthorne track will be the central turf training grounds in Chicago most of the season. The track will be thrown open on Monday for the first training gallops and will be kept in good condition until the summer Hawthorne season which extends through the month of August.

Scores of horses that have wintered on farms surrounding Chicago will be moved into the stables at Hawthorne next week.

HANDICAPPER IS ROBBED OF $50 BUT RECOVERS $46

Emil Thiry, 525 Barry avenue, race track handicapper and former manager of prize fighters, complained to Sheffield avenue police last night that he had been robbed.

"I was in Hershie Miller's handbook in the basement of the Bentmere hotel, 601 Diversey parkway," he related. "I went to the first floor and was robbed of $50 by a man with a gun."

An hour or so later investigators reached Thiry. "I've got all my money back but $4," he revealed. "I understand Miller and his bodyguard caught the man."

At the hotel a man who said he was Thomas Murphy, Miller's guard, confirmed the story. He and Miller caught the robber, he said, beat him up and recovered most of Thiry's money. The thief was allowed to go, however, and police are seeking him.

300 TRACK STARS COMPETE TODAY IN ARMOUR MEET

Conference Champions Head Entry Lists.

Three hundred athletes will assemble tonight at the University of Chicago fieldhouse for the last, and what may be the best, indoor track and field meet of the local season. The occasion is the fifth annual Armour Tech relays, and the field, including entrants from 32 colleges and universities of the central states, represents the largest turnout the Armour meet has attracted.

IVAN FUQUA.

Dean Woolsey, Big Ten champion miler from Illinois; Charles Hornbostel, Indiana's record breaking half miler; Ike Lenning of Illinois, record holder of the Big Ten pole vault; Ivan Fuqua of Indiana, Big Ten 440 champion, and Murphy, Notre Dame high jumper, are among the notable performers entered.

Preliminaries at 4 P. M.

Preliminaries will begin at 4 o'clock this afternoon and finals will start at 7:30. Ten individual events are scheduled in both the university and college classes. Relays for university teams will be run at the one and two mile distances and for college teams at the sprint medley, mile and two mile. Meet records in a number of events are likely to fall.

The entries in the university class include six Big Ten teams, headed by Indiana, Big Ten title holders. University teams are Pittsburgh, Indiana, Chicago, Purdue, Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan State, Grinnell, Notre Dame, and Marquette. In the college division the entrants are Armour, Bradley, De Pauw, Illinois State Normal, Elmhurst, Knox, Monmouth, Wheaton, North Central, Beloit, Western State Teachers, Chicago Normal, Butler, La Grange Junior college, Crane, Kansas State Teachers, Thornton Junior, Loyola, Lake Forest, and Hillsdale.

Schwartz to Compete.

Leading competitors in the college division include Schwartz of Western State Teachers, who won the central intercollegiate mile event; Mullins of Western State Teachers in the 440, and Davis of Hillsdale in the shotput.

Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette university's outstanding sprinter, will not compete. Metcalfe has appeared in so many meets during the last few weeks that Coach Conrad M. Jennings has ordered him to take a rest.

OAK PARK HOLDS RELAYS

Thirty-two schools in the northern part of the state will seek the track and field championship in the third annual Oak Park High school relays at the Oak Park fieldhouse today. The schools will be represented by more than 500 athletes. Competition in the special events will open the program at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Preliminaries in other events will start at 2:30 in the afternoon with the finals scheduled to start at 7:30 tonight.

Rated on top of the list for the title are Oak Park, Suburban league, and Senn, member of the north section of the Chicago Public High School league. Holder of the state outdoor championship for the last three years, Oak Park has not been defeated in meets this season. It recently won the Suburban league championship.

Senn, strong in the field events, captured the Chicago Public High School league junior and senior title two weeks ago.

A strong bid for the team title will be made by New Trier, Naperville, Glenbard, and Maine Township of Des Plaines. Downstate schools entered in the meet include Galesburg, Pontiac, Rockford, Ottawa, and Illinois School for the Deaf (Jacksonville). Nearly all schools in the suburbs will be represented, while in addition to Senn there will be seven city teams in the meet.

A team champion will be determined for the first time this year. In former meets no winner of the team title was officially declared. Dr. J. W. Monilaw, University High, Chicago, will be starter, while Tom Jones, University of Wisconsin track coach, will referee.

SHIFTED LINEUP FAILS TO AWE SEAL BATTERS

Minor Leaguers Get Four in Sixth.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Francisco, Cal., March 31.—For the final spring showing in the Bay district today Manager Lew Fonseca presented a revised White Sox layout, but the reallocations failed to have the desired effect. The faults that glared in the two previous games were still present, so the major leaguers tumbled before the Seals again, this time by 5 to 2. That gave the Chicagoans a record of 5 victories, 3 losses, and 2 ties in their now completed program against Coast league opposition.

The shakeup involved the removal of Red Kress from right field to shortstop, the placing of Evar Swanson in right, and the benching of Luke Appling. Luke had been painfully erratic in his fielding, so will have to sit in the dugout until such time as Kress may prove that he can or cannot handle the short duties as he once did for the Browns. He didn't do so well today, kicking a sure fire double play ball that decided the game in the sixth.

Pitching Not So Bad.

The Sox pitching this afternoon was at least as good as expected. Johnny Wilson, a rookie who probably is destined for another year in the minors, was started because Fonseca figured one of the kids might do what his regulars had failed to do. Wilson breezed through five innings on four hits and one run, but in the sixth weakened a bit. A few hits were crowded together in this inning and, just when the going was toughest for the youngster, Kress committed his error. Without this Wilson would have emerged with two instead of four runs against him. After Wilson's departure Joe Heving took charge and pitched two perfect innings.

Because of the sorry work done during the last four days hereabouts, Fonseca this evening informed his boys that they'll have to take a few hours of training tomorrow. They went back to their Pasadena camp tonight and the original plan was to permit them to loaf prior to a getaway game against the Pasadena Merchants on Sunday.

Simmons Gets a Double.

Simmons' bat was responsible for giving the Sox a 1 to 0 lead in the second inning. He led off with a double to left center off Zinn. Kress drove him home with a single to right. After Swanson had popped out Kress stole second, but Dykes and Berry went out on strikes.

A couple of the Seals hit Wilson in the third, but the hits would have been harmless if Catcher Berry hadn't fallen for the old double steal racket. Zinn opened the attack with a triple past Fonseca. Wilson threw out Donovan and on De Maggio's roller to Dykes Zinn was caught at the plate. Garibaldi's single to right shoved De Maggio to third. On a double steal De Maggio broke for the plate as soon as the ball was pitched and would have been trapped if Berry had held the ball. But he made a belated throw to second and the run was across the plate before the ball was returned.

Sox Lead—for a While.

A two base error on Simmons' grounder and Swanson's single put the major leaguers ahead by 2 to 1 in the sixth, but the home club got busy in its half. This four run spurt started with a double, two singles, and a pass. Then, with one run home and the bases filled, Kress failed to come up with that double play ball and the blunder let in two men.

A good drive off Simmons' bat would have put the Sox right back in the game in the seventh, but it didn't appear. Appling batted for Wilson and singled with one out. Hayes was set down, but Haas walked and retired to let Funk run for him. Fonseca's scratch single through short filled the bases. Then Simmons fanned.

The catcher dropped the third strike and didn't throw to first, so Simmons went there and Appling crossed the plate. The Seals argued about this and finally convinced Umpire Pinelli that instead of throwing to first the local catcher had stepped on the plate to end the inning with a force play.

INDOOR TENNIS TOURNEY GOES TO SEMI-FINALS

Favorites Remain in Battle for Titles.

Play in the western indoor tennis championship tournament goes into the semi-final rounds in most divisions at the Broadway armory this afternoon and evening. The finals in all events, men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles, and mixed doubles, are scheduled for tomorrow.

Beginning at 1 o'clock this afternoon the four courts at the armory will be busy until late in the evening. Most of the matches will be in the quarter and semifinal rounds, although the semi-finals of the men's singles, where the entry list was unusually large, will not be held until Sunday morning or afternoon.

Mrs. Hack on Schedule.

Among the women players who will see action in the singles or mixed doubles today are Mrs. Dorothy Hack, who is favored to win; Catherine Wolf of Indianapolis, and Jackie Ayer whose play so far in the tournament promises to force Mrs. Hack into a real battle for honors.

Eugene Quinn, José Alonzo, William Parkhill, and Earl Tetting, Northwestern university players, loom as strong contenders for the men's singles title. Although Tetting was not seeded, his play in the earlier rounds makes him the dark horse of the tournament.

In the men's doubles the field is still wide open, with a number of good teams remaining, among which are Quinn and Gallond, O'Connell and Shoff, Tetting and Sink, Welker and Futterer, and Alonzo and Tourtellot.

Strength in Mixed Doubles.

The mixed double presents three strong, evenly matched teams in Dorothy Hack and Charles Welker, Jackie Ayer and Eugene Quinn, and Catherine Wolf and David Krieger.

Approximately 60 matches remain to be played before the championships are all decided, due to the unusually large entry list.

The tournament is under the sanction of the Western Lawn Tennis association.

Artillery Polo Teams Clash in Semi-Final

A semi-final game between the 124th and 122d Field Artillery in class D and one between the Sixth Corps Area high goal team and the Chicago Riding club class B entry comprises the polo program tonight at the 124th Field Artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street.

The Chicago Riding club trio of Herb Lorber, Frank Bering, and Jim Hannah will represent the middle west in the national championship tourney at the armory later in the month.

Maj. C. C. Smith and his team, Capt. C. A. Wilkinson and Capt. C. E. Davis of the Sixth Corps Area also will compete in the national meet.

All three of these stars are five goal players, giving their team a total strength of 15 goals and qualifying them among class A teams. Lorber of the Riding club also is handicapped at five goals, and Bering and Hannah at four goals each.

The winner of the game between the two artillery teams will meet the winner of next Wednesday night's semi-final game between the Chicago Riding club and University of Chicago D teams.

HONOR MEMORY OF KNUTE ROCKNE AT NOTRE DAME

South Bend, Ind., March 31.—[Special.]—Notre Dame today observed the second anniversary of the death of Knute K. Rockne, its football coach, who died in an airplane crash in Kansas. More than 1,000 students gathered at the campus church to attend the requiem high mass. After the services hundreds, led by the university monogram club, went to Highland cemetery, where the Rev. M. A. Mulcaire said a prayer at the grave.

The Rev. James Connerton sang the mass. He replaced the Rev. Charles O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university, who was taken ill suddenly and forced to go to bed with a severe cold. Coaches, varsity letter men and students prayed silently at the grave. At the entrance of the campus a flag was at half mast throughout the day. Rockne was killed on March 31, 1931.

SAVOLDI DUE TOMORROW FOR LONDOS MATCH

Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame university football player, will arrive tomorrow for his wrestling match with Jim Londos at the Chicago Stadium Friday night. Savoldi, who has been training in the east for several weeks, will complete his preparation at Trafton's gymnasium.

Savoldi has requested that the time limit on the match be extended from an hour to an hour and a half and Matchmaker Joe Coffey will appear before the Illinois athletic commission Monday to ask that the request be granted.

George Zaharias and Jim McMillen will meet in the feature supporting match. Others on the card are Abe Coleman, Joe Stecher and Gino Garibaldi.

Have You a House to Let? Martins Here!

BY BOB BECKER.

The purple martin houses in Chicagoland should be dusted out, the exteriors painted and the "free rent signs" put in position now. The first bulletins on the migrations of these welcome birds tell of their arrival in southern Illinois several days ago. After yesterday's warm weather the martin "scouts" must have hustled through northern Illinois looking over the house situation. Mild weather and southerly winds invariably bring migrants up from the south during the spring months.

P. B. Wilson of Marion, Ill., says that the first scouts of the purple martin migration checked into Marion March 19. This town is in the extreme southern part of Illinois, near Carbondale. A few of the martins coming north through Indiana, however, made better time on their trip. Henry Hildebrand reports the first martin on his farm on March 21. He says that he has had two martin houses occupied for ten seasons and in normal seasons the birds arrive the first week in April.

He's Not Fooling!

This is April Fool's day but Charles Molthrop, Chicago attorney, swears that there is no fooling involved in his report that a bird fan in Downers Grove attracted martin colonies by decorating the nesting boxes with small glass mirrors and bits of metal. We have heard of many tricks being employed to draw martins to certain locations, even to the extreme of moving nesting birds at night into new houses. But this mirror and tin stunt is in a class by itself.

Mr. Molthrop writes: "Last year I had occasion to call at the home of a man living near Downers Grove and inquired how he attracted two colonies of martins to his yard. He said that he had put up his nesting boxes and then for two years had no luck in getting birds. This friend was of the same opinion as I that martins were attracted by water. He said that he was told to put some little mirrors or pieces of bright metal upon the roofs and sides of the nesting boxes and that if this were done the birds would take the houses.

Presto! Houses Are Filled.

"He did this, collecting all the tiny mirrors he could find and fastening them upon the houses as directed. He told me that no sooner had he done this than his houses were filled." Here is a new idea in attracting martins. It should be fun for bird fans to test it.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Sweeps Second Series of A. A. U. Races.

New York, March 31.—(AP)—The speedy Spence brothers from Brooklyn, who have had almost a monopoly on the best performances so far, and chunky George Fissler gave the home club a clean sweep of the three events of the National A. A. U. men's swimming championships, held tonight in the New York Athletic club pool.

Fissler, something of a dark horse in a field which included Jack Medica, the 18 year old Seattle sensation, the even younger Ralph Flanagan from Miami, and Ted Wiget, Stanford university ace, swam to an easy victory in the 220 yard free style.

Leonard Spence captured the 220 yard breast stroke as expected, missing his own world record time by some two seconds. Then these two joined up with John Howland, former Yale star, and Walter Spence, elder brother of Leonard, to give the New York A. C. first team a rather hollow victory over the club's second quartet in the 440 yard relay.

No Records Broken.

Leonard Spence's time of 2:45.9 in the breast stroke was not far from his own world record of 2:44 and the relay time of 3:38.1 also was good.

Louis Lemark of the University of Michigan made a strong finish to take third place from Don Horn of Northwestern in the breast stroke. Horn inhaled a mouthful of water in the dash for the finish and lost a good chance to take second.

The victory of Fissler, who never before had swum a 220 under 2:16 in competition, and the failure of Medica to finish better than third behind the New Yorker and Wiget provided the two big surprises of the evening. The big Seattle youngster appeared nervous and was far from the form he has shown on the Pacific coast.

Three More Events.

Three more events are to be contested tomorrow on the final day of the three-day carnival. Trials in the 500 yard free style, the 300 yard medley relay, and the high board fancy diving will be held in the afternoon with the finals at night.

Summaries:

220 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by George Fissler, New York A. C.; Ted Wiget, Stanford university, second; Jack Medica, Washington A. C., Seattle, third; Ralph Flanagan, Miami, Fla., fourth. Time, 2:13.6.

220 YARD BREAST STROKE—Won by Leonard Spence, New York A. C.; Walter Savell, Yale, second; Louis Lemark, University of Michigan, third; Donald Horn, Northwestern university, fourth. Time, 2:45.9.

The show at the Logan Square auditorium Monday was completed last night. Jack Robinson and Jack Delmar, local heavyweights, are to meet in a six round bout. Four round matches are Steve Selgrat vs. ... b Stone, George Shrosbree vs. Ted Trocke, Art Donovan vs. George Engel, Eddie Rayford vs. Karl Rosen, Jackie Collins vs. Duke Calloway, and Stanley Neil vs. Jack Partir.

Joe Lipp, Wilfrid Smith, and Al Krause are listed as timekeepers.

Among other officials are the following: Physicians: Thomas L. Dwyer, William Rothman, E. H. Rategan, and James V. Russell; announcers, M. Price Jones, Leonard Sterling, Sam Abruscato, Douglas Warnes, and William Kerwin; director of bouts, Harry Berz.

The committee reinstated Maurice Wolff, A. A. U. inspector. He was suspended last Friday when it was thought that he had violated a National A. A. U. rule.

Max Baer, California heavyweight, is en route to New York for his 15 round contest there with Max Schmeling on June 1. His first stop will be Denver, Colo., where he is to box an exhibition. He is due in Chicago shortly afterward to drill a week. Baer has a slightly wrenched neck muscle.

CHICAGO QUINTET TIES FOR NINTH IN A. B. C. MEET

Columbus, O., March 31.—[Special.] The Olive Can five of the Chicago Classic league topped the 28 out of town lineups which rolled in the American Bowling Congress tournament tonight and tied for ninth place with the P. M. Kellys, another Chicago quintet. The Olive Cans totaled 2,881.

The Classic league entry started poorly with 918, followed with 1,006 and wound up with 957. Freddie Hoffman topped the squad with a 604 while Mike Marinello backed him up with 585. Louis Wolsieffer, anchor man, scored only 155 in the final game, preventing the Chicagoans from taking a higher berth.

Train and auto accidents kept two lineups from tonight's competition. Van Dam Cigars of Grand Rapids lost the services of three men in an automobile accident and as many members of the Collinswood Shale and Bricks, Cleveland, were struck by a train. Both accidents occurred near here.

A., 19 South La Salle street, last night. Bob Garrigan, also a member of the Purple wrestling squad, survived the quarter finals in the 155 pound division. The semi-finals will start at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, with the finals at 8 o'clock tonight.

In the heavyweight class Ed Krum, University of Illinois, and Osley Sannooke, a full blooded Indian, are outstanding. Sannooke is a Chicago taxi driver and weighs 350 pounds. In his quarter final bout Sannooke defeated Sarge Hunnington of the 12th field artillery.

C. H. Andrews Again Named to Head Hickory Hills Golf Club

Clyde H. Andrews was reëlected president of the Hickory Hills Golf club at the annual meeting yesterday. James S. Armstrong was chosen vice president, succeeding James A. Greenlee.

Everest C. Visk was named secretary. The office formerly was held by his father, Edward J. Visk, who was killed in an automobile accident recently. Edward Levi was elected treasurer. R. H. Smith, James Downey, and T. T. Turek were named trustees.

Al Bluhm yesterday was appointed professional at forest preserve golf courses by the board of county commissioners. Bluhm, who was at Big Oaks for the last three years, will have charge at Edgebrook, Northwestern, Indian boundary, and Palos park.

Emmett Whealan, president of the county board, announced that improvements will be made where necessary, that courses will be kept in condition, and playing rates lowered. The forest preserve courses are expected to be opened April 15.

Bluhm started his golf career as a caddy at Ridgemoor and Glen View, and became professional at Edgebrook in 1923. He remained there until 1930, when he went to Big Oaks.

The Evanston Community Recreation association, which maintains the Community golf links along the right of way of the drainage canal in Evanston and Wilmette, announces that during this month and May it will experiment on a monthly charge system for persons who desire to have fuller privileges than offered by the daily fee plan. During April $5 will entitle a player to full privileges. During May the charge will be $6.

In addition to unlimited playing privileges, the holder of a monthly ticket will be entitled to free locker space in the clubhouse and also can reserve playing time by telephoning to the starter's house. Managing Director McGoodwin announces that during the next week several sand traps will be constructed along the banks of the canal in order to check balls from falling into the canal.

What the maid, the matron, and the male will wear on the golf course this season will be one of the features of the golf manufacturers' spring show, which will be held in the Lytton building, 14 East Jackson street, on April 6, 6, 7, and 8.

The style shows are scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock each evening except Thursday, when 10 o'clock is opening time. A special showing also will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Harlem plans to open this weekend. Jim Shea will continue as manager, and William Philpot, professional, will again be on the job.

The first exhibition golf match of the season will be played tomorrow at Cog Hill Golf and Country club, when Abe Espinosa, the club's pro, will be paired with Warren Dawson of Green Valley against Art Sweet of Ridgemoor and Gus Novotny of Olympia Fields. The match will start at 1 o'clock. There is no admission charge.

PHAGAN STOPS SISK IN THIRD; TRAMBLIE WINS

Johnny Phagan, former Golden Gloves welterweight champion, stopped Dick Sisk in the third round of the windup bout on the weekly professional boxing program last night at the Cicero stadium. Phagan floored Sisk twice in the second round. The bout was stopped shortly after the third round started when Sisk went down for a nine count.

JOHNNY PHAGAN.

Ray Tramblie, Rockford middleweight, was awarded the decision over Bud Saltis in the six round semi-windup. Jerry Crano knocked out Bobby Vernon in the second round of a four round preliminary bout.

Other results:

Walter Madey beat James Jenkins [4].
Bill Reardon beat Sam Morales [4].
Fred Dolph beat Tod Kelly [4].
Lou Vine beat Fred Miller 4].

BRODAR, PLATAK TO BATTLE FOR HANDBALL TITLE

Jack Brodar of the Illinois Athletic club and Joe Platak, two of Chicago's outstanding handball players, will renew their rivalry in the national championship tournament, which opens at the Lake Shore A. C. Monday.

Brodar has had things his own way until recently, when Platak conquered him for the state title. Brodar gained some measure of vengeance in the Central A. A. U. tournament last week, but it was reported erroneously that Platak had won and the I. A. C. entrant hopes to make his margin in the national play a convincing one.

On the entry list of seventy names are many of the country's outstanding players, including Angelo Trulio of the New York Athletic club, who will defend his singles and doubles championships, and Sam Atcheson of Memphis, Tenn., who recently won his third successive national Y. M. C. A. title.

KROGH DEFEATS LEDEBUHR IN MARIGOLD MATCH

Kaare [Red] Krogh, former University of Chicago wrestler and A. A. U. champion, pinned Fred Ledebuhr with a cradle hold in 25:53 in the main match of a show at the Marigold Gardens last night. Other results:

Fred Kohler threw Ralph Ransom in 31:10.
Tom Rolewicz threw Al Woznica in 19:14.
Jack Zaravich threw Cowboy White in 11:29.
Pete Holtz threw George Johnson in 11:54.

Evangelical Basketball Teams in Final Games

Evangelical Lutheran Athletic association basketball teams will complete their season tomorrow at the Cicero stadium, 19th and 52d avenue. Two undefeated teams, Redeemer and Grace of River Forest, will meet at 4. The other games are: St. Stephen vs. St. James and Grace, Chicago, vs. St. Matthew.

DAMEN SEEKS 3D K. OF C. TITLE AND TIE FOR RECORD

When Damen a ... St. Cyr meet tomorrow afternoon at the 132d regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets, for the championship of the Knights of Columbus basketball league, Damen will be endeavoring to tie the league record.

Damen, which won the championship in 1928 and 1931, will seek its third title. Marquette set the mark with victories in 1924, 1926 and 1927. Damen came close to winning its third championship last year when it led up to the last two minutes of the title game, only to have Bobby Ohlenroth sink two baskets to give Hennepin-Shields the title.

Two other games are on tomorrow's schedule. In the opener at 2:15 o'clock Perez will meet Santa Maria for the consolation championship, while in the second game Setters will meet Quigley for third and fourth places.

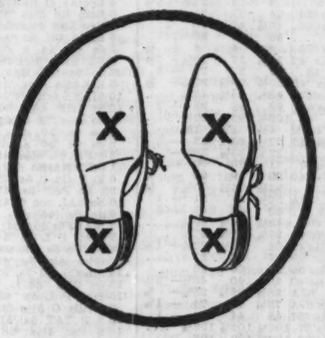
OH, NO, WE ARE NOT!



Two-legged creatures? Not so much as we seem. If it weren't for the four-square support of heel, toe, heel, toe, we'd be like a man on stilts. Pretty shaky! The same applies to radio tubes. They, too, need four-square support to protect their vital elements.

IS YOUR RADIO working as you want it? If not, may we make a pretty safe diagnosis? It's the tubes! The delicate vital elements have become unbalanced — because they were not supported firmly enough to withstand jolts, jars, bumps, and the constant vibrations of the dynamic speaker. In the majority of cases, say radio experts, poor reception can be laid to defective tubes.

Following a fundamental principle of balance, Raytheons have four-pillar support. They are the only tubes on the market with delicate vital elements so firmly supported, because this feature is patented. All other tubes have only two supports.

Provide your radio with surer tone, longer life — with Raytheon 4-pillar Tubes! They cost no more. A Raytheon dealer will gladly demonstrate these superior tubes to you. See him!

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 31.—The critical ate of German social unrest had olent repercussions in the bond mar- st today when state, municipal, and dustrial issues of the Teutonic state lunged downward from 2 to 8 points. The prime factor behind the selling as doubt of the intentions of Chan- llor Hitler's government to meet ayments on German dollar bonds. olders of reich obligations, moreover, onsidered their investments further ndangered by the internal boycott of ewish commerce, which, it is thought, ill make to depress Germany's trade alance below the discouraging figures or January and February.

Municipals Hard Hit.

Among German government bonds o decline the 5½s and 7s. led the rocession with losses of about 4 oints. Sharper recessions were re- orded in the municipal and corpora- ion groups, ranging up to 8 points a Saxon public works 7s. Other izable losses occurred in United Steel Works 6½s, down 3; Silesia Electric ½s, down 3; Berlin 6s, down 3, and others.

The debacle in the German list erved to shake an already unsettled domestic market, and American cor- poration issues were liquidated by both institutions and private invest- ors.

Federal Issues Rise.

The one redeeming performance in the day's dismal show was made by United States government securities. Doubly aided by salutary money con- ditions and growing prospects for sharp reductions in the federal budget, these gilt edged issues forged ahead by large fractions.

Again relentless pressure was brought to bear on public utility issues by traders disturbed by rate cut possibilities.

Officers of Closed Bank Deny Embezzlement Charge

Cleveland, O., March 31.—(AP)—C. Stirling Smith, president, and Dale T. Winslow, auditor, of the closed Stand- ard Trust bank of Cleveland, pleaded not guilty to charges of embezzling $19,000. An attorney for the two for- mer officials entered the plea and add- ed: "We reserve the right to withdraw our plea."

American Tobacco.

I have been contemplating making an investment in American Tobacco stock. Any information on it will be appreciated.—B. R.

American Tobacco company is the leading American cigaret producer. Its principal product is "Lucky Strike" cigarets, followed by "Cremo" cigars, "Tuxedo" smoking tobacco, and "Bull Durham" cigaret tobacco.

Cheaper brands of cigarets benefited in 1932 from the general demand for lower-priced products. Total cigaret production was nine per cent less than in 1931. American Tobacco, however, benefited from the increase in whole- sale prices, which reached their peak of $6.85 a thousand in the latter part of 1931.

This enabled it to report for 1932 net income of $43,267,000, equal to $8.46 per class B and common share, against record net of $46,190,000, or $9.08 per common share, for 1931. Net for 1930 was $43,299,000, against $30,- 183,000 for 1929.

The uninterrupted increase in earn- ings from 1920 through 1931 was due to increased smoking by women and intensive and effective advertising. Ad- vertising has been mostly in news- papers, supplemented by magazines and radio.

On Dec. 31, 1932, current assets were $227,794,000 and current liabilities were $12,422,000. Working capital was $224,503,000, against $199,524,000 the year before.

Funded debt is nominal, totaling $989,000. There are outstanding 526,- 997 shares of $100 par 6 per cent pre- ferred and 4,740,946 shares of com- bined common and class B common $25 par stock. The common has no voting power. Otherwise the two series are identical.

The common and the common B stock pay $1.25 a quarter.

To encourage cigaret smoking and also to discourage smoking of ten- cent brands, wholesale price of Lucky Strikes was reduced to $6 a thousand on Jan. 3, 1933, and further reduced to $5.50 on Feb. 11, 1933. The effects of these reductions will be apparent in 1933 earnings.

Both the preferred and common are high grade stocks.

Net Reserve.

In your articles on insurance com- panies you use the expression "net reserve." What does this phrase mean?—T. S. I.

The net reserve is that amount re- quired by law to be held by legal re- serve companies to assure payment to policyholders of every outstanding contract obligation at maturity. It is merely the accumulation of those por- tions of current premiums which are not used in payment of current death claims and expenses.

LIGGETT DRUG CHAIN OFFERS BANKRUPT PLEA

Concern Calls Rents Main Handicap.

The Louis K. Liggett company and the Liggett Drug Stores, Inc.—Chicago subsidiary of the parent drug store chain—yesterday filed voluntary petitions in bankruptcy in the New York and Chicago district federal courts, respectively. The implication was made in the actions that leases on stores at high rentals were contributing factors.

In the Chicago action Liggett Drug Stores, Inc., listed liabilities at $2,558,000 and assets of $338,000. Federal Judge John P. Barnes ordered the present management to continue the business until April 8, and he set April 7 for a hearing on a motion for the appointment of a receiver.

Owes Parent Company.

Practically all the liabilities are unsecured, the principal item consisting of $2,540,472 in debts due to the Louis K. Liggett company "for loans and advances." Of the assets $195,487 consists of stock in trade, $107,447 is represented by machinery, tools and other equipment, and $30,656 is cash.

In addition to the liabilities stated there is "a undetermined amount of possible liabilities on the terms of unexpired leases for rental for the 34 drug stores operated by the company in Chicago.

The petition filed by the Louis K. Liggett company in New York was pursuant to a resolution adopted on Thursday by the board of directors, which set forth that the company is unable to pay its debts in full and authorized its officers to file a bankruptcy action.

Company Explains Action.

The Louis Liggett company operates 450 retail stores in 35 states. A statement issued by the company follows, in part:

"The Liggett company, like all retail businesses, has suffered serious declines in volume for the last three years, due to the terrific loss in public income and curtailment of spending power. This has been reflected in its sales to the extent that its volume is more than 30 per cent below the sales volume of 1929.

"During this period the company's largest item has been rent, and every effort has been made to secure rent reductions. In addition, the company has had nearly 1,000 sub-tenants, who leased from it such a part of leased locations as were not needed by the company for its retail stores.

"More than half of these sub-tenants have got into financial difficulties, which have resulted in defaults, abandonments and forced readjustments of rent. Under these conditions the losses of the Liggett company have been so great that it could no longer continue."

NAT. CITY BANK TO GIVE FACTS TO STOCKHOLDER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 31.—The National City bank today announced a policy of complete and prompt information to stockholders on all major developments affecting the institution and at the same time disclosed that $30,000,000 had been transferred from surplus account to reserves to make provision for slow and doubtful assets.

The announcement was conveyed in a letter sent to shareholders by James H. Perkins, who recently succeeded Charles E. Mitchell as chairman of the board of directors. Mr. Perkins also enumerated other major decisions taken by the board of directors in the last month. One was the plan to divorce the security affiliate of the bank, which was announced on March 7. In this connection Mr. Perkins said that a complete separation of operative personnel had already been accomplished. Another step was the reduction in the bank's dividend from 50 cents quarterly to 25 cents quarterly, also voted on March 7.

EDISON, PUBLIC SERVICE VOTE USUAL DIVIDENDS; END RUMORS OF CUTS

The regular quarterly dividends have been authorized by the Commonwealth Edison company and the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, according to announcement made yesterday.

The Edison directors voted a dividend of $1.25 to stockholders of record April 15. The dividend will be paid May 1. The action maintains the $5 annual rate which has been in force since the new management took charge last July. The Public Service board continued the $3 annual rate on the $100 par and the no par common shares by voting quarterly payments of 75 cents. The usual payments of $1.50 on the 6 per cent preferred and $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred were also authorized. All are payable May 1 to stock of record April 15.

The action of the Edison board squelched reports that a cut was coming, which followed the decline in the stock Thursday. Despite the action, however, the stock showed further weakness on the Chicago exchange yesterday. After selling down to $50 it rallied to $51.50 on news of the dividend, a net loss of $3.50 for the day. Since Wednesday's close the stock has lost $8.50.

Trade Reviews Find Outlook Much Brighter

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 31. — The trade reviews of the week report seasonal gains with retail and wholesale activities greatly improved. The influences of the national banking holiday have been more largely surmounted and demands for merchandise are increasing. Electric power production advanced, public construction is better, along with residential building and there has been some evidence of improvement in freight shipments.

Rise Promises to Continue.

Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., say in part:

"Seasonal gains in trade, which usually accompany the approach of spring, now are being augmented by progressive measures of the new administration, the force of which has resulted in an unexpected surge which gives promise of carrying the movement beyond the objective set for this period.

"The retardative influence of the general banking situation gradually is losing its force and the improvement from week to week is becoming pronounced, as more new enterprises are being launched as the result of the nation-wide pickup.

"The paradox of low performance and rising sentiment in some branches of commercial activity is due to the fact that the one is expressed statistically while the other looks ahead, encouraged by the swift and resolute governmental action on the many issues which were at the root of the impediments to sustained progress."

Residential Building Gains.

The Business Week says in part:

"Electric power production has climbed back to pre-holiday levels, with marked gains in the industrial regions of the central and eastern states. Public construction is strengthening slowly. Residential building holds its own and may well exceed its February volume. Freight shipments also indicate some improvement since the dark weeks of early March. February earnings, however, are not likely to make pleasant reading.

"Currency outstanding is decreasing rapidly and the new currency has been found unnecessary — a mixed sign, for while it spells a decrease in hoarding it also means business doesn't need much money right now, even though many banks are closed. Commodity prices are comparatively steady; declines in nonferrous metals contrast with the gains in grains."

LONDON TRADING IN CANADA BONDS HALTED BY TAX

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 31.—The threat of taxation drove Canadian bonds off the stock exchange today. The decision to suspend trading in the issues was taken as the result of the clause in the Canadian budget providing for a levy of 5 per cent on interest payable to nonresidents of Canada.

Leading members of the exchange have done everything possible to dissuade the Canadian government from imposing the tax as unfair to British investors, but so far without result. It is denied the new step constitutes pressure on the dominion government, but it is unlikely that trading will be resumed until it is definitely known whether the assessment will be imposed.

"It is a physical impossibility to make suitable prices while the proposed legislation against nonresident holders of Canadian securities is in the air," said a member of the exchange.

In the meantime the bonds are remaining on the official list of exchange quotations, but representations in favor of their being removed will be made unless the matter is straightened out within a few days.

Bonds Held in U. S. Exempt.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 31.—Nearly a billion dollars' worth of bonds of the Canadian government and the Canadian National railway and its subsidiaries in the hands of the American investing public are exempted from the 5 per cent interest levy announced in the new Canadian budget. To attach such interest, Finance Minister Rhodes said, would be a breach of contract.

Canadian Railway Systems Agrees to Merge Trains

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., March 31.—The Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways have agreed in principle to pooling of competitive passenger services wherever practicable. Detailed arrangements will take some time, but in order to effect immediate economies the two companies have arranged for a partial pooling of passenger service between Montreal and Toronto and the pooling of all passenger service between Ottawa and Toronto, effective April 2. Saving of over $500,000 a year is expected.

New Reserves Cut 4 Insull Firms' Profits

Earnings reports issued yesterday by four operating units of the Middle West Utilities system reflect the changes in financial policy effected by the receivership management. In some cases the operating revenues held up fairly well, but the necessity for additional depreciation reserves and appropriations for investment losses, coupled with the general economic situation, resulted in material curtailment in net income.

As in the case of companies which had reported earlier, the statements show that the additional depreciation reserves are partly applicable to prior years. The skimping by the Insull management in providing for depreciation is forcing the companies now to dig into current revenues in order to put their finances in order.

Expenses Offset Gross Gain.

The largest of the reporting companies, the Southwestern Gas and Electric, had gross revenue of $5,787,000 last year, against $5,709,000 in 1931. The slight increase in gross was more than offset by larger expenses. Operating expenses increased $389,947, of which $230,720 represented additional provision for depreciation.

Net income is shown at $1,344,000. This figure is subject to the adequacy of the depreciation appropriation, as in the case of the other reporting properties. The comparable net income figure for 1931 is not available because of the change in the accounting system.

The Southwestern Light and Power company reported gross operating revenues of $2,236,000, a decrease of $347,580 from 1931. The provisional net income was $351,219. Surplus charges amounted to $478,897, representing investment writedown, depreciation appropriation, and other reserves. Depreciation for abandoned property was $156,650.

Two Others Show Declines.

The Missouri Edison company reported gross of $173,792. Net applicable to the preferred stock was $24,837, against $58,717 in 1931.

The East Missouri Power company showed gross of $165,907, a 3½ per cent shrinkage. Net applicable to the preferred stock was $38,921, against $57,306 in the preceding year.

DETROIT BANKS' HOLDING FIRM IN RECEIVERSHIP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 31.—William F. Connolly, former judge of the Recorder's court of Detroit, was today appointed receiver for the Detroit Bankers' company, and Alex J. Groesbeck, former governor of Michigan, will be named receiver for the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc.

The appointments are being made under a petition for voluntary dissolution filed today by Hal H. Smith, attorney for the group.

Stockholders of the new National Bank of Detroit will meet tomorrow to elect directors, and the latter will meet later in the day to elect permanent officers. The contract for the sale of the good assets of the First National and the Guardian National banks has been approved as to form, but the amount to be paid remains to be written in. It is expected the contract will be signed by Wednesday and that disbursement of an additional 40 per cent of deposits will begin about a week later.

Henry and Edsel Ford were revealed today as responsible for the reopening on Tuesday of the Dearborn State bank. Henry Ford as an individual depositor and Edsel Ford as president of the Ford Motor company waived claims to $1,000,000 in deposits for a period of years sufficient for the bank to liquidate its slow assets.

Cleveland Bank May Open May 1.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., March 31.—The new First National bank, successor to the Union Trust company, will be doing business by May 1, according to J. R. Kraus, who will be president.

General Stockyards Corp. Earns $3 a Share for 1932

New York, March 31.—(AP)—The report of General Stockyards corporation, which holds investments in seven stockyards companies, shows net income from dividends and interest for 1932 of $334,460, equal to $3 a common share, against $709,723, or $3.67 a common share, in 1931. Substituting the corporation's proportion of actual earnings of the various companies, the earnings of General Stockyards on its own common would be $1.47 a share, against $4.08 in 1931.

AUTOMOBILE SALES SHOW SHARP PICKUP DURING LAST 10 DAYS

Purchases by persons wishing to escape the Illinois sales tax were responsible for a sharp upturn in the sale of new automobiles in Cook county during the last ten days.

There were 1,431 new automobiles sold in Cook county between March 21 and the end of the month, according to statistics tabulated by the planning and new business department of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. This compares with 931 cars sold in the corresponding period one year ago and with 1,600 cars in the first 21 days of the month.

The buying of automobiles was paralyzed during the period of the banking holiday. However, the pickup which developed during the final third of the month brought total sales in the county to 3,031. This was only 60, or 2 per cent, smaller than the number sold during March, 1932.

Wednesday, March 22, 130.
Thursday, March 23, 109.
Friday, March 24, 126.
Saturday, March 25, 79.
Monday, March 27, 184.
Tuesday, March 28, 147.
Wednesday, March 29, 386.
Thursday, March 30, 220.

Bank Clearings for Week Only 6.7% Under Year Ago

New York, March 31.—Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., have reported that bank clearings for the week ended on March 29 totaled $3,704,839,000 at leading cities, a reduction of 6.7 per cent from a year ago. It is customary for bank clearings in the final week of the month to show some reduction.

Many Rails Will Pay Bond Interest Today

Interest payments due today on Nickel Plate and Rock Island railroads bonds will be paid, according to announcements made yesterday.

Nickel Plate securities on which interest payments will be made include first mortgage 4 per cent bonds of 1937, the refunding bonds of 1974 and the three year 6 per cent notes of 1935.

The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad announced yesterday that semi-annual interest payments will be made today on the first and refunding 4s and on the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern consolidated first mortgage 5s, as well as $188,000 principal and interest on the Rock Island's equipment obligations.

Interest due today on bonds of the Wabash Railway company and those of its controlled lines, the Ann Arbor, will be deferred, according to an announcement made yesterday by the receivers.

Guaranteed Interest Paid.

Interest due today on Wisconsin Central first and refunding 4s of 1959 will be paid by the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie, which guarantees interest on these bonds.

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific will forego interest on the adjustment mortgage 5s of 2000. The last payment on this issue, which receives payment only when earned, was declared in October, 1930.

A refunding plan has been proposed by the United States Rubber company to holders of approximately $8,515,000 of its three year 6 per cent secured gold notes which mature on June 1.

Under the plan it is stated that note holders are offered 30 per cent in cash and 70 per cent in new three year 6 per cent gold notes. The company proposes to pay immediately 10 per cent in cash, as well as the coupon due June 1 to all noteholders assenting to the plan prior to May 1, with payment of the 20 per cent additional cash upon the surrender of the notes when the plan is operative.

It is stated that if the plan is to become operative it must be accepted by virtually all the noteholders.

Nearly Double Collateral.

The new notes are to be secured by the pledge of the United States Rubber company first and refunding mortgage 6 per cent bonds, series B, due Jan. 1, 1947, to the extent of 250 per cent of the principal amount of the notes as against 133 1-3 per cent security under the maturing obligations. The new notes will be dated June 1, 1933.

The Warner company, dealer in lime, sand and gravel, has notified the holders of its first mortgage 6 per cent sinking fund bonds that directors have deemed it advisable at this time to pay the interest today. A plan for the readjustment of the capitalization of the company is being formed.

The Stutz Motor Car Company of America will pay the semi-annual interest on its 7½ per cent debentures today, according to President Edgar S. Gorrell.

ALTON TO RUN FEWER TRAINS INTO ST. LOUIS

Plans to reduce the amount of passenger train service between Chicago and St. Louis were disclosed yesterday by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railway. The road controls the Alton railroad, which competes with the Illinois Central, the Wabash, and the Chicago and Eastern Illinois for the Chicago and St. Louis business. The service between the two cities is being realigned by Harry Guy Taylor commissioner for the western railroads.

This is the latest action taken by western railroads to put economies into effect. Earlier in the week the Wabash and Pennsylvania announced plans to unite trains in the Wabash's Chicago-Detroit run. It is stated that fewer trains will be run between Chicago and St. Louis, but there will be no disruption of service.

National Cash Register Co. to Resume Full Operations

Deadline for Middle West Claims Extended to May 1

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley has extended the deadline for filing claims with the Middle West Utilities company from April 1 to May 1.

WALL ST. RALLY IS SPOILED BY RECEIVER SUITS

Rails and Utilities Lead Relapse.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 31.—The Missouri Pacific and Liggett drug store chain receivership suits depressed the stock market today after an early show of strength and closing prices were off 1 to 3 points. Railroad descriptions led the retreat, with the utility group following suit.

Selling was heaviest in the last hour of trading, following word of the Missouri Pacific's move to avail itself of the revisions of the new bankruptcy laws in an effort to affect a reorganization. Shares of this road lost nearly half of their quoted value, the common stock declining from an opening price of 2⅛ to 1¼ points, and the preferred shares dropping from 2⅞ to 1¾.

Other Rail Issues Drop.

Virtually the whole carrier group went down, with Atchison, New York Central, Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, and Lackawanna giving up 2 to 3 points. Central of New Jersey, in one of its infrequent appearances on the tape, took a header for 8 points on a single transaction.

The utilities also were heavily sold, with American Telephone and Consolidated Gas again bearing the brunt of liquidation. American Telephone gave up another 2 points, breaking through 88, and Consolidated Gas dropped another 3 points. Public Service, Peoples Gas, Standard Gas, and others followed the leaders to lower levels on the outlook for rate reductions and regulatory legislation.

Tobacco and sugar issues were taken in hand for a while before the receivership news came along, and both groups made fair advances. Traders have been hearing for some time that the administration may decide to do something for sugar. The tobaccos got their stimulus from reports that four of the larger cigaret manufacturing companies are considering the advisability of joining hands in a price boost in the near future.

Farm Implement Shares React.

The flurry of strength in wheat enabled J. I. Case and other farm stocks to make a show of strength up to the middle of the afternoon, but before the close found them down with their neighbors. Case tumbled more than 3 points from its high of the day after the "bad news" was out.

Drug, Inc., yielded only fractionally on announcement of the Liggett receivership case, the chain store concern being a subsidiary. Evidently the move was considered to have been sufficiently discounted by the heavy selling which came into the issue late yesterday.

ILLINOIS STATE BANKS EXPECT CALL NEXT WEEK

A call for Illinois state banks to submit reports of condition probably will be issued by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett next week, according to information received by Chicago bankers yesterday. It was said that the day when the call will be made has not yet been decided but it will ask for statements based on one of the last few days of March.

Chicago bankers believed the banks would not be asked to report their condition as of yesterday because of the fact that the last days of March usually witnessed unduly large withdrawals of deposits by corporations for payment of quarterly dividends, and also by individuals who wish to avoid having large deposits on record on April 1, the date on which personal property tax schedules are based.

No information concerning a call for reports by the national banks had been received from the controller of the currency at Washington. On the other hand, there were intimations that the controller might omit the usual call for reports at the end of the first quarter of the year, particularly as he is required by law to issue only three calls in any year.

BRITISH DEFICIT NEAR 112 MILLIONS IN FISCAL YEAR

LONDON, March 31. — (AP) — The financial year of the British government ended tonight with a deficit of £32,279,000. At the current rate of exchange this is equivalent to $111,685,340.

The treasury report showed a total revenue of £744,791,000 and expenditures, excluding the American debt payment last December, of £748,114,000, leaving a deficit of £3,323,000. The payment to the United States was £28,956,000.

The income tax produced £251,000,000, as compared with the budget estimate of £260,000,000. The surtax yielded £60,700,000, compared with the budget estimate of £66,000,000. Customs and excise yielded £288,000,000, which was £2,000,000 short of the estimate.

Mo. Pacific Uses New U. S. Bankrupt Law

St. Louis, Mo., March 31.—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad, one of the largest American railroad systems, was in bankruptcy tonight, the first rail carrier to take advantage of the new federal bankruptcy law.

A petition by the railroad, stating that it owed $40,589,330 due within thirty days and that it was without funds to pay the obligations, was approved by Federal Judge C. B. Faris, who designated the present management as operators of the property pending further court orders.

The road's bonds include $34,548,000 of 4 per cent first mortgage liens of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern division, due May 1. Inability to refund this mortgage was a chief cause of the bankruptcy action. The road has borrowed $23,134,800 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, giving as security bonds of its subsidiary lines and other securities.

New Law Avoids Receiver.

Judge Faris had the alternative of appointing a trustee or of naming the management to operate the road. He said he saw no need for a trustee, but reserved the right to make such orders as he may find necessary, including the appointment of a trustee.

Under the new bankruptcy act, the road will not undergo requirements of a receivership, and will, according to Edward J. White, general solicitor of the road, be able to reorganize its capital structure.

President L. W. Baldwin issued a statement to officers and employés of the road, saying the properties would continue to be operated as at present. The federal law provides that wages and working conditions of railroads taking advantage of the new law shall not be affected.

Subsidiaries File Petitions.

Similar petitions were filed for the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico and the International-Great Northern roads, subsidiaries, and similar orders were issued by Judge Faris regarding them. The Texas and Pacific, another subsidiary, and the Denver and Rio Grande Western, in which the Missouri Pacific has an undivided half interest, were not named in the petition.

The Missouri Pacific, which is controlled by the Van Sweringen interests, consists of more than 10,000 miles of track in Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Colorado, Illinois, Nebraska, and Tennessee. The road was in receivership from 1915 to 1917, and Wednesday a suit was filed by a group of shippers asking that the receivership be restored in order to enable them to collect certain claims. There was no apparent connection between this suit and the action today, which was taken at request of the road's directors meeting in Cleveland.

HOME LOAN BOARD REPORTS DECLINE IN FORECLOSURES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Real estate foreclosures in 414 communities have declined from 12,512 in the month prior to the formation of the federal home loan bank system to 11,171 in February, the home loan board announced today.

"Reductions are particularly noticeable in districts where there are a greater number of home financing institutions belonging to the federal home loan bank system and to whom larger loans by the federal home loan banks have been advanced," the board declared in its statement. "In other regions which have fewer members in the system foreclosures have increased."

Expansion of the home loan system into new regions will be pushed now that the central board again has a quorum through the appointment of C. B. Merriam. About 1,400 applications for membership are awaiting action by the board.

In all but eight states laws have held up the expansion of the loan system. In spite of this hindrance the board announces that the 12 banks have poured 21 million dollars into mortgage markets since January. These advances, together with the existence of the system, have materially reduced mortgage foreclosures, the board said.

Although there are more than two times as many home mortgages as farm mortgages outstanding, farm foreclosures have been more numerous than urban foreclosures, the board's survey has shown. Foreclosures on homes have been one to every thousand, compared to 2.3 per thousand for farm mortgages.

MARCH BRINGS RISE IN PRICES OF LIVE STOCK

A substantial increase in the prices of all kinds of live stock featured the live stock and meat trade during March, according to a review issued yesterday by the Institute of American Meat Packers.

Prices of live stock increased sharply during the bank holiday, primarily because of a temporary curtailment of receipts, and remained above the levels of the beginning of the month, although supplies after the bank holiday were nearly normal.

Prices of meats at wholesale, though higher at the close of March than at the beginning, did not rise proportionately as much as live stock prices.

PLAN TO SOLVE RAIL ILLS DRAWN BY PUBLISHERS

Report Assails Rule of Bureaucrats.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

(Text of Plan on Page 29.)

An analysis of the nation's transportation problem and recommendations for its solution will be presented to the American Newspaper Publishers' association today by the traffic committee of that organization.

The committee, which is composed of traffic experts of various newspaper publishing concerns, has been working on the analysis for nearly a year.

The recommendations made by this group in some respects are similar to proposals made recently by the Coolidge national transportation committee and by other organizations.

The general tone of the publishers' committee report, however, is unlike any other proposal yet made. Instead of urging that governmental regulatory functions be greatly extended this body points out how the transportation problem can be solved with a minimum of bureaucratic interference.

Ease Brake of Regulation.

Regulation, the committee agrees, should be more nearly equalized in order to relieve the stress on the railroads. Instead of suggesting a greater degree of regulation for trucks and barges, however, it is proposed that equalization be effected by relieving the railroads of some of the outworn restrictions that prevent their recuperation.

As protection against cut rates the committee recommends the addition of a new section to the transportation act which would prohibit "one form of transportation from stifling another by means of carrying traffic at rates which are lower than out of pocket cost, the object of such low rates being to create a monopoly."

Rule Waterway Like Trucks.

For inland water carriers it is recommended that the only restriction on port to port rates should be that proposed for motor truck rates.

The committee proposes that railroads be permitted to operate common carrier highway and waterway services wherever such services do not compete with their own rail services.

In order to restore to the railroad management functions gradually usurped by the interstate commerce commission the committee urges the amendment of the interstate commerce act.

Greater discretion should be given the railroads in the making of rates, the report states, although the commission should retain the power to remove discrimination or prejudice wherever they are found. Also recommended are the repeal of the long and short haul clauses of the interstate commerce act, the repeal of the earnings recapture clause, elimination of the commission's power to grant rate reparations, and discontinuance of valuation work.

Urge Territorial Mergers.

Territorial consolidation of all railroads is proposed as a means of eliminating costly and wasteful duplication of service.

The committee that made the report includes E. M. Antrim, assistant business manager of THE TRIBUNE; Earl McCullum, Kansas City Star; C. B. Johnson, Charlotte Observer; H. L. Fairfield, Hearst newspapers; W. L. McLean Jr., Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, and A. R. Michener, Harrisburg Telegraph.

FRIGIDAIRE CORP. RECALLS 500 MEN TO OHIO PLANTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Dayton, O., March 31.—The Frigidaire corporation, subsidiary of General Motors, has called back 500 men to make up a partial third eight hour shift in its plants here, E. G. Biechler, president, announced today.

The recall increases the number of factory workers employed by Frigidaire in Dayton to approximately 6,500, he stated. The company's two plants here are now operating on a five day week schedule in all production divisions, with a few sections functioning seven days a week.

Employment has been increased steadily since Feb. 1, Mr. Biechler said, when production of the 1933 line of products was begun

Sears-Roebuck Shows Sales of $14,215,630 in 4 Weeks

Sears, Roebuck & Co. announced yesterday that sales for the second period of its accounting year, from Feb. 27 to March 26, inclusive, totaled $14,215,630, a decrease of $4,783,457, or 25.2 per cent, from the $18,999,087 for the same period last year. For the first two periods, Jan. 30 to March 26, inclusive, sales were $30,042,477, compared with $38,646,726 for the same periods last year. This was a decrease of $8,604,249, or 22.3 per cent.

CROP DAMAGE, INFLATION TALK SEND WHEAT UP

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Sensational reports on damage to the winter wheat crop, coupled with prospects that inflation in the currency might become a part of the senate farm relief bill, brought general public buying of wheat futures yesterday. Prices were swept 1¼ cents above Thursday's finish to a high of 54⅛ cents for the May option. Despite free selling by houses that were regarded as acting for the federal farm board and by the east, the finish was well toward the top. Net gains were 5⅞ to ¾ cent. May wheat closed at 53⅜ to 53⅝ cents; July 54¼ to 54⅝ cents; and September 54⅜ to 54⅞ cents.

A winter wheat crop of 355,000,000 bushels, the smallest since 1904, was shown by the Miller Bennett report. This estimate is 107,000,000 bushels less than the wheat harvested in 1932 while the condition of 64.5 is the low est on record, with one exception. On the basis of this report, plus an aver age spring wheat yield of 215,000,000 bushels, the trade figured the pros pective crop of all wheat for the cur rent season might be 570,000,000 bushels, or about 100,000,000 bushels less than the actual domestic disap pearance of the last two years.

Await Farm Board Statement.

A report that the senate agricultural committee had voted to incorporate a currency inflation clause to the pend ing farm relief bill had considerable effect on sentiment.

The grain trade awaits the official announcement as to the holdings of wheat futures today, which was prom ised by Chairman Morgenthau of the federal farm board. Trade estimates are that the total of 30,391,000 bushels, which was officially reported on March 8, has been reduced to around 10,000,000 bushels in all positions, with some looking for a smaller holding. The report is expected to be issued some time after the American markets close.

There will be no liquidation of cash wheat by cooperatives, according to announcement made at Washington by the farm board. The board cor rected its original report indicating loans of $16,728,000 had been made on wheat, and said it applied to all grain, with no loans on wheat.

Corn Has Narrow Range.

Trade in corn was not as large as recently, but the market showed a firm undertone with wheat and closed ⅛ to ¼ cent higher. May was 29⅞ cents, with July at 31½ cents and September at 33 cents at the last. The east bought 130,000 bushels of cash corn during the day and local han dlers booked 50,000 bushels to arrive from the country. Commission houses bought futures on a fair scale.

Receding of abandoned winter wheat acreage is under way in the southwest, with many farmers putting in oats, according to reports received from Kansas yesterday.

BUTTER AND EGG FUTURE TRADING LEADS LAST YEAR

Trading in butter and egg futures continued to hold a lead over last year on the Chicago Mercantile exchange during March, despite the nine day bank holiday during which there was no trading. Total sales were 1,211 cars of eggs and 1,433 cars of butter. This total of 2,644 cars was 300 cars less than last year, but the three month total was 10,414 cars, compared with 8,261 cars in the same period. The total also was 400 cars greater than the first three months of 1931.

Egg trading in March was 100 cars ahead of March, 1932, but butter dropped off 400 cars, largely due to the holiday. The distant deliveries—October eggs and November butter—were considerably more active than last year.

Both butter and eggs have reflected a very great interest this year. With prices running from 1c to 2c under last year, activity has been much increased. Speculative buying for the long pull has resulted in rather heavy commitments for this time of year. Hedging sales likewise have been very heavy.

BUTTER AND EGGS STEADY

Butter and egg futures again held steady on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, butter closing unchanged to ½c lower and eggs unchanged to ½c higher. October eggs declined at the opening, but closed unchanged, receiving good support. Sentiment appears to be bullish for the long pull, with new buyers active daily. While the movement of eggs into storage held considerably higher than last year, the spread between the year ago and the present movement has been narrowing. Butter was largely neglected. November started lower, but more buyers appeared, causing a rally. The four markets reduced the surplus 91,0000 lbs., which helped maintain the steady tone. Sales: Butter, 22 cars; eggs, 48 cars. Prices follow:

REORGANIZATION OPENS 255 MORE NATIONAL BANKS

350 Millions in Deposits Freed in Ten Days.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—Reorganizations had permitted 265 national banks, with deposits of $350,000,000, to obtain licenses for 100 per cent operation from the treasury department in the ten days preceding the close of business March 25, Secretary Woodin announced today.

This would place the total number of national banks operating with full banking functions at about 4,500, officials said. The number referred to in Mr. Woodin's announcement did not include those which were opened immediately after the termination of the federal bank holiday without the necessity of reorganization.

At the date of the last national bank call Dec. 31, 1932, there were 6,018 institutions. In January and February 64 national banks closed their doors with deposits of $71,819,000, and one national bank with deposits of $3,627,000 reopened. Figures are not yet available for March.

Deposits of national banks Dec. 31 were given as $18,518,107,000.

Some Banks Withdraw.

The federal reserve system has been faced at the same time with a considerable number of withdrawls from membership by state banks since emergency legislation was enacted, despite the fact that this measure was supposed to have the effect of strengthening the system. Considerable thought is being devoted to this banking development by the reserve board, but so far there appears to be nothing that can be done.

Since the reopening of the banks March 13, 14, and 15 twenty-two state banks have been admitted into the federal reserve system as member institutions, while withdrawals already issued have numbered nineteen. There are 40 to 50 applications for permission to quit the system filed with the board and on which favorable action must be taken.

There was some apprehension that members of national banks in the hands of conservators may decide to surrender their charters and start out anew as state banks outside the reserve system. All national banks are required to be members of the reserve system.

Get State Charters Quicker.

Assurances are said to have been given many state member and national banks, now in the hands of conservators, or for which conservators will be appointed soon, that they may be rechartered as nonmember banks promptly.

Stockholders, depositors and officials of the banks which have not as yet been permitted to open have objected considerably to the delay and are anxious to get started to normal banking functions even if they are forced to withdraw from the national system and obtain charters as state banks. The treasury's action in many cases has necessarily been slow because of the decision of Secretary Woodin not to permit 100 per cent operation unless it is comparatively certain that the banks, once open, can stay open.

FIELD HOUSE PLANNED FOR FOREST GLEN

Park Board Will Take Bids Shortly.

BY AL CHASE.

Bids will be taken next week by the commissioners of the Forest Glen park district for a community center and fieldhouse which is to be erected at the southeast corner of Forest Glen and Berwyn avenues. Dewey & Pavlovich are the architects.

The building, to be of brick, will be 52x104, with an extension 15x46 for the stage of the auditorium-gymnasium. It will have social rooms, a basketball court, and other accommodations of the usual park fieldhouse.

Herbert E. Hudson of 1112 South Michigan avenue is engineer on the park board. Horace Brock is president. The other members are: John B. Doerr of the Independence Park Lumber company; Edward M. Miller, George Verbeck, and John C. Walkowski. John E. Van Natti is attorney. Work is scheduled to start on the new building about May 1. The cost will be in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Science Church Buys Corner.

Thirteenth Church of Christ, Scientist, has purchased the southeast corner of 103d street and Longwood drive, in the Beverly Hills district, from the Longwood Drive Building corporation, of which Nicholas Jacobs is president, and Cora E. Graver, secretary. This was bought as the future site for a small building to house the church's reading room, now at 11041 Hale avenue.

The property, which is 62x148x149x87, was secured for an indicated $9,000, subject to a $7,500 incumbrance. It adjoins on the north the present church edifice of Thirteenth church, at 10317 Longwood drive. Church officials said they were not yet ready to announce plans for the new building.

Near North Side Lease.

The Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company has leased approximately 2,500 square feet for office and display space in the American Bankers Insurance building, North Wabash and East Ohio. J. Ward Martin, broker, also reports having leased space in the Rockefeller building, 940 North Michigan avenue, to the Allen Art gallery; the Commercial Photo company, at 153 West Ohio, and La Parisienne Bake shop, at 127 East Oak street.

C. J. Bassler, president of the Air Conditioning corporation, has rented the 18x56 store on Wacker drive, in the La Salle-Wacker building, adjacent to the lobby, for showroom purposes. The lessee is the distributor for the General Electric company in this field. Dibblee & Manierre, agents of the building, negotiated the lease.

BEG YOUR PARDON

THE TRIBUNE yesterday stated that the State Bank and Trust company underwrote two bond issues on the Hahn building, at 1609 Sherman avenue. This was on the authority of attorneys identified with the project. The bondholders' protective committee handling the reorganization informs us that the bank had no interest except as trustee in the first mortgage bond issue and that both issues were underwritten by John F. Hahn, Inc., now in bankruptcy.

TEXT OF PUBLISHERS' RAIL PLAN

The full text of the plan to solve the nation's railroad problems, drawn up by the traffic committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, follows:

One of the chief concerns of commerce and industry today is the orderly regulation of the different forms of transportation and the manner in which such regulation shall be effected. It is generally recognized that the interests of the rail carriers, the predominating form, must be preserved and fostered, but at the same time the rights of the public must be protected by permitting competing forms, such as the motor truck and the inland water carriers, to live.

As to the best method of accomplishing this end much uncertainty arises. The champions of rail transportation advocate equal regulation of all forms of transportation and specific modification of the governing law regulating the practice of the rail carriers, the interestate commerce act. On the other hand, the truck interests and the water carriers decry equal regulation, asserting that if it were enforced it would successfully legislate such forms of competition out of existence. By and large much confusion has arisen. Many of the suggested remedies for relief are mere generalizations. Few have been specific.

RAILROADS MUST ECONOMIZE.

The future of the railroads has been the subject of a considerable amount of aimless concern which is now being rapidly replaced by intensive study directed toward ways and means of improving them. As a matter of fact, the railroads themselves are at last beginning to realize the fact that they must economize, avoid waste in revenue and expense which have resulted in undue and unwise competition with one another and should act in comparative unison for the improvement of the conditions which surround their industry.

It is the belief of the traffic committee that there is reason for the assertion that this spirit is beginning to cover the entire transportation industry and that efforts have been or will be made to bring rival transportation agencies into some measure of agreement upon a common platform to the end that there may be a greater degree of coördination of service and a lesser degree of destructive and wasteful competition.

Recognizing the need for some specific recommendations that might tend to relieve the situation, your traffic committee has given very careful consideration to three of the present forms of transportation, the relative advantages of each, and their relation to one another, and, in making the recommendations which follow, do so in the belief that each should be sensibly regulated to the end that each may produce the best and most efficient form of service for the common good of commerce as a whole.

DEPRESSION REAL CAUSE.

In their declaration of policy the railroad managements call attention to the relative decline of railway traffic by pointing out what they believe to be the chief reasons for said decline and by offering definite recommendations with respect to the control and regulation of the country's transportation facilities. Emphasis was placed upon the inroads that competing forms of transportation made upon the railroad monopoly, and, while your committee recognizes this as a fact and knows that the growth of the railway traffic at present is not as great as it was up to 1920, we also recognize that the first and foremost cause of the present railroad troubles is lack of traffic due to economic conditions. Certainly there is no power that can make the railroads prosperous when the nation is in the throes of a severe depression, but there are secondary causes which we believe are susceptible of effective treatment to the end that some relief may be afforded. Our recommendations are enumerated as follows:

RAIL CARRIERS.

1. The interstate commerce act, consisting of twenty-seven sections should have certain of its sections amended so as to relieve it of the necessity of enforcing archaic regulation, to give it more flexibility, and to allow the railroads more latitude in many important respects.

2. Section 2 and subsection 1 of section 3, prohibiting unjust discrimination and undue preference respectively, should be amended limiting the power of the commission under these sections so that it may only order the carriers to remove discrimination or prejudice wherever found, thus permitting the carriers to reduce the higher or increase the lower rate in a discriminatory situation.

3. Section 4, known as the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act, should be repealed on the premise that, if a shipper cannot prove he is being subjected to prejudice or discrimination under amended sections 2 or 3, he should have no interest in rates to other destinations.

4. Section 6 should be amended in so far as subsection 3 is concerned, which requires no change shall be made in rates, fares or charges by an common carrier except after thirty days' notice to the commission and to the public, by providing that a carrier may reduce a rate on one day's notice and advance it on thirty days' notice.

5. Section 15-a; i. e., the recapture provision of this section, should retroactively and for the future be repealed and a new rate making rule substituted for the one also contained in this section.

CURB I. C. C. ON DAMAGES.

6. Section 16, providing for the award of damages, both overcharge and reparation, should be amenuded by denying the interstate commerce commission the power to grant reparation. The courts will provide a proper remedy where proof of damage can be shown. Demands upon the commission for reparation because of unreasonableness are steadily increasing, and in many cases without justification.

7. Section 19-a, the section providing for the ascertainment of the valuations of railroads, should be repealed. Millions of dollars have been spent by the federal government and by the carriers in an endeavor to arrive at fair valuations of rail carriers upon which just and reasonable freight charges might be based so that carriers may earn a fair return. Up to date no agreement has been reached by the carriers and the commission as to valuations thus far ascertained, and millions more will have to be spent to bring the figures down to date, plus additional millions in making them current throughout the future. In the interest of economy and in order that common sense may be substituted for impractical theory in the construction of railway freight rates, section 19-a should be repealed.

CONSOLIDATIONS.

In 1929 the commission adopted and published their final plan for the consolidation of railway properties of the continental United States into a limited number of systems as required by section 5 of the interstate commerce act. This plan has been modified from time to time on petition of the interested carriers for various reasons, which modifications have generally been granted by the commission. Subsection 4 of section 5 of the interstate commerce act requires that, in all forms of consolidations, competion shall be preserved as fully as possible and wherever practical the existing routes and channels of trade and commerce shall be maintained on the theory that competition is the life of trade.

The law regarding consolidations is not broad enough, because new forms of transportation, such as motor vehicles, waterways, airplanes, pipelines, etc., furnish sufficient competition to the rail carriers to afford ample protection to the public in this regard.

Territorial consolidation of all railroads is the proper remedy because it is only in this manner that the carriers can possibly eliminate costly duplication of service. With the exception of the abandonment of some 20,000 miles of branch lines, the railroads are operating practically every mile of road ever built.

RAILWAY LABOR ACT.

This act, prohibiting carriers from individual negotiations with the various railroad unions as to rates of pay, should be amended or provision made to permit of direct negotiations.

RAILWAY TAXATION.

Methods of determining the value of railroad property for the determination of the tax rate in the various states should be on a uniform basis with due regard to such factors as reproduction, costs of improvements, original cost of improvements less depreciation, capitalization of stocks, bonds, and debentures, market value of securities and net earnings.

Carriers should be afforded some relief from burdensome taxation. In the last four decades up to 1930, our national wealth increased approximately 500 per cent, our national income over 500 per cent, railway property investment 200 per cent, railway gross income 500 per cent, but railway taxes have increased 1,220 per cent, while other forms of taxes have increased 952 per cent. In 1929 the railways of the United States were paying almost one-quarter of their net earnings in taxes. There has been no corresponding reduction made in taxes since that time and this has created a condition that will make government ownership sure and certain unless some relief is immediately provided.

It is within the power of the taxing bodies of the different states of the Union without any change in the law or amendment thereof whatever to afford the carriers a more equitable basis of taxation and relief from a condition well-nigh intolerable.

CAPITALIZATION OF RAILROADS.

One of the phases of the railroad problem of today is the widespread dislocation of income and hardship to innumerable citizens resulting from the impairment of the ability of the railroads to earn a fair income on capitalization. The interstate and foreign commerce committee of the house has concluded a very exhaustive inquiry as to the stock ownership of railroads. The results are published in house report 2789 of the 71st congress, 3d session.

As of Dec. 1, 1929, there were 160 class I railroads in the United States operating 242,000 miles of road. The stock of these corporations on that date stood in the names of some 840,000 persons, firms, and corporations. Eighty-eight of the 160 railroad corporations, comprising one-third of the total mileage, were owned or controlled by their railroads. In sixteen of these corporations, controlling 40 per cent of the mileage, there was no marked concentration of ownership. One of these companies had over 200,000 stockholders. However, over 208,000 miles or approximately 85 per cent of the total mileage was found to be combined in fourteen major systems.

ANALYSIS OF OWNERSHIP.

From a careful compilation of the available data presented, the committee analyzed 45 per cent of the total stockholdings of all class I railroads. From this analysis it appears that insurance companies, investment trusts, investment companies, educational and charitable institutions own but slightly over 5 per cent of the common and preferred stock and other voting securities of these corporations. The report gives strong support to the conclusion that stocks of railroad corporations are not generally regarded as a safe and stable investment.

The bonds of these railroad corporations, however, are in an entirely different category inasmuch as they are promises to pay on a fixed date at a fixed rate of interest and have for many years ranked almost alone with government bonds in the estimate of those who had such funds to invest. The total capitalization of Class 1 railroads as of Dec. 1, 1929, amounted to $9,646,992,000 of stock and $13,220,332,000 of bonds and a floating unfunded debt of $1,277,239,000.

The problem, therefore, confronting the railroads is to first provide ways and means to insure regularity of income on the bonds to protect the public at large; second, to do whatever can be done in the interest of all the people to salvage the stock which some three quarters of a million people possess.

MOTOR TRUCKS.

It is essential that we have uniform laws governing the financial responsibility of operators, hours of service, registration, sizes, weights, speeds, and conditions of operation of motor vehicles, but such attempted forms of regulation as will place motor trucks under the same supervisory rate and business regulation as the rail carriers is not in the public interest and would effectively stifle this form of transportation.

Having in mind the fact that each form of common carrier transportation renders its own distinct service to the public and operates together with each other form of transportation to form a complete coördinated system for the nation, a new section should be added to the act prohibiting one form of transportation from stifling another by means of carrying traffic at rates which are lower than the out-of-pocket cost, the object of such low rates being to create a monopoly.

It is also necessary that the railroads be given the right to make joint rates with trucks in exactly the same manner as the Denison act provides for joint rates with water carriers.

Railroads should be permitted to operate common carrier services on the highways wherever such operation is not competitive with their own rail services.

WATER CARRIERS.

The only restriction that should be placed upon port-to-port rates of inland water carriers should be the restriction contained in the proposed new section above referred to under the heading of Motor Trucks.

Railroads should be permitted to operate common carrier services on the waterways, provided such services are not competitive with their own rail services.

The Inland Waterways corporation, operated under the direction of the United States government, should be sold or leased for private operation as soon as practicable.

HOG PRICES RISE TO WEEK'S TOP ON LOW SUPPLY

Values Up 5 to 10 Cents; Cattle Weak.

Hogs made a slow, creeping advance to the highest point of the week on light receipts yesterday. Offerings at 10,000 were smallest for a Friday since early last November and 43 per cent under the average of the last six weeks.

With the outlet for pork narrow at current quotations, packers welcomed the decrease in receipts. It is not unusual for the demand for meats to drop off more noticeably toward the close of Lent than earlier in this season, according to packers. The meager run, they believe, is evidence that the farmer is not weak on hogs and may hold supplies down long enough to permit the meat trade to make at least a mild rally.

Hog prices yesterday moved up mostly 5 to 10 cents, but still are no more than 5 to 10 cents above the lowest point of the week, since there has been almost no fluctuation in the general market this week. Yesterday's top sales at $4.10 compared with a peak of $4.05 last Saturday. The general average at $3.90 was exactly the same as a week ago today.

Cattle Show Small Changes.

Yesterday's 1,000 cattle met the usual narrow Friday demand. Quotations were largely in line with the preceding session, although price ranges showed declines because of the poor quality of the run. No steers in the receipts were good enough to bring more than $5.15. A country buyer obtained a load of 586 pound yearlings at this figure, while the top for slaughter steers was halted at $4.90. The trade is carrying a nominal quotation of $7.00 for fancy yearlings.

Reports from the wholesale beef trade were rather dispiriting and indicated a possible surplus for over the week-end. Sellers in letters to the country are stressing the need for light supplies during next week. News from the hide trade is less discouraging. While demand has slowed down in the last few days, there are no large stocks of hides accumulating. In the last six weeks packer hide quotations have moved up 1 to 2 cents. Some kinds are selling as high as they were six months ago.

Lamb Trading Drags.

Lambs had an all day draggy session yesterday, but prices in most instances were held to a steady basis. Packers bought light and handy weights at $5.50 and below, getting extreme weights around $5 and 100 pound averages at $5.10 to $5.25. City butchers paid the top of $5.60.

More than half of the lamb offerings lately are exceeding 90 pounds in weight. Practically all bands from large lamb feeders show evidence of having had plenty of grain the last few weeks. Quality and weight have been up all month. The estimated average weight for the whole month at 90 pounds equals the heaviest for March since 1902.

Traders at the yards are looking for a fairly light run of hogs early next week.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, March 31.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was steady today, closing 1 point net higher. Sales were 77 contracts, although 76 lots were in the form of exchanges from May to later deliveries. Easier cotton offset the steadiness of lard and grains. Bleachable spot closed 3.80c, May 3.90c, July 4.06c, September 4.20c, October 4.32c.

U. S. TO BAR OFFICER OF UNION PACIFIC ON N. Y. CENTRAL'S BOARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 31.—The termination of the long standing representation of the Union Pacific railroad on the board of the New York Central, in which it holds 200,000 shares of stock, is expected to be ordered in the near future by the interstate commerce commission, pursuant to an adverse recommendation on the interlocking directorate by Oliver E. Sweet, head of the commission's bureau of finance.

Although representation on the Central's board has been maintained by the Union Pacific almost continuously since 1909, Mr. Sweet has lately taken the position that the custom is not in conformity with principles heretofore enunciated by the commission.

Union Pacific representation on the board of the New York Central is now accomplished through participation in the directorates of both roads by Charles B. Seger, who plans to retire. To continue the present relationship an application was recently filed by Fannin W. Charske, chairman of the Union Pacific, to become a director of the New York Central.
